Shop Very Early.
We Are So Rich.
100 Billions Insurance.
Rat-Bite Fever.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright. 1928.)

DO YOUR Christmas shopping early, for your own sake. Stock speculation has given ready money to many that may not have so much next year. This will be a tremendous season in the stores, and if you wait you will find the choice small. Start now, and be liberal.

What you give can never be taken from you, never be lost. It is safe forever, "That I gave away, I have, That I kept, I lost."

MANY woke up this morning wondering what the stock market would do in the next few days. The simplest mind knows as much as the wisest.

Nobody should overlook increased wealth, individual and national. A country that earns twenty billions a year more than it needs to live, can keep a boom going. But there are limits to pyramiding.

LIFE insurance measures prosperity. Fifteen years ago this country carried twenty billion dollars' worth of life insurance.

Now the life insurance total is close to ONE HUNDRED BILLION DOLLARS.

STANDARD OIL of California is added to the list of billion dollar corporations. Its stock is worth more than a billion. The same is true of its little brothers, Standard Oil of Indiana and Standard Oil of New Jersey. Only a few years ago the government attacked and "dissolved" Standard Oil because it had reached the first billion.

Various pieces into which it was cut are worth now more than a billion cash, and that does not begin to indicate their real value.

STATE governments force railroads to abolish grade crossings, and railroads protest: "You are forcing us to build up our competitors, the motor bus lines that use public highways."

THERE'S truth in that and it is real competition. Regular motor-bus mileage is now 270,000 and exceeds the regular route mileage of railroads, according to a survey by Dominick and Dominick.

WHAT can railroads do? They can build express roads for automobiles, buses, trucks, etc., above their tracks, through crowded suburbs, with no grade crossings, and charge tolls. The Pennsylvania, New York Central and Long Island railroads could collect millions a year in tolls.

AND railroad men could go the motor buses one better by establishing flying lines. General Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania, made a start. C. E. Mitchell, head of the National City Bank, and associates have bought a flying company, with big factories, controlling a number of commercial routes.

There is no reason why railroads should let themselves be eaten slowly by motor buses, as the dinosaurs were eaten by rats.

A NEW disease is called "rat-bite fever." Widespread, and one of many carried by rats, the disease comes from the bite of a rat, or of a dog or other animal that has come in contact with rats.

IF MEN could stop killing each other for a few years, devoting their killing energies to rats, mosquitos and other dangerous pests, this would be a better world.

An end to rats, alone, would produce savings great enough to offset the billions lost in the last war.

GIGANTICALLY increased sales of mail order houses are recorded every month. New retail stores are opened everywhere and every field of salesmanship invaded. You hear Martinelli singing, and the radio bringing his voice into your house tells you that the Atlantic and Pacific chain stores hired him to sing.

IN ONE year, Sears-Roebuck, under its new president, General Wood, a West Pointer, has opened two new mail order branches and nineteen retail department stores, and has taken to selling coal in carload lots.

Montgomery Ward announces that it has eight million customers in this and foreign countries.

The small storekeeper must think hard.

According to scientists of the American Institute gathered in New York, that is the fault of the ductless glands, giving little boys a bad start, even before their birth.

THE pituitary gland in the head is especially important. Prisons might be empty, if we knew now what we shall know some day, about these ductless glands, and the powerful products that they pour into the stream of life.

SOME of these glands, necessary to the proper development of the female baby, are useless, or positively harmful, to the infant boy. No use in complaining. Nature is partial to girls, wisely, for they create the race.

THE health of men in our army is better than it has ever been, and the suicide rate is highest in ten years. Bootlegging explains that.

AMBASSADOR MORROW'S mother-in-law, past eighty, went flying with Lindbergh. Mrs. Georgina Collett, who says she has lived so long because she lives in California, went up with Chuck Dowling, a good pilot, in a mono-coupe. She says "The airplane is not so wonderful," not more wonderful than rail-

WILLS CALLED NATION'S FAIREST

HELEN WILLS

Charm that defies all ages and fashions and makes her the most beautiful girl in America is Helen Wills', says Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, the novelist.

HELEN WILLS PRIZE BEAUTY, SAYS AUTHOR

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Fashions may change, but beauty such as Helen Wills possesses will continue to be a joy forever.

And so, Gertrude Atherton, the novelist, selects Helen, the tennis champion, as America's most beautiful girl.

"She has height, rounded slenderness, a pure white skin and a statuesque profile," says the novelist. "It is a combination admired in all ages and in spite of changing fashions.

"She is the favorite of the gods. Taken as a whole the girls of today are indisputably inferior in beauty to those of the past—but it is their fault. When they get tired of looking like every other girl, put on a few pounds of weight, wear hats that reveal their best points, and expose themselves less, their beauty will return."

STOCKS RACE SKYWARD

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—The "bull" market roared along at a brisk pace today, stopping only temporarily to absorb a large volume of selling which followed the marking up of the call money rate from 6½ to 7 per cent. Extreme gains in the active high-priced issues ran from $5 to nearly $20 a share. The ticker kept fairly well abreast of the market.

Suspension of trading on Saturday in order to permit brokerage houses to catch up after the wild markets of the last few weeks resulted in a heavy accumulation of week-end buying orders. Several blocks of 5,000 to 15,000 shares changed hands in the early trading.

Stock Exchange Seat Price Leaps $25,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—A New York Stock Exchange seat was sold today for $575,000, a new high record and a gain of $25,000 from the previous record. This was more than $500,000 above the prices brought but a decade ago.

In contrast to the talk of recent weeks that exchange seats were soon to pass the $500,000 mark, Wall Street is now talking of a $600,000 price. The parties to today's transaction were not announced.

BRITAIN'S KING REPORTED RALLYING

LONDON, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—The Press Association announced late this afternoon that it understood that King George had "made satisfactory progress" during the day.

Late this afternoon there was an atmosphere of confidence about the palace, where there seemed to be a feeling that tonight's bulletin would be of a more reassuring character than the last two have been.

Earlier in the day, the nation had failed to find much relief when physicians announced in a statement this morning that King George had passed a restless night.

ISSUE BULLETIN

The medical bulletin, signed by the King's physicians, Sir Stanley Hewitt and Lord Dawson, of Penn, read:

"The King has passed a restless night. A variability in the fever and the spread of the pleurisy must be expected at this stage of the illness."

The statement did not reveal anything definite about the King's condition. However, the statement that at this stage of the illness spread of pleurisy and a variability in temperature must be expected, led to the conclusion by members of the King's household that the medical advisers were not perturbed over his condition. Their phraseology gave the impression that the malady, in their opinion, was taking a natural course.

It was gathered that the King's restless night was due to a rise in temperature that occurred yesterday and was reflected in last night's announcement that fever had increased.

Bubonic Plague Grips Argentine Province

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—The Province of Tucuman in his country reports various fatalities from bubonic plague, with a number of members of one family dying and many other cases known to exist, with the victims in grave states. Authorities have adopted rigorous preventive measures to curb the epidemic.

Costa Rican Floods Are Reported Spent

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Floods which inundated several regions in Costa Rica have run their course and the affected areas again are normal. Material damage resulted from rivers overflowing their banks, but not more than five persons lost their lives.

20 SHIPS IN DISTRESS AS GALE WHIPS OCEAN

LONDON, Nov. 26.—(INS.)—Between 20 and 30 ships, ranging from liners to fishing boats, were reported sunk, sinking or in distress today in the worst gale that has swept Western Europe and Northern Africa in many years.

The dead may reach 50 when detailed reports are received.

From 1,000 to 1,500 are homeless in the communities devastated by the storm, more than 1,000 of them in Great Britain.

There were three separate gales in various parts of the world. In addition to that which swept Europe another struck the coast of South Africa, and a third—a typhoon—ravaged parts of the Philippine archipelago.

ENTIRE CREW LOST

The entire crew of the Italian freighter, Sagunto, which went ashore four miles south of Ymuiden during a gale, is believed to have been drowned. The vessel was completely submerged. The Ymuiden

INCREASED CITY TAX UNLIKELY

Department estimates of the city's expenses for 1929, totaling $25,844,306, were submitted to Council today by Mayor Charles H. Kline, and in view of the fact that the excess is only $252,136 over the 1928 appropriations, Council hopes to pare items and avoid a tax increase.

The present levy is 25 mills on land and 12.2 mills on buildings.

In submitting the budget, the Mayor forwarded a letter stating a 1928 cash shortage of $600,000, due mostly to emergency appropriations, was apparent. He also stated the estimated revenue for 1929 at the present levy was $285,000 less than pending expense estimates.

MAYOR POINTS WAY

If Council can make reductions amounting to those totals, or $885,000, the present levy need not be increased, the Mayor pointed out.

Council will take up the budget in daily meetings in the near future and in considering the items the estimates probably will be reduced to a total that will make the present levy adequate, judging from predictions.

DEPARTMENTS LISTED

Budget items are:

Administration, including the Mayor's office, Council, Controller and others, $2,097,016, or $171,399 less than for 1928.

Health department, $2,525,187, or $344,761 less than for 1928.

Welfare department, $894,150, or 5,361 less than for 1928.

Safety department, $5,651,801, or $142,344 more than for 1928.

Department of public works, $7,408,781, or $63,602 more than for 1928.

Debt service and miscellaneous items, $7,267,270, or $446,966 more than for 1928.

The largest reduction listed under "administration" was as follows: Mayor's office, $28,249; Council and city clerk, $119,818; collector of delinquent taxes, $8,000.

TRANSFER CAB COST

The Mayor's decrease was effected largely by transferring the taxicab cost to the city clerk's office. Council and the city clerk reduced the

Hearing Is Advanced In Lake Cargo Cases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—The Lake cargo coal cases, involving the right of the Interstate Commerce Commission to order southern railroads to cancel tariffs making reductions of rates on coal from southern mines to lake ports today were advanced by the Supreme Court for hearing on February 18.

Taft Visits Coolidge For Long Conference

Chinese Laundry Looted of Clothes

Clothing valued at more than $100 was stolen early today from the laundry of Charles Tang, a Chinese, in 1100 block Wylie avenue. Tang found that the rear door had been jimmied.

Improves

ALBERT LASSMAN

Albert Lassman, New York University football captain, injured playing Saturday against Carnegie Tech, has recovered consciousness in Mercy Hospital, where he lies today suffering severe concussion.

N. Y. U. CAPTAIN COMES OUT OF COMA

By JESS CARVER.

Al Lassman is convalescing! How do I know...? Well, the first thing he was able to recall when he regained consciousness at Mercy Hospital this morning, where he was taken Saturday afternoon after suffering a severe head injury in the New York University-Carnegie Tech football game here, was the steak he had for his supper Friday night.

They've beaten the Old Man with the Scythe when they start recalling tenderloins.

Lassman, star tackle and captain of the New York University eleven that whipped the Tartans here on Saturday suffered the only serious injury of the game. He was hurt shortly after the start of the final quarter, and as far as can be learned was kicked in the head, accidentally of course, by his own backfield ace, Ken Strong, the star of the game.

It was feared at first that he was fatally injured, and a report was spread Sunday that he was dying. X-ray pictures disclosed no fracture of the skull, but physicians diagnosed the case as a severe concussion of the brain.

HOOVER AT GOODWILL PORT

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN,
International News Service.

AMAPALA, Honduras, Nov. 26.—President-elect Herbert Hoover, of the United States, came to Amapala today to make the first visit of his good-will swing round Latin America.

It was a gala occasion for this semi-tropical city, thronged with visitors from far and near.

The weather was windy and the skies partly overcast as the U. S. S. Maryland, bearing the Hoover party, steamed into the gulf of Fonseca at 7:30 o'clock.

Representatives of President Miguel Pas Barahona of Honduras greeted the President-elect's party. Mr. Hoover delivered the first message on the purpose of his tour.

Luncheon was to follow, after which the entire party will be taken the 10 miles across the Bay of Fonseca, to La Union, Salvador, in launches.

Most of the members of Salvador's cabinet are on the reception committee, which will greet Mr. Hoover at La Union, but it is uncertain whether Pres. Romero Bosque, of Salvador, will be present.

A sumptuous banquet has been planned for the evening, at which Mr. Hoover is expected to express his appreciation of the fact that American relations with Central America are most amicable. The Hoover party will then be taken back to the Maryland, which will resume its course southward.

Naval Detachment Leaves Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—(INS.)—The 270 enlisted men and 49 officers comprising the naval detachment which assisted in supervising the Nicaraguan presidential election, are being withdrawn, the Navy Department announced today.

They are being taken aboard the Vega, which will go to San Diego, and the Kanawha, which will return to San Pedro, Cal.

R. T. Tustin, Pioneer Mine Engineer, Dies

LONG BEACH, Cal., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—R. T. Tustin, Sr., pioneer mining engineer, known throughout the North American continent, died here Saturday. He was 73 years old. Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., Tustin became one of the best-known engineers in the country. He was a familiar figure at all the mining camps in the West and at one time mined for Geronimo, the Apache chieftain.

Aged Father Freed In Slaying of Son

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Will P. Litteral, 65, shot and killed his son, Turner F. Litteral, 39, here yesterday after the son had threatened him with a pistol. Coroner Frank G. Kreft exonerated the father when he returned a verdict of self-defense at an inquest after the shooting.

Three of the younger man's children witnessed the shooting.

Endurance Fliers Still Going Strong

FRESNO, Cal., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—The Albatross monoplane in which Lee Schoenhair and John Guglielmetti are attempting to break the world's endurance flight record, flew low over the air field at Helm, 40 miles from here, at 8:41 a. m. today at which time it had been in the air 26 hours. The motor appeared to be functioning smoothly.

Dolores Expected Back at Work Today

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26—(INS.)—After a week-end honeymoon, Dolores Costello, who was married to John Barrymore on Saturday, was expected to report back to work today at Warner Brothers' studio. They were wed amidst the greatest secrecy and their whereabouts since has been known only to a few close friends.

Death Diver

SAMUEL ECKER

Samuel Ecker, 19, 234 Dixon street, East Pittsburgh, was the youth who Saturday dove to death from the 300-foot Wilmot Street Bridge, Schenley Park, according to identification of the body by his father. He was a high school football star and was graduated last spring.

YOUNG SUICIDE WAS FORMER GRID STAR

The body of the youth who leaped to death from the railing of the Wilmot Street Bridge, Schenley Park, Saturday afternoon, was identified yesterday as Samuel Ecker, 19, of 234 Dixon street, former football star of East Pittsburgh High School.

BLAMES FOOTBALL INJURIES

Cyrus Ecker, father of the dead boy, blamed his son's action on injuries sustained during the four years he played on the football team of the East Pittsburgh High School. The elder Ecker said that his son graduated from high school last year, but had not played independent football this season because of ill health. He said his son had been acting strangely of late.

The youth left his home Saturday morning to attend a football game between East Pittsburgh and Turtle Creek High schools. He had no money and refused his mother's offer to give him funds.

LIVES AFTER LEAP

His suicide occurred shortly after noon Saturday while a stream of automobiles, carrying people to the Carnegie Tech-New York football game, were going over the bridge. Several motorists saw Ecker balance himself on the railing, but before they could reach it the boy had leaped. He still was alive when police found him near the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad under the bridge. He died a short time later in the Homeopathic Hospital.

Gen. Booth's Health Shows Little Change

LONDON, Nov. 26—(AP.)—Gen. William Bramwell Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, had a restless night. Otherwise his condition was unchanged today.

TOMORROW TO BRING RELIEF

A wintry blast that swept out of the Northwest over the week-end claimed three in death and caused injury to many others. One was overcome by gas. Today will mark the passing of the cold spell and tomorrow the mercury will rise to 40 degrees.

The coldest weather of the season gripped the eastern half of the country today. Freezing weather was reported as far south as Mobile, Ala., and Ashville, N. C., reported 18 degrees.

The automobile dash of Theodore Gault, Blandburg coal miner, to the deathbed of his mother in Anderson, Ind., was halted here yesterday when his 4-month-old baby, Clara Edna, was found dead of exposure in the touring car. The child was wrapped in blankets.

Miss Kate Douglas, 55, of 5143 Butler street, died in St. Margaret's Hospital today of burns suffered when her clothing ignited from an open gas stove in her home.

Blinded by the snowstorm while crossing Fifth avenue near Moultrie street last night, Robert Moffett, 50, of 10 Kirkpatrick street, was struck by a street car and fatally injured.

VICTIM OF GAS FUMES

Overcome by gas fumes, Miss Agnes Pratt, 27, was found in her room at 1108 Fayette street, by Mrs. Mary Hurley, rooming house keeper, and rushed to the Presbyterian Hospital. Her condition is serious. A gas stove was burning in her room and the windows tightly closed.

Slipping on an icy sidewalk in West Homestead, George Latzko, 50, of West Eighth avenue, was cut on the head and face yesterday.

Gladys McGough, 3504 Howley street; John Beiter, Canton, O., Leslie Beiter, Portage, Pa., and James Dermitt, 617 Mellon street, were cut and bruised when Dermitt's car skidded on the William Penn highway, Wilkinsburg, yesterday and crashed against a post.

Byrd's Antarctic Units Assembled

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—All the units of Commander Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition were assembled at Dunedin today for the first time since the first contingent left the United States. Commander Byrd will leave for the Ross Sea on Saturday aboard the barque, City of New York. The other supply ship will leave soon afterwards. It was announced that Richard Brophy, of New York, the expeditions business manager, had been appointed second in command.

Mercer County Has Severe Weather

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 26.—The old-fashioned winters of the "eighties" are the only weather conditions that parellel the blizzard of the week-end, old-time weather prophets here say. Garages reported many frozen radiators, broken wheels and overturned cars. A six-inch snowfall is reported throughout Mercer County.

LINDY SAFE, HOPS OFF IN NEW SECRET FLIGHT

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, whose "disappearance" yesterday caused widespread alarm, hopped off from Brooks Field at 8:55 a. m. today for an unannounced destination. He had flown to Brooks Field for a brief visit with friends after having spent the night at Kelly Field.

The belated midnight announcement of his arrival yesterday by air from Tampico, Mex., set at rest characteristic public concern for his safety, which had been felt over the week-end.

The flier, his month's hunting and flying vacation in Mexico at an end, is en route to New York. His announcement that he was behind schedule to keep an engagement there led to the surmise that he would attempt a nonstop flight.

In evident determination to stay out of the limelight while going about his personal business, the colonel did not see newspapermen here and whether intentional or

THEIR CIRCUS WINTERS HERE

Pittsburgh this winter plays host to a circus, the William Shulz Animal Shows, which is going into winter quarters in Point Breeze yards, Pennsylvania Railroad. Today the Shulzes—Mr. and Mrs. and Virginia—are still getting animals settled in cages and stalls. Here, Mrs. Shulz exercises "Stunt," prize pony.

PETS OF WIFE OF CIRCUS OWNER

When the lions grow restless, Mrs. Shulz quiets them and in this fashion! Here are Sheba and Duke, full-grown lioness and lion which she pets, and Prince, 2-year-old, born in Buffalo, N. Y. Mr. Shulz is already planning his itinerary for next summer and says he'll leave with all his animals in the early spring for a long tour.

GOOD-NATURED BURROS, SHE SAYS

Mike and Ike—of course, you know why they're named that—are this pair and Miss Virginia, who holds them, says they're good-natured. Before they joined the show, these burros roamed in the Rocky Mountains. And while these animals are up and about whenever possible, Mr. and Mrs. Bear and others are going into hibernation.

INDICTED MAN TO AID STATE IN RUM CASE

R. M. Lavey, indicted also as "Joseph Parks," pleaded no defense to a conspiracy charge late today and went on the stand as a government witness in the trial of 46 indicted in what the government contends is a gigantic rum ring here.

Testimony tending to indicate a connection between Charles W. Bott, described as a "beer shooter," and the Fort Pitt Brewing Company was given at the resumption of the trial.

Bott is a defendant in the case, and so is Samuel J. Grenet, member of the Legislature and Republican ward chairman, who is president of the Fort Pitt Brewing Company.

Herman Kaufmann, secretary of the Excelsior Hunting and Fishing Club, testified that he bought alcohol from Bott, that Bott injected it into near-beer to give it an unlawful "kick," and that he met Bott in the office of the Fort Pitt Brewing Company. Bott, when seen in the brewery office, wore working clothes, he said.

Kaufmann was on the stand when the week-end adjournment was taken last Friday. The last question put to him was a query by defense counsel as to where Bott worked. Before an answer was permitted the opposing attorneys went into a side-bar conference.

MET AT BREWERY

The question was not directly answered when Kaufmann resumed the stand, but it was brought out indirectly that Kaufmann had seen the alleged "beer shooter" at the brewery.

Kaufmann identified a canceled check for $50 as having been paid by him to Bott for five gallons of alcohol seven or eight months ago. Part of the alcohol was injected into the near-beer by Bott on the rear of the club's bar, the witness stated, and the remainder stored.

Bott, according to Kaufmann, "shot" beer for the club half a dozen times, but he could not remember the dates.

He said the club was organized last May with 13 charter members and had a membership of 120 now.

Elmer G. Ober testified that he "juggled" the records of the Mannaerchor Club, of 615 East Ohio street, at the direction of the board of directors, so that the figures would not show such a large profit from the bar. Ober was treasurer of the club at the time, he said.

lifeboat, which went to the rescue, was capsized but the crew was saved.

Sixteen members of the crew of the French steamship Cesaree were drowned when the ship foundered off Northern Africa.

The fate of the 30 members of the crew of the French steamer Admiral Pontee is in doubt. This ship crashed into a British vessel in the storm off Ushant.

15 SAVED

The Italian ship Coubre was lost in the Gulf of Gascony, an arm of the Bay of Biscay, but her crew of 15 men were saved.

Eighty-four persons, including a number of German cadets, were rescued from the disabled German naval training ship Pommern, off Guernsey. The Pommern was abandoned, a derelict.

Souvenir Shells Explode, Saving Family in Fire

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Explosion of cartridge shells, souvenirs saved from the World War, probably saved the lives of S. L. Beard and his family at midnight.

Mr. Beard, his wife and two children escaped by a window, when they found escape by doors impossible, after being awakened by the explosion of shells as a blaze consumed their home.

LINDY SAFE AS PLANES HUNT

otherwise, his visit remained a secret for eight hours, during which time an anxious vigil was kept in South Texas and fear for his safety was felt in two nations.

WHEREABOUTS MYSTERY

Although he returned to his familiar haunts at 3:30 p. m. to pay his first visit since his graduation from the advanced flying school in the spring class of 1925, word of his arrival did not reach the public until after midnight, a few minutes after he had retired.

The intervening hours were spent in feasting and reminiscenses, much as a homecoming collegian, back on the "campus" for the first time in nearly four years, would occupy his time. The flier repaired to the home of Lieut. B. S. Thompson, an old-time friend, where he was later tendered a banquet by several of the field officers. Other friends and flying buddies dropped in during the evening, and it was midnight before the talkfest broke up.

Late Saturday night, Texas and Northern Mexico began an anxious lookout for the flier following reports that he had left Tampico in the afternoon to return to the United States by way of Brownsville, Tex.

PLANES START SEARCH

Two nations barely suppressed general alarm when the Fort Brown meteorological station at Brownsville reported sighting a ship flying northward, which apparently suddenly developed motor trouble and turned back toward Mexico. Had Lindbergh left Tampico on the schedule originally announced, it was pointed out, his craft would have been due over Brownsville about that time.

All Saturday night the watch along the border was kept up and three planes from Brownsville started at dawn Sunday to scout about 2,500 square miles of the rough country between there and Tampico. The search, though originally planned with the discovery of the colonel's whereabouts as the objective, officially was made on the announced theory that the meterological bureau's report indicated some American pilot was in distress.

The foregoing dispatch disposes of the rumor so generally circulated here over the week-end that Col. Lindbergh had been killed in his airplane near the Mexican border. Hundreds of telephone calls were made to the Sun-Telegraph yesterday by persons endeavoring to verify the report, which originated in the crash of another airplane near Matamoras, opposite Brownsville, Tex., and was broadcast by radio.

Three Sailors Killed By Fumigating Gas

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Fumigating gas caused the deaths of three members of the crew of the steamer F. J. Luckenbach, during the night. The bodies were found in the men's bunks today when the vessel was brought to Commonwealth pier after having been fumigated in drydock yesterday. The men were Walter S. Demarcus, 38, an assistant engineer; Angel Bass, 34, ship's carpenter, and A. Montediavo, 42, boatswain. All three were from New York.

taxicab fund for next year from $30,000 to $20,000.

Council's reduction also was effected by eliminating items set up last year, as follows: Machinery for cleaning highways, $68,000; refrigeration for Diamond Market, $25,000; a deficit from the previous year, $19,311.

The largest increase in the safety department is $94,829 for the traffic planning bureau and $24,619 for the bureau of police. The fire bureau's estimates shows a reduction of $1,528.

The $63,602 net increase reported for the department of public works represents the difference between $393,691 increased estimates for various items and reductions totaling $330,089.

The larger increases are $259,000 for the bureau of engineering; $20,267 for the bureau of parks; $35,999 for the bureau of tests and $52,031 for the bureau of bridges and structures.

WATER BUREAU CUT

The principal cut was $322,672.95 in the bureau of water. Items eliminated to make that reduction are amenable to some other financial plan, the mayor stated.

Estimates for debt service and miscellaneous items include the following increases: sinking funds, $288,750; workmen's compensation, $15,000; judgments, $50,000; interest on contracts, $30,000; pension fund, $30,000; Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh, $14,750; Soho Baths, $10,000.

Confessed Slayer Gets Life in Prison

Pleading guilty to first degree murder, Arthur Moore, 28, Negro, of Greenfield avenue, was sentenced to life imprisonment by Visiting Judge J. A. Chambers, of Lawrence County, today. Moore shot Wade Hale, 42, Negro, in the latter's home, 232 Greenfield avenue, on August 11 last, and hid the body in a clothes press. The body was found four days later. It was claimed Hale had been friendly with Mrs. Moore.

PROFESSOR COLEMAN, of the University of Toronto, says another ice age is coming in 100,000 years, and an ice age, left to itself, might be a serious matter. Montreal, where the professor made his announcement, was once covered by a field of ice 5,000 feet thick. No real estate boom could survive that.

But the ice will not have its own way, when it comes sliding and freezing over this earth. When you consider what men have accomplished in the 12,000 years that separate us from the stone age, when flints, bows and arrows were the only tools, you can easily believe that in 100,000 years men will control this earth.

THE Macedonians say "the Bulgarians are taking from us all the liberty that we won by hard fighting from the Turks," and the powers are worried by bloody Balkan feuds of the old kind.

France and Britain have ordered the fighters to stop fighting, presumably in the name of the League of Nations.

THE world will watch the result. Michailoff, leader of the insurgent Macedonians, seems to be a man hard to frighten. To the Bulgarian government's threats, Michailoff replies: "Any official who signs a decree against me signs his own death warrant."

PEGGY JOYCE SETTLES NORTHESK—NEGATIVELY

Peggy Joyce wishes to announce, without qualification but with determination, that she will positively not marry Lord Northesk.

Northesk can give out all the interviews he wants saying that he and Peggy will spend their honeymoon at Biarritz and that they'll be the happiest couple in all nobility, he can buy the ring and hire the preacher—but a certain beautiful blonde will be A. W. O. L. when the wedding bells start ringing.

"He's a nice boy," Peggy explains, "but I can't do two things at once. I've got my heart and soul in the theater and I've decided not to marry. Besides, I'm on the stage so long in this new play that I won't have time to marry."

HERE IN PREMIERE

This new play is "So This Is Love," which will have its world premiere at the Pitt Theater tonight. Peggy arrived in town yesterday with E. Ray Goetz, Irene Bordoni's husband and the producer of this new piece, and Basil Woon, the traveler who told all about the French bars in his "That's Not in the Guide Books."

MODEST PEGGY!

If Peggy hadn't fractured her engagement to Northesk it would have been her fifth trip up the aisle—but she won't submit to any joshing about her ample matrimonial ventures.

"Why," she defends, "there are lots of stars out in Hollywood who have been married as often as I have."

Mr. Woon is the Paris expert of this play, Mr. Goetz pointed out. Probably the best known American in Paris night and day life, Mr. Woon was hired to lend advice to this story of a Parisian love affair, it seems.

Snow Stalls Autos In Jefferson County

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Nov. 26.—A heavy snowfall in this section is causing trouble to motorists and the drop in temperature has caused the freezing of hundreds of radiators. Cars traveling between this city and McGees Mills, and Punxsutawney and Indiana, were caught in snow drifts and marooned over night. Slippery roads caused a number of machines to slide into ditches and over embankments, where some of them are still stuck. The temperature here dropped to 10 above zero during the night, and a heavy snow fell this morning.

END OF GRAFT PROBE NOW IN SIGHT

The county grand jury's probe of rum, racketeers and graft was believed nearing its end today.

At the close of this morning's session of the grand jury District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner said a recess would be taken Wednesday night until Monday morning.

"We will check up on the evidence in hand Friday and Saturday," he added. "And that will determine definitely whether we shall continue to call witnesses next week or take up the drawing of a presentment."

There are indications that the grand jury, which entered its tenth week today, desires an early end of the investigation. The number serving on the jury has slumped from 21 to 16, five having been excused because of pressing business.

TEN WITNESSES HEARD

The grand jury today heard about 10 witnesses. Others, who had been arrested in raids by county detectives, had been summoned to testify, but these were excused and informations ordered made against them before an alderman. This will be the policy from now on, it was announced, with respect to those taken in raids where liquor or gambling devices are found.

Among those called to testify today were Walter Kawal, of 805 Carson street; Mrs. Pearl Feskern, of 1900 East Ohio street; John Lepicki, of 815 Carson street; Dan Hamecki, of 815 Carson street; John McMusters, of 1111 Bingham street; Joe Wenzrye, of 1010 Carson street; Joe Sprouts, of 1804 Wylie avenue, and Mrs. Ida Danenberg, of 1704 Center avenue.

Meanwhile county detectives were seeking about 45 persons named in a previous presentment who thus far have failed to give bond for trial. Twenty of the 61 for whom bench warrants were issued last week, have been rounded up and have given bail. One, Matt Kovick, Spring Garden and Madison avenues, unable to provide bond, remained in jail over the week-end and today still was behind the bars.

MAGISTRATES UNDER FIRE

The practice of police magistrates in disposing of liquor law violation cases by imposing fines instead of holding the defendants for court, may be taken up by the county grand jury.

This practice was severely criticized in the last grand jury presentment and it was intimated that drastic action would be taken by the district attorney if the liquor law violators were not sent to court for trial.

It is hinted that when the grand jury's presentment is made to the court, it will contain recommendations for wholesale dismissal of police officers found to be incompetent through testimony introduced before the grand jury.

"I will make some strong recommendations regarding the delinquencies of the police that have been aired in testimony," Gardner said. "Evidence produced before the jurors fully justifies such action."

Most Smugglers on Peace Bridge are Women

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—The majority of smugglers detected at the Peace Bridge, connecting this city and Fort Erie, Ontario, recently have been women, L. L. Stevenson, deputy collector of customs, announced last night.

Many women have been attempting to fetch liquor over the border by secreting it in their clothing.

Etna Church Will Hold Turkey Supper

The annual turkey supper and bazar of All Saints Church, Etna, will be held Wednesday, beginning at 5:30 p. m. Music will be provided by members of the congregation.

THIRD VESTRIS INVESTIGATION UNDER WAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(INS.)—The inquiry into the sinking of the liner Vestris was pursued on two fronts today, with a third investigation scheduled to be resumed tomorrow.

More than 100 witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear, beginning today, to give depositions in the $52,000 damage suit filed against the owners of the vessel by Orris S. Stephens, of Boston.

WIFE AMONG VICTIMS

Stephens, whose wife was among the 110 victims of the disaster, alleges his health was impaired seriously by his exposure to the elements.

This suit throws into the courts the question of deciding where to place the responsibility for the disaster.

LIFEBELTS CRITICIZED

Capt. Overstreet criticized the Vestris' lifebelts, saying they were constructed in such a way that the head of the wearer was unsupported and in an exhausted condition could fall forward into the water.

"It is remarkable," he said, "that any of those women stood the beating of the sea all night long."

Harry Forsythe, third engineer of the Vestris, was questioned at length but was vague in his responses about pumps which were under his command.

5 Killed as 3 Planes Crash in Snowstorm

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Three aviators and two passengers were killed in week-end plane crashes, probable victims of blinding snow flurries in Ohio's first storm of the season.

Edwin H. Basset, a pilot for the Universal Air Lines of Chicago; Mrs. Basset and Glen R. Butt, of Cleveland, were found dead in the wreckage of an eight-passenger monoplane near Edgerton, O.

Lawrence H. Garrison, a veteran pilot for the National Air Transport Company, was found burned almost beyond recognition near Bristolville, O., after fire enveloped his plane.

PA PITT'S MARKET BASKET OPENS FOR WELFARE FUND

Father Pitt's market basket will be opened today for the Welfare Fund. Somewhere in the City-County Building Saturday Councilman John S. Herron and City Clerk Robert Clark found a big chip basket into which they packed bags of silver coin, sheaves of paper currency and checks contributed by city officials and employes for the 25 philanthropic organizations in the Welfare Fund.

It contains several thousand dollars and will be officially reported at the luncheon meeting in the William Penn Hotel tomorrow.

The last report showed that the amount contributed in the community campaign to date was $739,444.75. This included $78,904.72 from the house-to-house canvass.

Among the novel contributions received over the week-end was a check from Dick Leibert, organist at the Penn Theater, who has donated the proceeds from the royalties from his latest song, "A Bungalow, a Radio and You," to the Welfare Fund. Leibert's contribution was credited to the team of Dennis A. Harris in the theatrical division of the amusement group, of which A. B. McSwigan is chairman. The amusement group has contributed $4,377.75.

Neighbors and friends of the settlement houses in the Welfare Fund are rallying loyally to their assistance in the campaign. In the Woods Run district liberal contributions were given among the employes in the industrial plants, but in nearly every home special contributions were made for the Woods Run Settlement House. On the South Side the people are working for the Welfare Fund because it assists the Brashear Settlement, and in Soho the people are working for the settlement in that district.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF MOON VISIBLE HERE TOMORROW

There will be a total eclipse of the moon tomorrow morning, visible in these parts from 3:31 a. m. until 56 minutes later.

Persons abroad at that hour with eyesight unimpaired, will, if they look, see a shadow slip across the moon's face from right to left. It will begin at the side on the spectator's right and a little toward the top of the solar disc. The shadow will pass on across. At 3:31 o'clock it will cover the moon entirely and continue to do so until 4:29.

But at no time will the moon be lost from sight. For, although it is entirely behind the earth, in relation to the sun, it still casts some reflected light. This is because some of the sun's light is refracted or "bent" around the earth in passing through the earth's atmosphere. The moon sends back enough of that light to appear as a shadowy red disc.

The eclipse will be of interest only to those who are students of the moon for other than astronomical purposes. The astronomer will pay little attention to it, because it affords him no chance to increase his etheral knowledge.

The astral game of hide and seek was explained by Dr. Heber D. Curtis of Allegheny Observatory as follows:

"The moon shines only by the reflected light of the sun, having no luminosity of its own. When it passes behind the earth in revolving around the globe, the sun's light cannot reach it. In other words, it is in the earth's shadow. That is what will happen tomorrow morning."

Mexico Swears in Portes Gil Friday

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Emilio Portes Gil will be sworn into office as provisional president of Mexico, succeeding President Plutarco Elias Calles, on Friday. On Saturday there will be organized the "Great National Revolutioinary party," whose aim it will be to consolidate all "revolutionary elements" in order to continue the development of the Obregonista revolutionary principles.

Shaw Says Mining Is Lunacy; He'd Harness Tide

ELWYN, Hertfordshire, England, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Addressing a meeting in aid of distressed miners, George Bernard Shaw yesterday said he looked forward to the time when the world would cease to use coal.

He declared it was lunacy to send men down into the earth to dig coal and advocated utilizing the tides to generate electricity.

He contended that the tides of Northern Scotland held potential power to provide ample work for all unemployed.

DIES AS POLICE RAID GAME

The shock of being present when police raided a crap game in Lowrie street, North Side, proved too much for Joseph Victor, 50, of 2162 Lowrie street. Victor collapsed and was pronounced dead from a heart attack. Police rounded up 20 men. John Haas, a tinner of Lowrie street, was held for court as the alleged operator of the establishment, and the other men were fined when arraigned in Morals Court yesterday. The raid was made Saturday.

Girl, 16, Brutally Beaten by Robber

Helen Skorwran, 16, of 1512 Forsythe street, North Side, is confined to her home today suffering bruises of the face suffered when struck by a Negro highwayman who robbed her of $20 Saturday night. The girl, carrying the money in a handkerchief, was stopped in California avenue near Halsey street. The Negro beat her unconscious and stole the money.

TWO DIE IN FAST TRAIN CRASH ON B. & O.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—The engineer and fireman of the National Limited of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad were killed when the train sideswiped a derailed coal car between Martinsburg and Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

The accident occurred shortly before 10 last night.

The engineer, George W. Fraley, of Baltimore, and the fireman, O. E. Everet, of Washington, were killed when the engine overturned after striking the coal car. None of the passengers was hurt.

Two Homes Looted At Washington, Pa.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 26.—Two homes were entered in an epidemic of burglaries here yesterday, wrist watches and small sums being stolen from the homes of J. W. Minton, 107 Donnan avenue, and Meyer Grossman, 216 Donnan avenue. Charles Lohr, of Latrobe, and Connell H. Miller, of Sligo, Washington and Jefferson College students, discovered a burglar in the Lambda Chi Alpha house upon their return early in the morning. Drawing a revolver, he warned the students to keep away and then shattered a window with the butt of his revolver. Students organized posses and searched for the man, but could not find him. Offices of three dentists in the Court Square Building were entered and leaf gold valued at $80 taken.

E. RAY GOETZ PEGGY JOYCE BASIL WOON

Peggy Joyce, the often-married blonde, just can't seem to avoid men. Having broken off her engagement with the Count of Northesk, Peggy, in Pittsburgh for the opening of her new play, promises she won't marry again until her contract with E. Ray Goetz, the producer, expires two years hence. Basil Woon, American author who writes about Paris, is associated with Mr. Goetz in the production.

Woman's Hanging Revealed by Dream

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—A dream, related to the police, led today to the discovery of the body of Mrs. Hazel Buscher, 32-year-old divorcee, who had hanged herself in the basement of her mother's home.

After sending her 10-year-old son to the movies, Mrs. Buscher disappeared Saturday. Her aged mother, after a night of worry, told police she had dreamed of her daughter going to a basement store room. The body was found there, suspended by a clothesline.

EX-SHOW GIRL TAKES TRUNK, FINED $50

Trailed here from Cleveland, Ruth Wallace, 28, self-styled New York show girl, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or spend 30 days in jail for alleged theft of a roommate's trunk by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today.

Miss Wallace, who said she was connected with Earl Carroll's Vanities two years ago, was arrested Saturday in her room in the Strand Hotel at the request of Cleveland police. Police said they found in her possession a trunk belonging to Monetta Mahaffey, a trained nurse, of Chicago.

"She owed me $100 and I took the trunk on impulse," testified the erstwhile show girl.

N. Y.-BOGOTA FLIER IN CUBA

HAVANA, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—With more than a third of his flight behind him, Lieut. Benjamin Mendez, Colombian army aviator flying from New York to Bogota, rested today and prepared for his next hop. He plans to leave Havana harbor at dawn tomorrow in his seaplane for Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, 800 miles away.

Lieut. Mendez completed a 600-mile jump from Jacksonville, Fla., in five hours and 32 minutes. He said flying conditions were fairly good despite cross-winds, which made going a bit rough at times. He was accompanied by his mechanic, John Tod Hunter, an American.

On the first leg of the flight from New York to Jacksonville, 1,040 miles, Mendez was in the air eight hours and 10 minutes. From Puerto Barrios he will fly 1,000 miles to Colon, Panama, and then 1,300 miles to Bogota, Colombia.

Ray Set to Start 2d Matrimonial Marathon

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—(INS.)—"Chesty" Joie Ray, professional marathon runner, is about to enter his second matrimonial marathon. The former Chicago taxicab driver, divorced from his first wife two years ago, is engaged to be married to Miss Alice Eldridge, famous professional swimmer and beauty winner of this city.

Their engagement was announced here after Ray defeated El Quafi, Olympic champion, at the New Boston Garden on Saturday night. They met here about a year ago.

60 TO TESTIFY IN ROTHSTEIN MURDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Ruth Keyes, Chicago clothing model and one of 60 "witnesses" rounded up by District Attorney Joab H. Banton, was to testify today before the grand jury considering evidence in the murder of Arnold Rothstein.

Banton is seeking to indict George McManus, brother of a New York police lieutenant, and an unnamed gunman who staged a party for Mrs. Keyes on the night of November 4 in Room 349, of the Park Central Hotel, where the gambler was shot a few hours later.

BIG-TIME GAMBLERS CALLED

Other witnesses to be heard include a group of big-time gamblers who participated in the series of "million-dollar" card games which culminated, police believe, in the shooting of Rothstein for welching on a $300,000 debt. This group includes "Nigger Nate" Raymond, of Los Angeles; "Titanic" Thompson, of Chicago; "Red" Martin Bowie, "Tough Willie" McCabe, race track man, and others.

Sidney Staeger, a former secretary of Arnold Rothstein, has been arrested as a material witness in the shooting of the gambler Nov. 4, police announced today.

Staeger, who gave his occupation as a clerk, was arrested late last night by detectives, at Seventh avenue and 56th street.

Rothstein, who thought he was double-crossed in the card games, listed his foes. One of the 60,000 papers taken from the gambler's safe by the district attorney's assistants is an envelope file containing the name of every player in the games. Opposite several of the names was the notation: "He threatened my life."

Banton does not expect the grand jury will return any indictments until all of the 60 witnesses have testified.

Wounded Wife Dies; Coroner Probes Case

Deputy coroners today are investigating the death of Mrs. Inez Folis, 22, of 2518 Fifth avenue, which occurred in the Mercy Hospital last night from a bullet wound in the head. According to the report to the coroner, the woman shot herself after she had quarreled with her husband.

Metropolitan Plan Given 37,000 Lead

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Official returns from Allegheny County and complete unofficial returns from all other counties give Amendment No. 14, voted on at the election November 6, a lead of approximately 37,000.

Amendment No. 14 would permit Allegheny County and Pittsburgh to consolidate into a "Greater Pittsburgh."

The complete unofficial vote on the amendment stands:

SOVIET REVOLUTION NEAR, SAYS M'KEES ROCKS MAN

Indications that a nationwide revolt is brewing in Russia, which may wrench the already weakened props from underneath the Soviet system and plunge the country into another social revolution, were given the Sun-Telegraph in an interview by a Pittsburgher who has just returned from a month's visit in Russia. He is Dr. L. M. Herrington, of 70 Dunn street, McKees Rocks, a physician, who has a hobby of globe-trotting in quest of information on world social and economic problems.

Dr. Herrington commented chiefly on the activity of the "Kulaks," Russia's rich farmers, who have gradually risen to power at the expense of the poor peasants. News dispatches in the past few days told of serious uprisings of peasants, led by "Kulaks" in various parts of Soviet Russia. Seven presidents of local Soviets were assassinated and government buildings destroyed by angry mobs.

In many places Soviet police officials refused to interfere with them. Citizen soldiers and former members of the Red Army took a prominent part in the revolts. The Soviets fear that the "Kulaks" are not alone responsible for the troubles. They believe officials within the government have aligned themselves with the peasants in an organized effort to overthrow the Stalin regime.

Dr. Herrington's observations on the activities of the "Kulaks" are that they are inimical to the best interests of the peasant class in general and anathema to Soviet officialdom.

He explained:

"The Kulak poses as the defender and protector of the other peasants and thrusts more impositions on this class than every other class. He supplies seed, poultry, sheep, swine, cattle and horses to the poor peasants to be raised on a sharing system and wheedles the ignorant raiser out of the best of what is raised. By every vile practice known to the trader's art, even by petty trading, he rapidly increases his fortune. He lends this class money at usurious rates and demands and gets his pound of flesh. He trades everything marketable for something more valuable, gaining an advantage in each trade over the poorer one. He secures their labor at a minimum wage and exchanges them unusable food, worn out and deceased animals and useless farm implements, or cheap jewelry and clothes instead of paying them with money.

"This rich peasant class had nearly as much land confiscated and divided among their poorer neighbors as was taken from the rich landlords after the fall of the Czarist regime. Those landed proprietors who escaped to foreign countries and those who were apprehended and executed when their land was confiscated were less fortunate than the Kulaks. Soviet officials realize it was a mistake to leave the Kulak, even when dispossessed of his property, to impose on his poorer brothers and accumulate another fortune. They fear that if he is permitted to continue his nefarious practices he will soon be in a class by himself as a capitalist.

"No less an authority than Leon Trotzky, in 1925, in a speech said, 'The worker in the city, though he may receive more renumeration than others, remains a worker,' but the hard-working, saving, prosprous peasants who secure and hold more wealth than their shiftless, thoughtless, negligent neighbors must bear the opprobium of being branded as Kulaks because they are properous."

Dr. Harrington expressed the belief that the Soviet regime in its present form is doomed to failure.

"Russia needs capital to develop her natural resources and industries," he said. "Without the extensive employment of capital the Soviet social and economic experiment must crumble sooner or later. A nation and government that teach atheism can never hope to succeed. Atheism in Russia is so dominant that immorality is widespread. There is no barrier between the sexes and bathing in the nude with no separation of the sexes is but one of the many immoral practices prevelent as a result of atheism."

Floorwalker Held In Ship Line Theft

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—A man partially identified as James W. Harris, of the Dollar Steamship Line, of San Francisco, is being held by police here. The prisoner admits that his name is Harris, but denied that he is the Harris sought in the West. He will fight extradition. Harris, who is 35 years old, was employed here as a floor walker in a department store. Milwaukee police have a warrant charging larceny of $954. A telegram from D. J. O'Brien, San Francisco police chief, stated that the loss to the Dollar Line is much greater.

$100,000 WILL QUESTIONED IN COURT

Common Pleas Court was asked today to decide if a will purporting to be that of Fred P. Lynch and disposing of an estate said to be worth $100,000, is genuine.

Here is the will:

"Pittsburgh, May 7, 1926.

"In the event of my death I bequeath all I own to my wife Sara, my son Fred, and Lucille, except the sum of $20,000 for my only brother Vic and sister Dard.

"FRED P. LYNCH."

The will was not witnessed.

"Lucille" is Lucille May Lynch, a granddaughter of the testator. The Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., is her guardian.

"Fred" is John Frederick Lynch, and "Sara," the widow, is Mrs. Sara S. Lynch of 6644 Second avenue.

"Vic" and "Dard" have asked the court to pass on the authenticity of the will, saying the others deny it is a genuine document. The question to be decided is whether the signature is or is not a forgery.

Weather Conditions.

High pressure is centered over the Lower Mississippi Valley states and the Gulf states and covers much the greater portion of the country. It was centered over the central plains yesterday morning in the far Northwest on Saturday. It produced the coldest weather of the season over the Mississippi Valley states and eastward to the coast, with freezing temperature and killing frost as far south as Mobile.

Cloudy weather prevails over the upper Ohio valley, the Lake region and eastward to the coast and there is considerable cloudiness in the Rocky Mountain states and the southern plains. The precipitation was light and occurred over the Northeast in the form of snow and rain in the Southwest. The temperatures are now rising over the Plains states and the Lake region.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling everywhere in the district. Stage at Pittsburgh is 12.4 feet; Dam No. 2, 6.0, and Dam No. 6, 9.6. The dams are up.

SMOKESTACK ON TUNNEL TO CLEAR SHADYSIDE AIR

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad officials are engaged in devising ways for abatement of one of the smoke nuisances which H. B. Meller, smoke abatement engineer of the Department of Health, recently brought to the attention of the City Council.

The nuisance involves the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tunnel in Panther Hollow, about 200 feet south of the Forbes Street Bridge, near the United States Bureau of Mines Building.

Here some 20 dwellings along South Neville street and at the end of Filmore street are for the greater part of the day enveloped in a constant cloud of smoke, emanating from the tunnel. It pours out sometimes for more than an hour after an engine has passed through. It rises slowly and when fanned by a north, northeast or northwest wind, is blown against the dwellings.

Mrs. George Engel, of 310 South Neville street, said it was impossible for her to open windows without the wind blowing a smoke and steam cloud into the rooms. On the porch she pointed to a heavy deposit of soot, remarking that there was never a day when she would not find it necessary to apply the broom. She said neighbors are facing the same problem.

Mr. Meller has made a survey of the situation. He has for some time conferred with Baltimore and Ohio Railroad officials, who have showed willingness to apply a remedy.

The remedy is now assured and may be effected within a few weeks. Mr. Meller has received word from officials at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Baltimore that they are preparing plans for equipment by which smoke, steam and gas will be collected at the mouth of the tunnel and diverted from the dwellings. Mr. Meller was informed that it will be in the nature of a smokestack.

This smokestack, Mr. Meller said, will probably have a large hood extending over the mouth of the tunnel. Here the smoke, steam and gas clouds will be collected and, possibly, by means of a fan, blown up through an extending smokestack far above the roofs of the houses. It may be necessary to have two stacks, the smoke abatement engineer pointed out, but said that this is only an engineering detail, the advisability of which will still have to be determined. The erection of an illuminated advertising sign on the smokestack is also being considered.

BRADDOCK MAN SLUGGED

Struck on the head with a blackjack wielded by a highwayman, James Short, 23, of 610 Second street, Braddock, was treated at the Braddock General Hospital yesterday morning for deep lacerations of the scalp. He told police he was walking in Second street at June way when attacked. His cries frightened the attacker and nothing was taken.

Deaf School Fund Officials Named

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Charles Beecher Warren of Detroit, former ambassador to Mexico, and George D. Pratt, of New York, have been selected as vice chairmen of the $2,000,000 Coolidge fund for the Clark School for the Deaf at Northampton, Mass. This appointment was announced here by John Skinner, president of the school's board of trustees.

Together with Earle P. Charlton, of Fall River, Mass., national chairman of the fund, they will head a national committee which will endeavor to raise by March 1, the remainder of the fund of which more than $1,000,000 has been subscribed.

Giant Funnel Caps Flaming Gas Well

SANTA FE, Cal., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—A huge steel funnel, moved into place by a four-ton traveling derrick, has been dropped over the mouth of the Santa Fe Springs oil field outlaw "gasser," which has been spouting red flame a hundred feet into the air since it blew in nearly three weeks ago.

The funnel acts as a chimney, confining the flames and preventing damage to surrounding oil derricks or wells.

The burning gasser is estimated to be consuming 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

NATION'S ACTIVE ARMY NOW 134,505

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Uncle Sam, who amazed the world by putting some 5,000,000 men under arms 10 years ago, today has an active army of 134,505 officers and enlisted men.

Of this number, [illegible]112 are commissioned officers, [illegible] are warrant officers and 121,18[illegible] enlisted personnel, according to the annual report of Maj. Gen. Lutz Wahl, adjutant general.

Gen. Wahl in his report pays a tribute to William Randolph Hearst as donor of a trophy for marksmanship in the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

"Interest in marksmanship and healthy rivalry among the various units have been stimulated by the rifle competition for the William Randolph Hearst trophy," he declared.

There are 699 Army nurses, 33 contract surgeons and 878 U. S. military cadets, making altogether 136,115 individuals in the military service.

Of the active Army, a total of 96,366 are serving in the continental United States, [illegible] in Hawaii, 8,605 in the Canal Zone, 310 in Alaska, 1,282 in Porto Rico, 11,343 in the Philippines, 959 in China. The remainder were en route, on leaves of absence and serving as attaches in various countries when the enumeration was taken.

Slain Girl's Family Freed After Quiz

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Sam Alley, father of Emma Alley, 16, whose body was found on the bank of a creek near here a week ago, and his two sons, all of whom had been detained for several days by authorities for questioning in connection with the death of the girl, were released last night.

Fred Alley, 18, was taken into custody last Thursday and the father and second son, Abraham, who is 14, were arrested the following day. Extended examination, police say, brought the statement from the trio that they knew nothing of the slaying of the young woman, whose body, with the head crushed, was found by rabbit hunters.

Mrs. Sam Alley also was questioned by police yesterday.

Strickland L. Kneass, Noted Engineer, Dies

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Strickland Landis Kneass, 77, widely known mechanical engineer, died yesterday after a brief illness.

Mr. Kneass was the recipient of several medals and awards for his scientific achievements, the Franklin Institute twice awarding him the John Scott medal and premium, an unusual distinction. The Chicago and St. St. Louis expositions also conferred awards upon him.

MAN WOUNDED IN FIGHT DIES

Shot in the abdomen during a quarrel in a shanty in Moon township yesterday, John Preston, 27, Negro, of 609 Fifth avenue, Coraopolis, died in the Sewickley Valley Hospital last night. Nick Karchatasnis, in whose shanty the fatal shooting occurred, was arrested and lodged in the Coraopolis police station.

According to county detectives the two were involved in an argument during which Karchatasnis is alleged to have drawn a gun and fired.

Acid Stomach Is Dangerous

Sufferers From Indigestion Should CUT THIS OUT

Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by "too much acid" in the stomach.

The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis or dangerous stomach ulcers. Never dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestants that give merely temporary relief. You must get at the cause.

The best plan is to neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little Bisurated Magnesia. Then not only will the pain and sourness quickly vanish but your food will digest properly as nature intended.

Be sure to use genuine Bisurated Magnesia. There is nothing better to settle an upset acid stomach. You feel fine in five minutes. May Drug Co. and reliable druggists everywhere say it must give complete satisfaction or its small cost will be returned. Bisurated Magnesia comes in both powder and convenient tablet form. Handy to carry about, easy to use, not a laxative, and, for making a disordered stomach do its duty, it works like a charm.

EXTRA JUICE

Tune in on WCAE for the "FLORIDA HOUR" Friday afternoons at 5 o'clock.

FLORIDA ORANGES

It's the juice that counts—and Florida Oranges have an extra big juice content! Rich, sweet juice—mellowed to sparkling goodness by golden Florida sun.

That extra juice has given the Florida Orange its world-wide nickname—"the juice orange". Say "Florida" every time you buy oranges.

Everywhere doctors emphatically say orange juice is one of the most important "health carriers" among foods.

Florida Orange Juice brings vitamins and mineral salts that are absolutely essential for health. It helps counterbalance the acid-forming foods—the meats, heavy cereals, sweets, starches. It combats acidity and increases the alkaline reserve that strengthens the body's resistance to colds, grippe, "flu" and other ills.

Drink Florida Orange Juice two or three times daily! And remember to buy only Florida Oranges because of that extra juice!

REMEMBER that the small Florida Oranges are just as juicy, just as sweet as the large ones—they're plentiful just now and very reasonably priced!

Skunk-Trimmed *Hudson Seal Coats

A Supreme Special

$255

Here is an offering well worthy of the attention of the woman or young woman who looks upon the purchase of a fur coat as an investment. It is made by a store whose reputation has been built upon quality and reliability.

Hudson Seal*, always known as a practical fur, is now recognized as smart and youthful, and in these coats the fur is beautifully lustrous and supple. They are trimmed with an equally sturdy and fashionable fur — skunk — used as shawl collars, pouch collars, and cuffs. In sizes for both women and misses.

CHRISTMAS COMES TO HORNE'S

A completely transformed store awaits you here! Overnight the staid eleven months' dress of shopkeeping has been changed for the festive garb of Christmas. Yesterday all one's thoughts may have been of self; today they are strangely concerned with the happiness of others. Christmas is just four weeks away! The happiest season of the year finds its happiest expression in the sounds and sights of Christmas preparations which today take active form here.

Additional elevators, increased stairways, new and more convenient arrangements of departments, 60,000 more square feet of selling space and other expansions and improvements just completed, join to make the Christmas facilities of this store, for public service, the greatest in its history.

All Dress Fabrics together with Dress Patterns have been moved to larger quarters on the Seventh Floor.

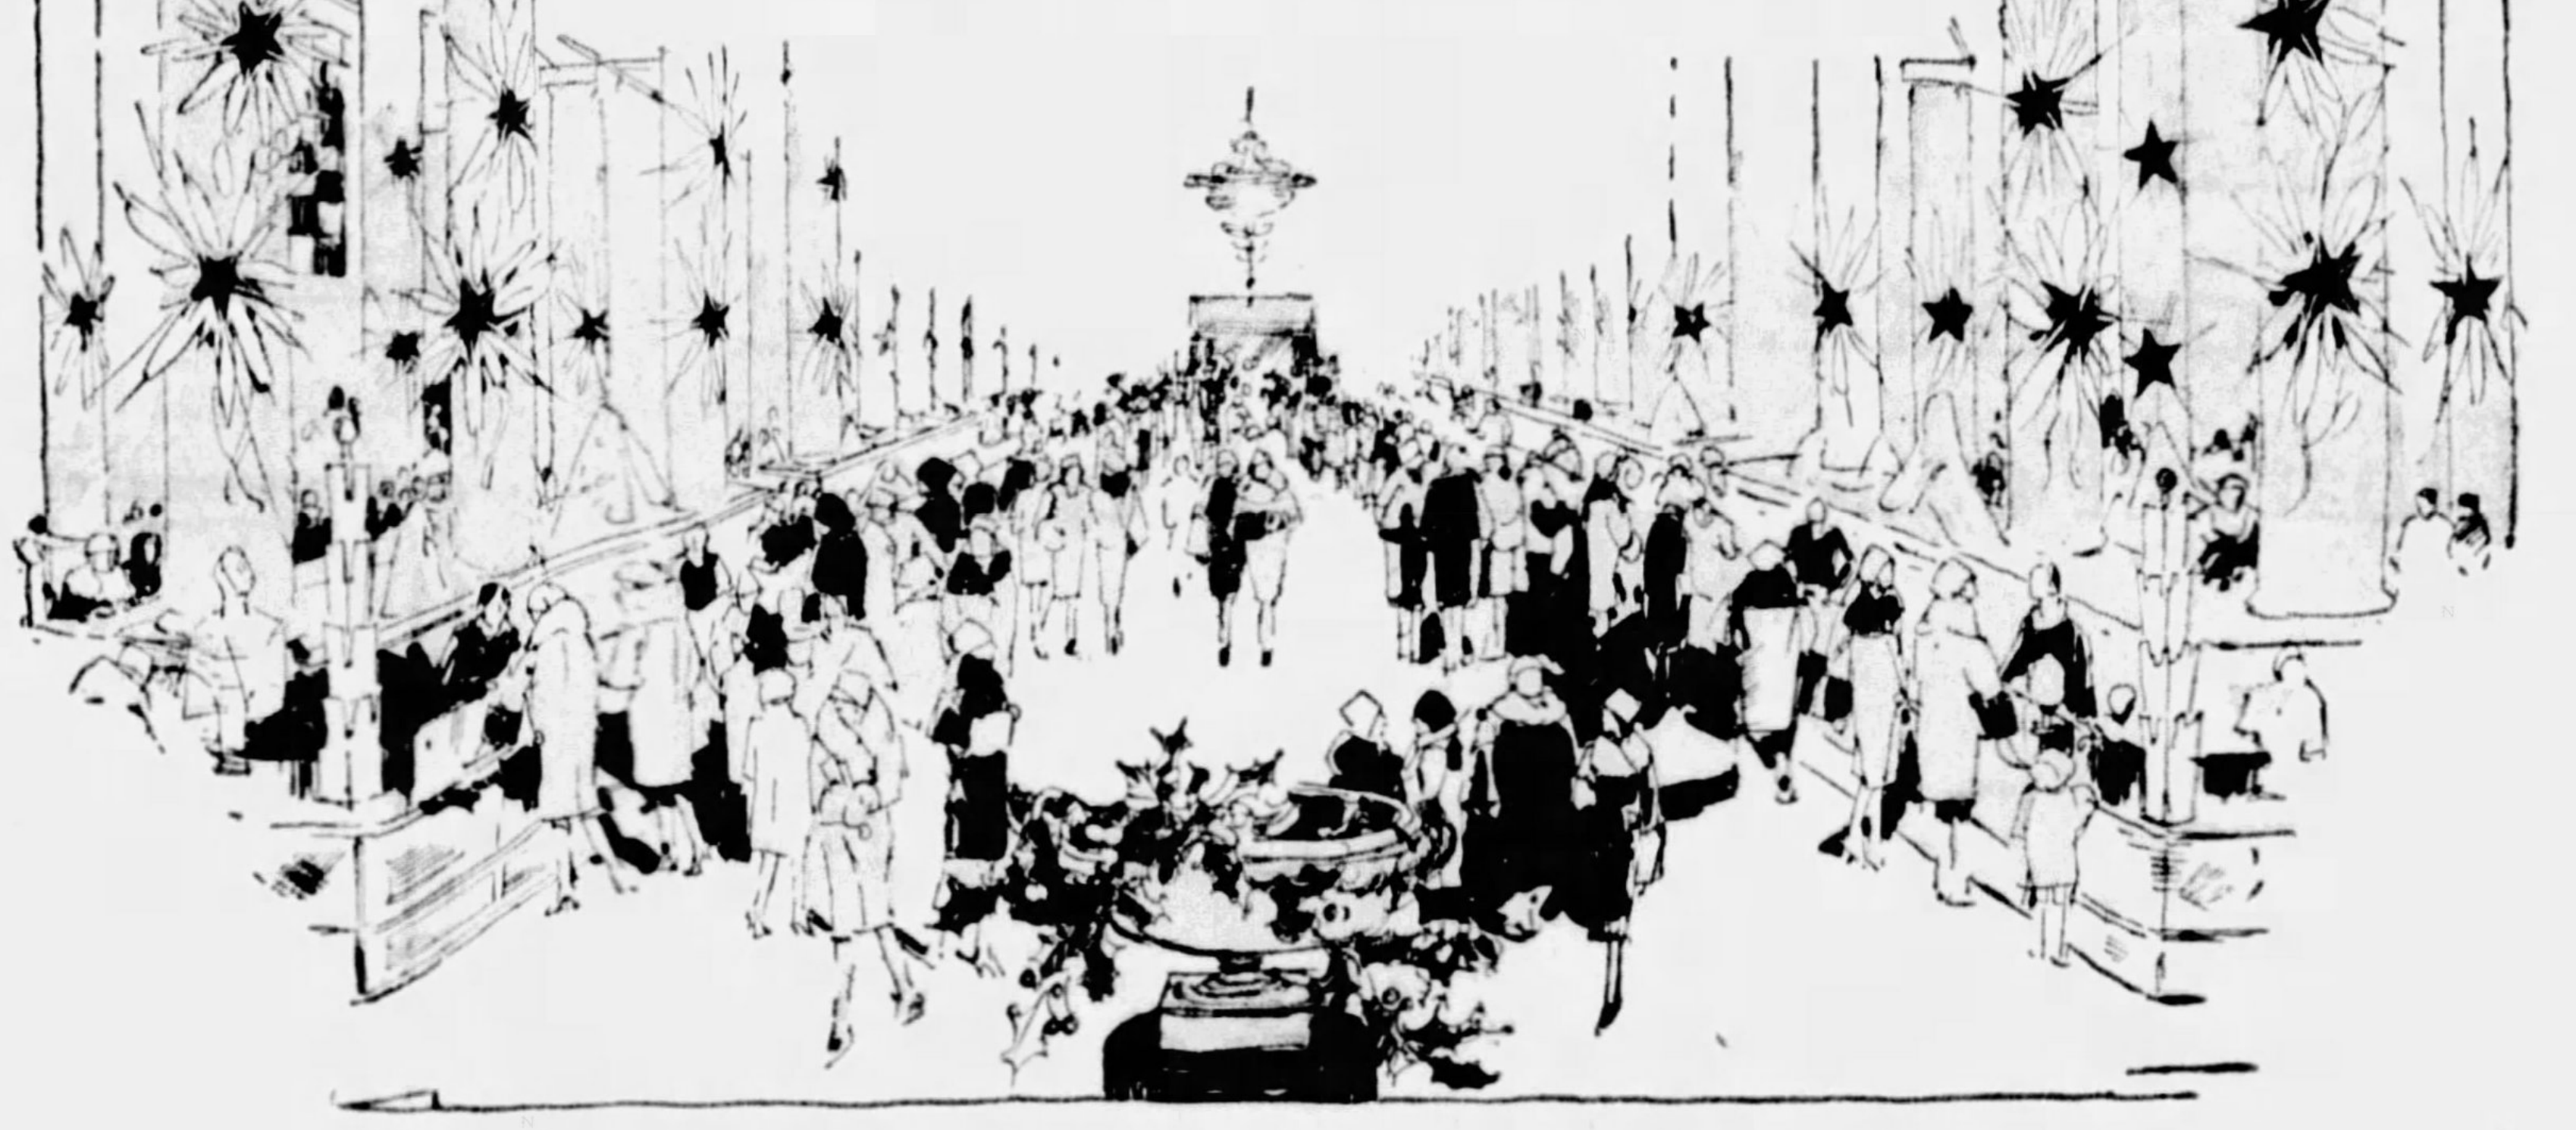
The area formerly occupied by the Fabric Sections on the Main Floor has been converted into a great Gift Section of diversified merchandise from different parts of the store for the convenience of the Christmas shoppers.

Toys are located in the Basement, eliminating the necessity of taking children on crowded elevators.



Fashions for Those Who Follow the Sun

Yes, indeed. Something is going to happen in December. At Rosenbaum's!

Something very dramatic. Something very thrilling! Something very interesting and pleasing. To every man, woman and child in Pittsburgh and its surroundings who like the dramatic. The interesting and the thrilling! And that, of course, means every one!

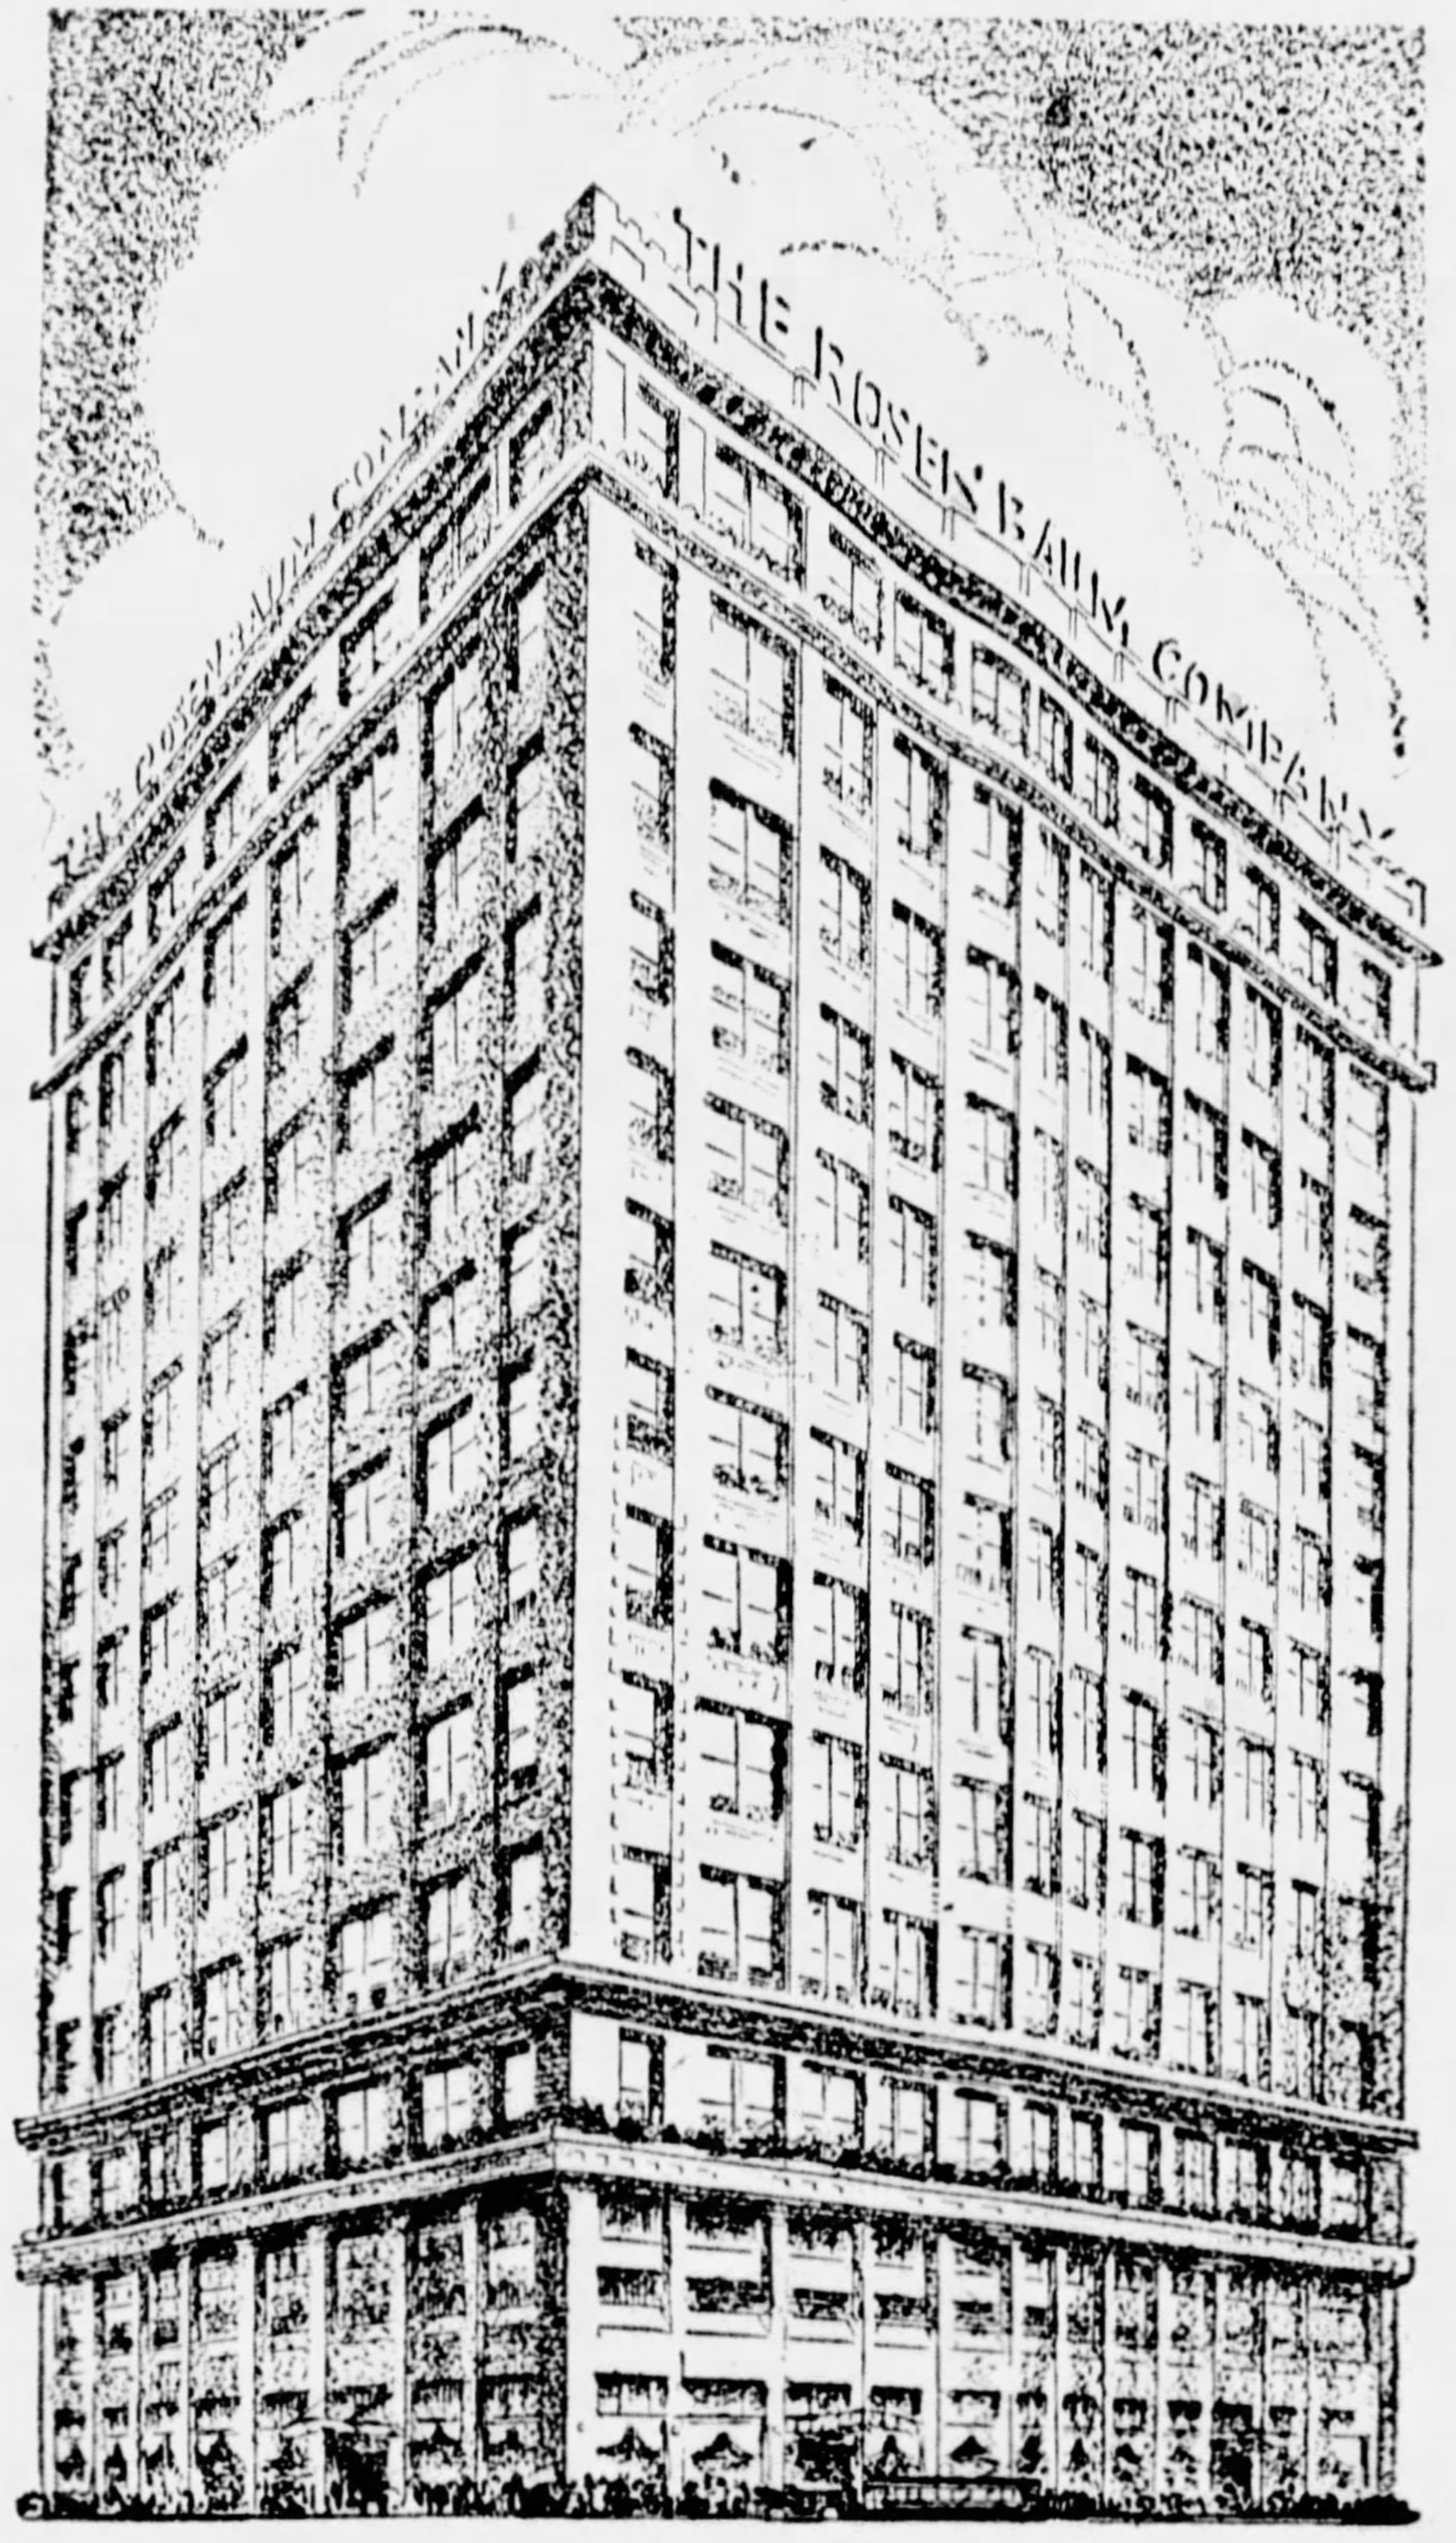
Naturally, a store during December is one of the most thrilling places in the world. December—the gala month of the year! The exciting, fascinating time. The magic spell of Christmas season.

But this December will be the most interesting. Most exciting. Most fascinating. Most thrilling December of all Rosenbaum's history!

Those who love the unusual. The interesting. The thrilling. Who love the dramatic. The exciting. The fascinating. Will share and save in this most thrilling month. Because—something is going to happen in December at Rosenbaum's!



What folks expect in Rosenbaum's

FRIENDLINESS

For 60 years Pittsburgh people and the people of the surrounding territory have known Rosenbaum's as a friendly store in which to shop. And rightly so!

Not only have they found Rosenbaum's friendly. They have found Rosenbaum's always fair. And square. And always interesting. And always pleasing. And always satisfying.

The friendliness of Rosenbaum's will be most dramatically demonstrated, and that true friendly spirit carried out in every part of the store, in December. For—something is going to happen in December at Rosenbaum's.

This is the second of a series of announcements forerunning December—the month in which more goods will be bought in Rosenbaum's than in any of the other 720 months of Rosenbaum's history.

"Something is going to happen in December at Rosenbaum's!"

4 HELD IN BANK ROBBERY FREED

William Davis, of Detroit, and a man known as "Eddie," of Wheeling, W. Va., were still being sought today as the men who participated in the holdup of the First National Bank of Trafford Friday and escaped with approximately $12,000.

Sam Fucci, 22, and Patrick Trader, 21, both of Monongah, W. Va., captured in Duquesne with O. M. Kimmel, of Trafford, who had been kidnaped by the robbers, were held for court charged with robbery following a hearing before Justice of the Peace J. A. Walton, of Greensburg, today.

Bank officials yesterday identified Fucci and Trader as two of the four robbers, the state police said.

After 48 hours of grilling, four Fairmont, W. Va., youths were released by police.

The young men are Michael Fucci, 23; John Trader, 22, brothers of the identified pair; Harry Picus, 25, and Ray Brown, 21.

The four were arrested in Oakland after, police said, they came here in answer to a call made by the two girls.

The girls were arrested in a Neville street rooming house. They are, according to police, close friends to the younger Fucci and Trader. With the four men the girls were arraigned in Morals Court and then turned over to state police.

SOUTH SIDE TIP FALSE

Pittsburgh detectives yesterday made a rapid run to a house in Jane street, South Side, after being notified by McKeesport police the two missing robbers were reported to be rooming there. The house was a two-family dwelling, the lower floor unoccupied. A search produced a revolver and some parole papers of a man once convicted of a felony, but no trace of Davis or "Eddie."

REAL ESTATE

A six-room Colonial dwelling with garage on a large lot facing Orchard drive, Mission Hills, Mt. Lebanon, has been sold through the Stevenson, Williams Company for the Collins Construction Company to J. W. Deist, who takes the property for a home.

Harry N. Morris has sold to Samuel Cohen 121x132 feet in Arden road, Colonial Heights, Mt. Lebanon.

A house in Shetland avenue, Twelfth Ward, lot 36x120 feet, has been sold by George I. Mitchell to Peter Dippold.

In Harbison avenue, North Side, a house on 40x110 feet has been sold by Alexander M. Patterson to Edward C. Shoemaker.

A property in Fifth avenue, Sharpsburg, has been sold to Scott E. Myrick to Louis Sico. The lot is 19x18 feet.

A new house on 26x104 feet in Dickson street, Twenty-seventh Ward, has been sold by George E. Evans to Harmon H. Emmer.

In Church avenue, McKees Rocks, Clara B. McDermott sold to Edward Kelly a house on 25x96 feet.

Building permit applications included:

Fourteenth Ward—Kapp Brothers, two brick houses and garages, 454-58 South Dallas avenue, $14,000.

Jobless Father Is Missing as Baby Arrives

An anxious, destitute mother is cuddling her few-hours-old baby boy in Mercy Hospital today and wondering where the child's "dady" may be on this wintry day.

The mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Moon, 28, was taken to the hospital at 3 o'clock this morning, after the child had been born, at the Salvation Army Day Nursery and Emergency Home for Women, 25 Fernando street.

Mrs. Moon had benn an inmate there about a month, according to Miss Lucy Melzer, superintendant.

"We took her in as she was destitute," Miss Melzer said. "She told us that her husband, Henry Moon, a laborer, had left her, saying he was going to look for work somewhere."

The Moons came to Pittsburgh from Detroit, about four years ago and poverty had since stalked their lives.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Mary E. Allison.

Mrs. Mary Ewalt Allison, wife of Hugh G. Allison, of Bakerstown, died yesterday at the West Penn Hospital after several weeks illness. Mrs. Allison was a life-long resident of Richland Township. She was an active member of the Bakerstown Presbyterian Church and a vice-president of the Richland unit of the National Farm and Garden Association. She leaves her husband, a daughter, Miss Lucille E. Allison; two sisters, Mrs. C. H. Waddell, of Beaver, and Mrs. William T. Bradberry, of Pittsburgh, and three brothers, H. C. Ewalt, Polk; J. R. Ewalt, Ambridge, and R. C. Ewalt, Elfinwild.

Eli Dunn.

Funeral services of Eli Dunn, 75, who died Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alex Reed, of 2910 Glasgow street, Sheraden, will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Dunn is survived by three sons, Joseph, Charles and Arthur; four daughters, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. George Fleischman, Mrs. Jack Auckerman and Mrs. Ralph Stallman; 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Mr. Dunn was born in Lancashire, England.

Mrs. Alice Goodman.

Mrs. Alice Hoff Goodman, widow of Frank C. Goodman, who died suddenly Saturday night at her home, 542 Spahr street, East End, was born in Port Byron, N. Y., but came to Pittsburgh as a young woman and had lived here for 20 years. She was an active member of the Shady Avenue Presbyterian Church. She is survived by a daughter, Miss Margaret Goodman, and a brother, Frank Hoff, of Tacoma, Wash.

Polish Counsellor Returning to U. S.

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 26—(AP.)—Stanislaw Lepkowski, counsellor of the Polish Legation at Washington, left yesterday for his post after participating in government conferences on a commercial treaty and treaties of amity and consular relations with the United States. He accompanied Charles S. Dewey, the American advisor to the Bank of Poland, on his recent trip to Moscow.

Protest on One-Man Cars Costs Him $5

For a vigorous but illegal protest against one-man street cars, James Marisico, 25, of Chestnut street, paid a $5 fine today in Morals Court.

Marisico made his protest Saturday night on a crowded Frankstown avenue car. He occupied the emergency conductor's seat, rang up fares, opened doors, the car operator testified. The operator halted his car at Frankstown Avenue Police Station. Marisico was arrested.

Col. Anderson Here As Chief of 99th

Additional United States regular Army officers and enlisted men are being assigned to the Ninety-ninth Division, with headquarters here, it was announced on the arrival of Col. Thomas M. Anderson to assume his duties here as chief of staff of the division.

Col. Anderson met officers attached to the division and reserve officers of the Pittsburgh district for a conference where plans for intensive training of the various division units were discussed.

Former Burgess Of Jeannette Dies

JEANNETTE, Pa., Nov. 26.—A. J. Case, 79, former burgess of Jeannette and assistant postmaster here for more than 20 years, until his retirement several years ago, died last night in the Columbia Hospital, Wilkinsburg. He was one of the founders of the Presbyterian Church here and Sunday School superintendent for many years. He was a charter member of Jeannette Lodge of Masons No. 750.

Will Bequeathing $125,000 Held Fraud

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 26.—A jury today returned a verdict finding that the will of Mrs. Nellie M. Dean, devising an estate valued at more than $125,000, was fraudulent. The verdict was in favor of Ida B. Dodson, a sister of the testator, and others who contended the will which named several charitable organizations beneficiaries, did not represent the true wishes of Mrs. Dean. The contest likely will be carried to the higher courts.

Bridge Title Won By Cleveland Pair

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Maurice Maschke, Cleveland, Republican national committeeman for Ohio, and Mrs. Ann Rosenfeld, also of Cleveland, won the mixed pair championship at the final session last night of the second annual Congress of the American Auction League.

Winners of the contract pair championship of the United States were Baron Waldemar von Zedtwitz, of Austria, and Theodore Lightner, of New York.

The contract team championship was undetermined, a team representing the Cavendish Club of New York having tied with a Chicago team. It was left to the committee to decide which team is to be awarded the title.

DOW STORES

Within the past few weeks, the name of the Dow Drug Company has come to be intimately associated with the McCulloch stores, indicating the future operation of these splendid stores under Dow management. Already two units of the organization, in East Liberty, on Penn near Highland, and on East Ohio street, on the North Side, bear the name Dow's. On December 1, the third Dow Store will be opened at 1301 Carson street. The McCulloch stores are merely undergoing a change of name, for there will be a continuance of that prompt and courteous service, the economical pricing and the other features which have long made McCulloch the choice of Pittsburgh for the best in home remedies, rubber goods, toiletries, cigars, candies and a host of other necessities.

COOLIDGE TALKS TO NATION BY RADIO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Over a nation-wide radio hookup of more than 40 stations, President Coolidge last night read his Thanksgiving proclamation, calling upon the American people to give thanks for the prosperity and benefits of the past year.

The chief executive read his proclamation, which he issued several weeks ago as part of a Thanksgiving Day radio program from his study in the White House. He was introduced to the radio listeners by David Lawrence, Washington newspaper correspondent, who described the White House study as a room which "breathes history" and where many presidents have meditated upon the problems of war and peace.

CITES BLESSINGS

Recognizing the good things that have come to the people of the United States during the last year, the President in his proclamation gave thanks "for the blessings which the giver of all good and perfect gifts has bestowed upon us."

The proclamation declared that the nation as a whole had been free of pestilence and disaster and had been directed in the way of national prosperity. "Our fields have been productive; our industries have flourished; our commerce has increased; wages have been lucrative," it continued, "and contentment has followed the undisturbed pursuit of honest toil."

In the spiritual side of life, as well in material things, the proclamation also noted a growth and expansion. "We have enlarged our charities and our missions," it said. "We have been imbued with high ideals which have operated for the benefit of the world and the promotion of the brotherhood of man through peace and good will."

GOING TO VIRGINIA

The radio program was arranged for last night instead of later in the week because Mr. Coolidge will leave Washington to spend a Thanksgiving week-end vacation in the Blue Ridge, Mountains of Virginia.

The President, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and a small party, will have a quiet week-end in the old Dominion state, except for Thanksgiving Day itself, when a rather full program has been arranged for him.

If the opportunity presents itself, Mr. Coolidge may do a little clay pigeon shooting, for which he developed a fondness during his summer in Wisconsin. Otherwise his week-end in Virginia will be devoted to quiet and rest.

TWO END LIVES ON SABBATH

Two men ended their lives yesterday, according to reports to the coroner's office. One slashed his throat with a razor and the other was found hanging in the cellar of his home. Motives for their acts were not learned.

Chester Shaffer, 29, of Beaver, Pa., slashed his throat in the Dixmont Hospital, where he was a patient, morgue officials say. H. J. Huff, 50, of 29 Edith street, was found hanging in the cellar of his home yesterday. A physician was summoned and pronounced the man dead. Both cases were recorded as a suicide.

BUGS BAER Says

Under auspices of Nitro-Cellulose Biscuit Company.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Mr. Hoover and Ambassador Fletcher were in executive session all morning. It might have been international affairs and it might have been a tip on Admiral Cary Grayson's new hoss.

One thousand sailors were put through hour's good-will drill.

Then black gang was called up for short course in public speaking.

Gun crew ordered out for instruction in lapel-grabbing and other forms of good-will.

Officers were ordered to shake hands with each other for two days.

Seven sailors in the crow's nest have had their arms extended toward the horizon all day.

They do not see anything. They are just pointing with pride.

This is Oscar speaking. We will now turn the microphone over to Graham McCracker.

Fletcher crowds Hoover—They shake hands again—Wow—What a shake—They break—They shake hands again—

They break—I'll say this is a trip—They shake hands again—Oh, boy—Fletcher is crowding Hoover—HE'S GOT HOOVER ON THE RAIL—Yes—He's on the RAIL—He's hanging on—

They shake hands again—This is the fastest good-will I have ever seen—They break—They shake hands again—Now Fletcher's on the RAIL—He's hanging on—

There goes the gong—Fletcher was saved by the dinner bell—

Tomorrow night. Robusto Gabbo, the famous tenor of the Metropolitan Operastatic company, broadcasting through HAT direct from the Palm room of Ninth avenue car barn.

Poison Taken in Jail Kills Ex-Mine Guard

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 26.—James Davis, 37, died at the Ohio Valley Hospital yesterday from the effects of poison tablets taken while a prisoner in the Jefferson county jail. He was until recently employed as a mine guard in the Eastern Ohio coal fields and had been arrested for the theft of meat.

From all over the world come reports of the reliability of the new FORD

YOU are buying proved performance when you buy the new Ford You know exactly what it will do There is nothing of an experiment about it.

Letters from users show a delivered value far beyond expectations. Almost without exception they stress reliability You sense a feeling of sincere pride in the oft-repeated phrase—"Let me tell you what my new Ford did."

A well-known tire company, solely to test tires, drove a new Ford more than 90,000 miles in six months. Throughout that time, the car was run day and night, an average of twenty-two hours out of every twenty-four The entire cost of repair parts was only $38 for the entire 90,000 miles.

Another tire company, making a similar test, drove the new Ford more than 80,000 miles in a short period, at a cost per mile that was fully 60% less than any figure it had previously known.

More than 8000 miles in three weeks!

One of the first of the new Fords was driven from Dearborn, Michigan, to Los Angeles to San Francisco to New York and back to Dearborn—a distance of 8328 miles—in twenty-one days. Through ice and sleet, up mountain peaks, through desert sands, over macadam and deeply rutted dirt roads, it traveled at an average speed of 40.9 miles an hour

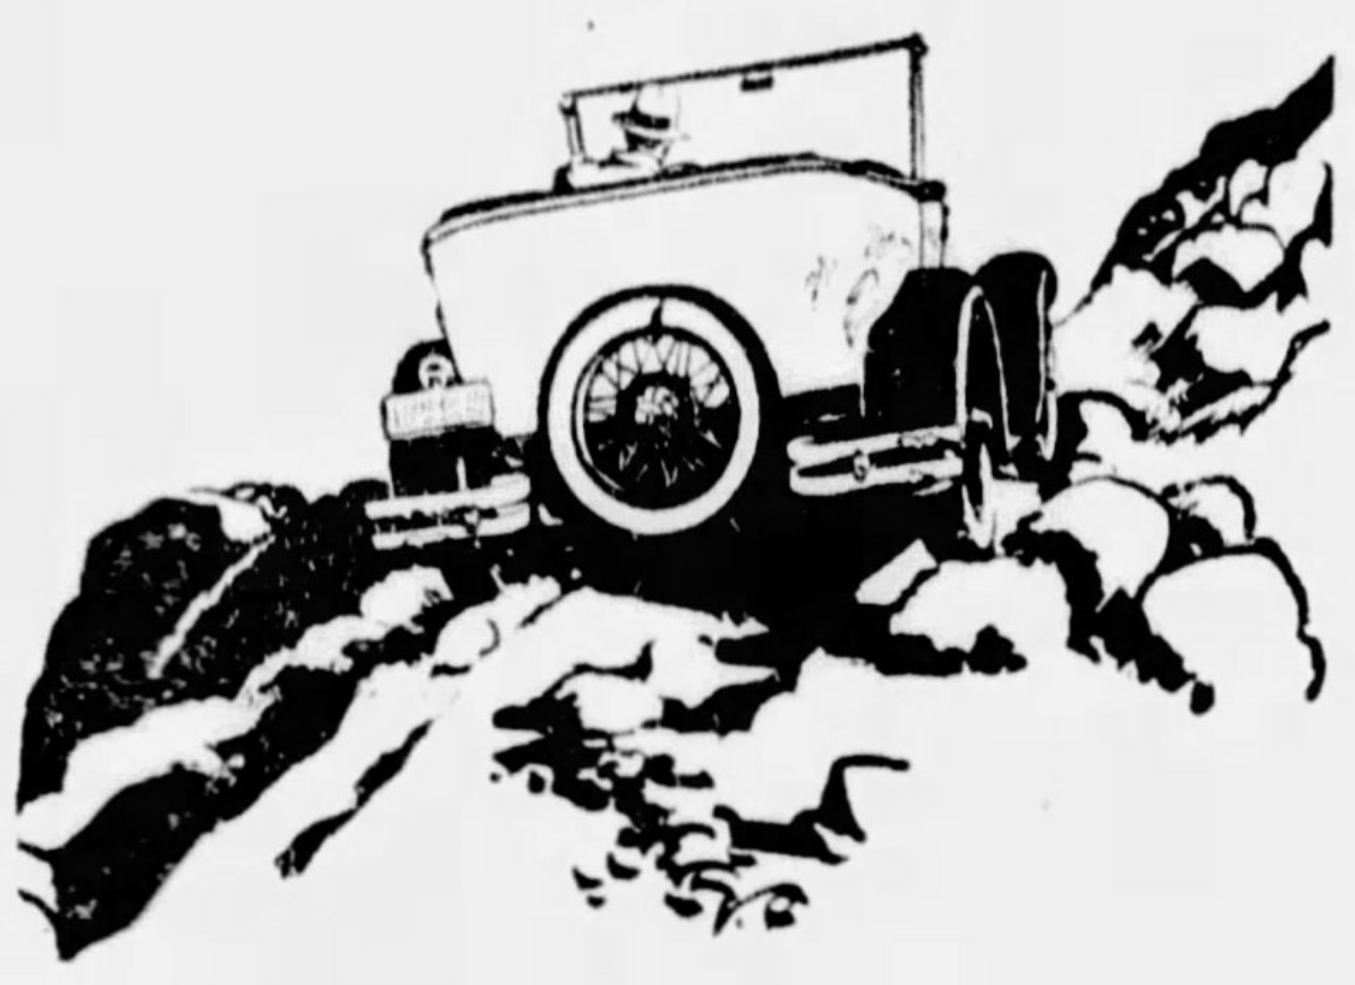
New transverse springs
Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers
Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield
Economy of operation
Reliability and long life



ON September 13, 1928, a new Ford car was driven to the summit of Ben Nevis, the highest mountain in Great Britain. This extremely difficult and dangerous ascent was made over rock-strewn, almost impassable mountain trails —an example of the unusual stamina and performance of the new Ford. The Ford is the only car that has ever made this ascent.

Practically a year of average driving was done in three weeks, yet the entire trip was made without the need of a single major adjustment or repair.

Another new Ford, as a test of hill-climbing, was driven from San Bernardino, California, over the National Old Trails and Swartout Valley Highway, to the Big Pines Recreation Camp The entire 36.2 miles were made in high gear—a particularly severe test because of the sharp turns and a stretch of 5.7 miles where the grade rises precipitously from 3000 to 6075 feet.

Previously this same car had broken the time record between Los Angeles and Phoenix, Arizona, and had made a 500-mile circle of Muroc Dry Lake in the Mohave Desert at an average speed of 62.51 miles an hour.

In Germany, the new Ford won first prize in one of the most severe all-around tests to which a motor car has ever been subjected—the utility and reliability contest of the Allgemeiner Deutscher Automobil Club This contest included not only speed and reliability but starting, acceleration, hill-climbing, fuel economy and braking efficiency.

A part of the very life of this country

Other incidents are even more dramatic A letter from Albany, N. Y., tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield of the new Ford prevented injuries from flying glass when a physician's car was forced off the road into a telegraph pole. A news-reel photographer tells how the brakes on the new Ford saved his life when, speeding through a blizzard to film a shipwreck, he found himself suddenly on the very edge of a 50-foot cliff. From a far western state a husband and father writes gratefully to tell how the sturdiness of the new Ford "saved the lives of my family" when the car was struck by a hit-and-run driver.

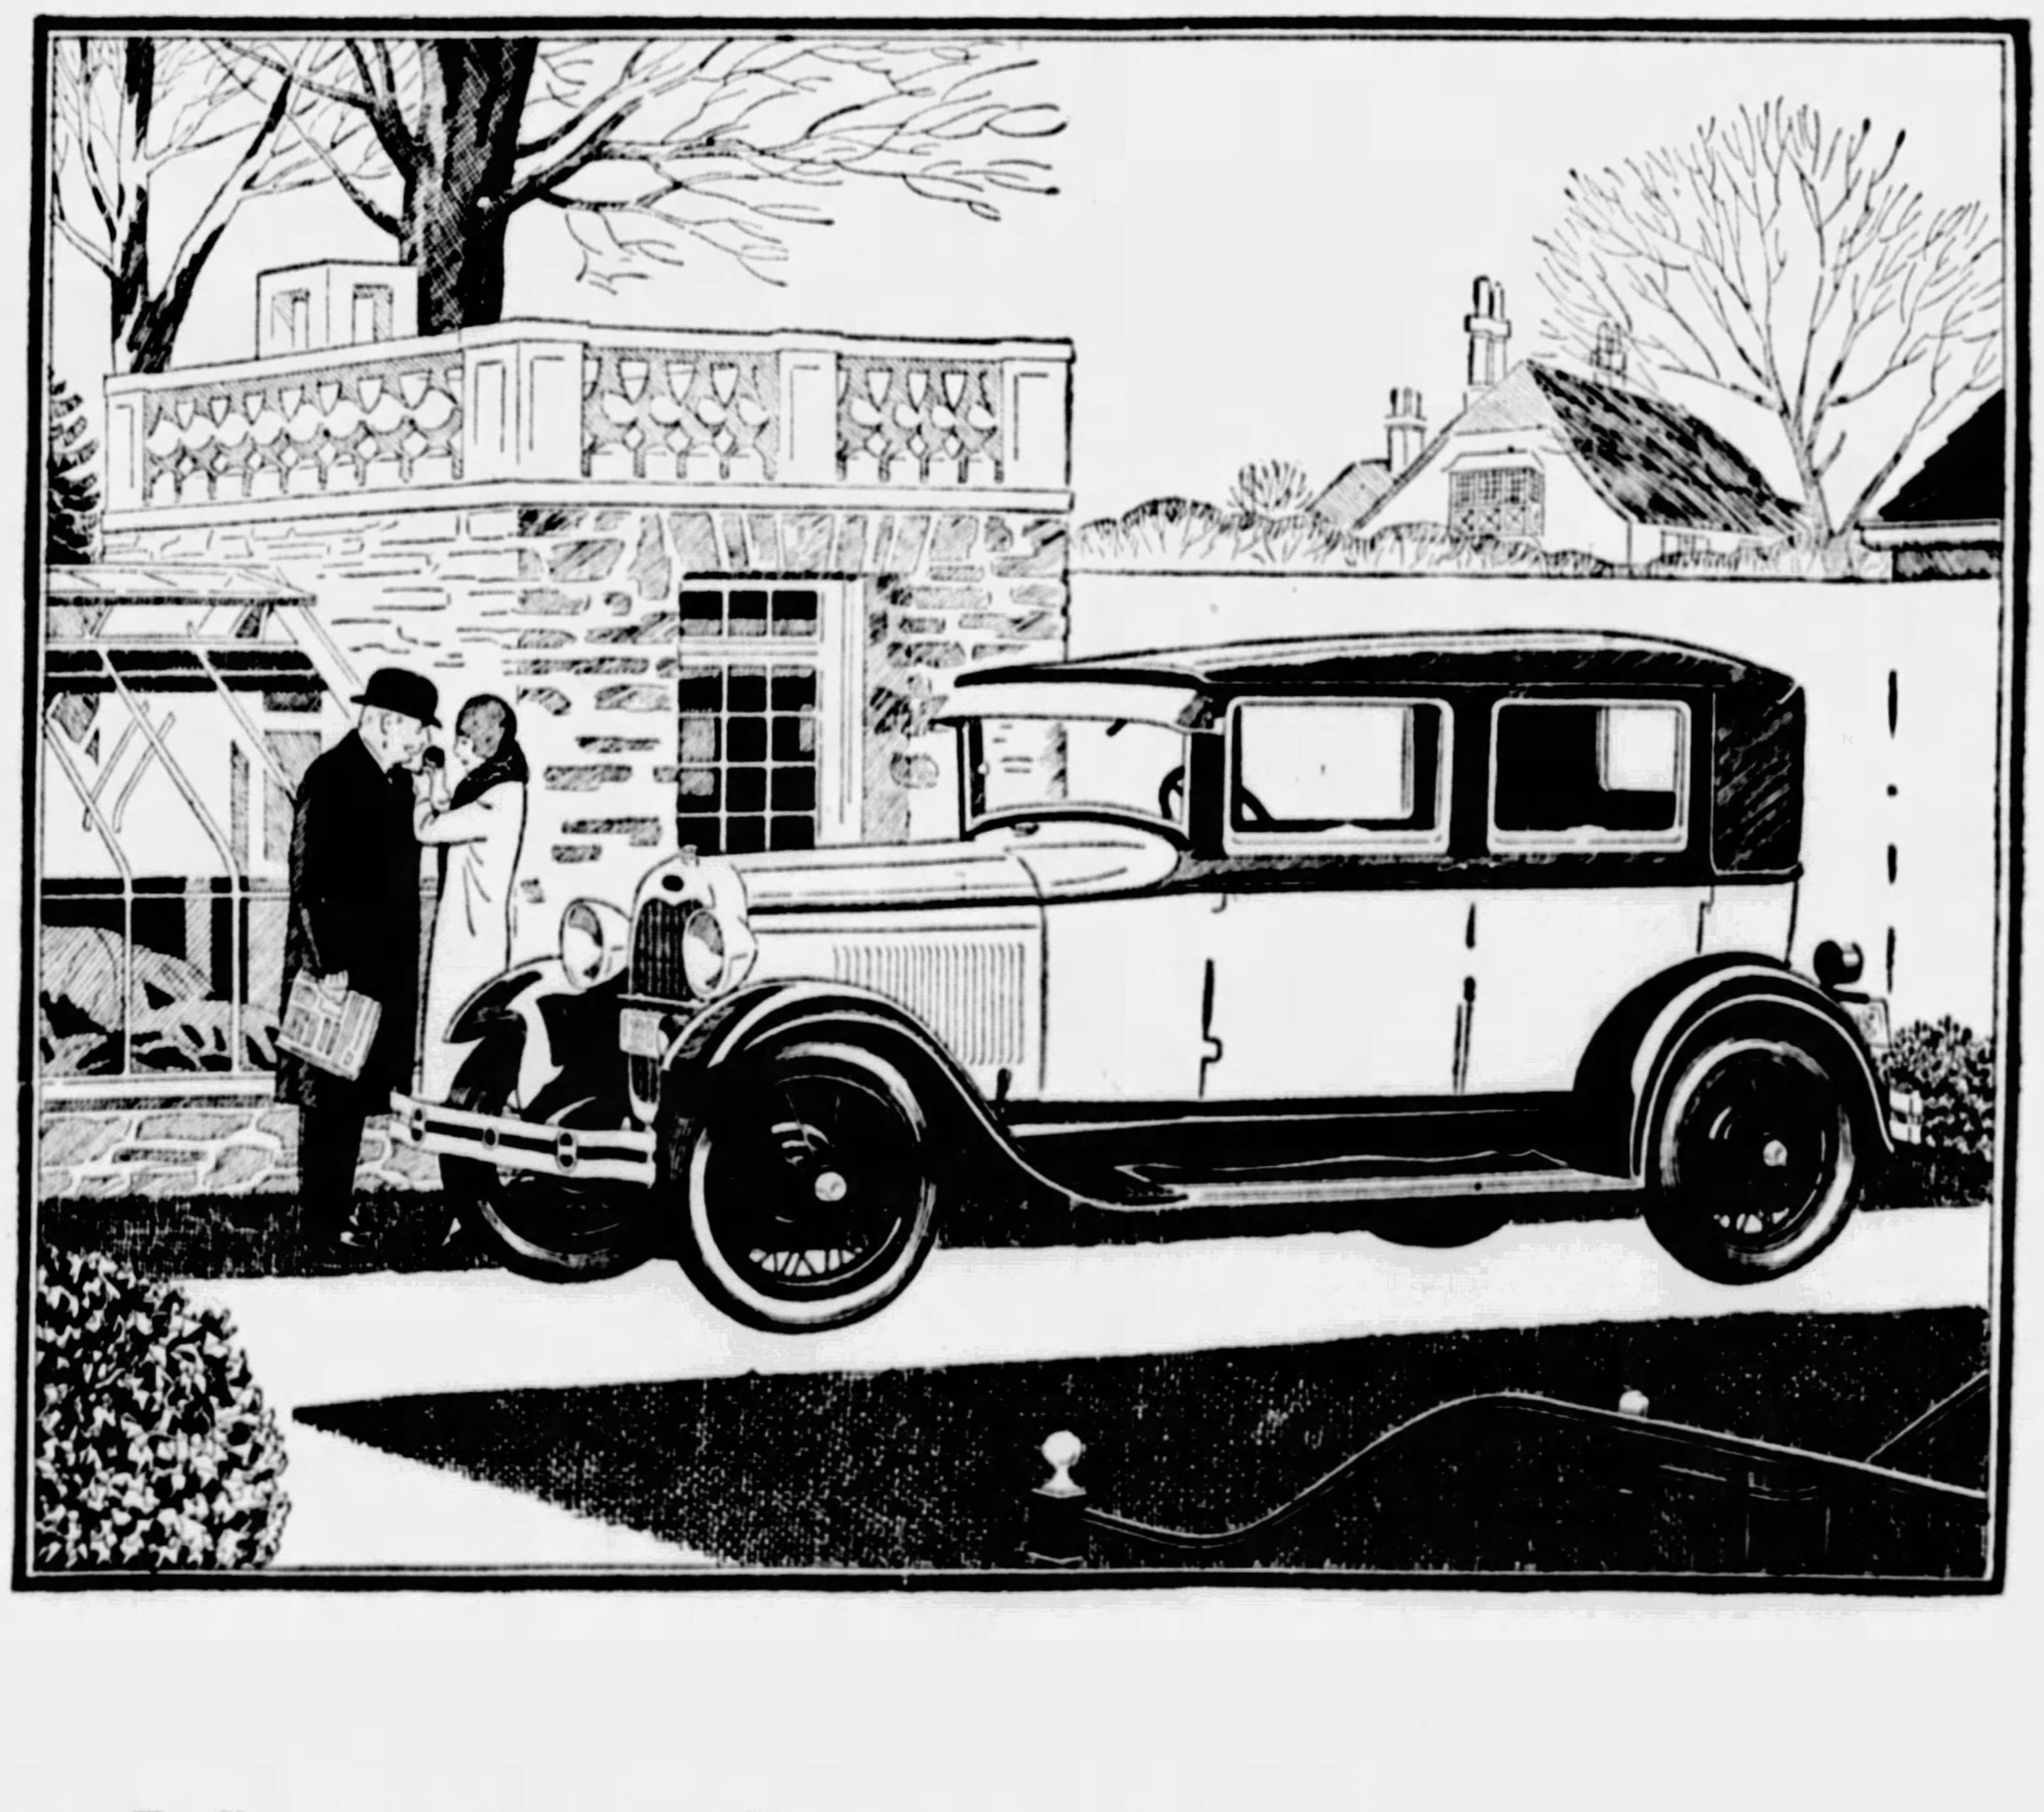
Further tribute to the sturdiness, reliability and general all-around performance of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by Federal and city governments, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep definite day-by-day cost records. The new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive, competitive tests covering speed, smoothness, acceleration, hill-climbing, oil and gas consumption, safety, comfort, and low up-keep cost.

The reason for such complete and well-rounded performance is found in the fundamental Ford policy of doing business.

A purpose beyond sales or profits

The new Ford was not designed primarily for sales and profits It goes beyond men and materials. It is the expression of an ideal—an ideal that looks toward bringing the benefits of modern, economical transportation to all the people.

Back of the new Ford are manufacturing and production methods as unusual as the car itself. Without these, it would be impossible to give you the value that is in the new Ford Because of them, it is unquestionably the best motor car that can be made at a low price without sacrificing quality anywhere along the line.



Long, low and fleet are the lines and strikingly beautiful the colors of the new Fordor Sedan. Richly appointed throughout, in the manner of a custom-built car. An exceptionally comfortable car because of the new transverse springs, Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers and the generous space provided in front and rear compartments.

DAWES' KIN MAY HEAD RIVER ASSOCIATION

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.—(A.P.)—William R. Dawes, Chicago financier and cousin of Charles G. Dawes, vice president of the United States, was sponsored by many delegates as a candidate for presidency of the Mississippi Valley Association opening its tenth annual convention here today.

It appeared he would be slated by the nominating committee for the election tomorrow afternoon.

A president is to be elected as successor to James E. Smith, the retiring president, who has been a leading figure in waterways development for 20 years.

HOOVER AID EXPECTED

Speakers programmed for the opening sessions today mentioned the name of President-elect Hoover in connection with their plans for the future. Hoover they said had frequently urged the completion of waterway projects and they said he would be one of the moving forces in the plans of the association for the future.

Secretary of War Dwight F Davis said more progress has been made in the development of our inland waterways during the last four years than in any similar period in our entire history as a nation and 1928 particularly will long stand out as red-letter year in this progress.

OUTLINES PROGRESS

The secretary of war, a speaker on the morning program said this development has not been confined to the physical work of improvement of our channels, but has expanded along several lines, including the passage of the Denison act and the instigation of a survey now under way for the adoption of a coordinated plan of development for navigation, irrigation, reclamation, power and flood control.

Secretary Davis stated that the flood control plan which was adopted at the last session of congress, is being prosecuted with the utmost vigor and it is expected that the entire appropriation of $24,000,000 made available last May will have been expended by the end of the present fiscal year.

Speedy Relief for Sore Throat

Safe Prescription Requires No Gargling.

No longer is it necessary to gargle or to choke with nasty tasting patent medicines or gargles to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a famous doctor's prescription called Thoxine. It has a double action, relieves the soreness and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by gargles, salves and patent medicines.

Thoxine does not contain iron, chloroform or dope, is pleasant-tasting, harmless and safe for the whole family. Also excellent for coughs; stops them almost instantly. Quick relief guaranteed or your money back. 35c, 60c and $1.00. All druggists.

(Advertisement.)

TROUBLESOME HACKING COUGHS STOPPED

Coughing is often due to an irritation of the throat that persistent hacking only makes worse. To stop it at once, hold for a time a dose of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound low in the throat, as for a gargle; then swallow. This puts the healing, soothing qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in direct contact with the irritated surfaces, and relief is immediate. Try it. Sold everywhere.

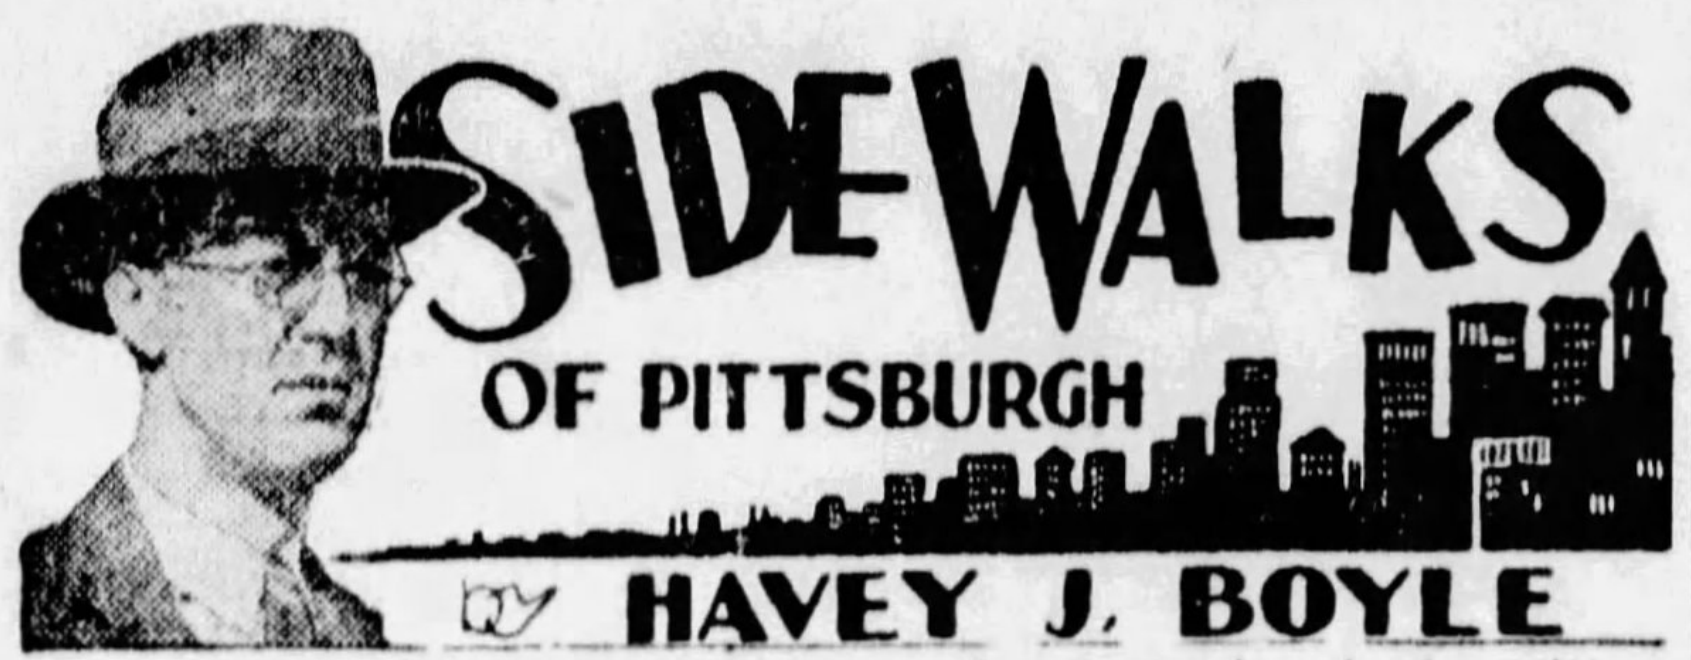
CRAFTON GRADE-CROSSINGS TO BE ELIMINATED

TWO SETS OF PLANS ARE SUBMITTED

Elimination of grade crossings in Crafton was brought a step nearer when it was announced that a conference had been arranged with the County Commissioners following changes in the plans suggested by the Public Service Commission.

Two plans have been presented, one to cost $479,000 and the other $490,000, including property damage, according to estimates by the railroad engineers. Borough Engineer Hinnan explains that plans submitted by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company provided for a subway at White avenue.

One plan calls for the approach to the tunnel crossing Linwood avenue at grade, necessitating a cut of 10 feet. The other calls for a new street extending from Emily street to Coulter street crossing Linwood street and extending to Dinsmore avenue, with connection with the proposed approach to the tunnel.



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

A CONTRIBUTION to the literature of remorse is a book written by Judd Gray. You remember him as the corset salesman who was executed for the murder of the husband of Ruth Snyder. It was written in the death-house in the late hours of night, as the author found the moments following the witching hour better for his remorseful reflections.

In the book Gray mentions a visit to Pittsburgh. He was called from here to attend to his father, stricken fatally ill. He mentions none of his Pittsburgh friends. Among the trade he had a wide acquaintance, but in his book he carefully refrains from mentioning any friends to avoid embarrassing them.

Stern men will read the book and hold no sympathy for Gray, but others, in noting his death-chair repentance, will discover that he got tangled in a web that, try as he might, he could not get free from.

The book was finished a few hours before he went to the chair. He makes out no case for himself, nor does he condemn the woman in the case. He knew he had sinned, he was sorry, and was willing to pay the awful toll. In his extremity he continually thanked Heaven for the gift of faith which nourished him in the last dark hours of his thwarted life.

It is a dreadful, impressive portrait of a man, whose spirit was willing, but whose flesh was weak. Those Pittsburgh salesmen and McKeesport men who knew him will be among those interested in his last will—a document of remorse.

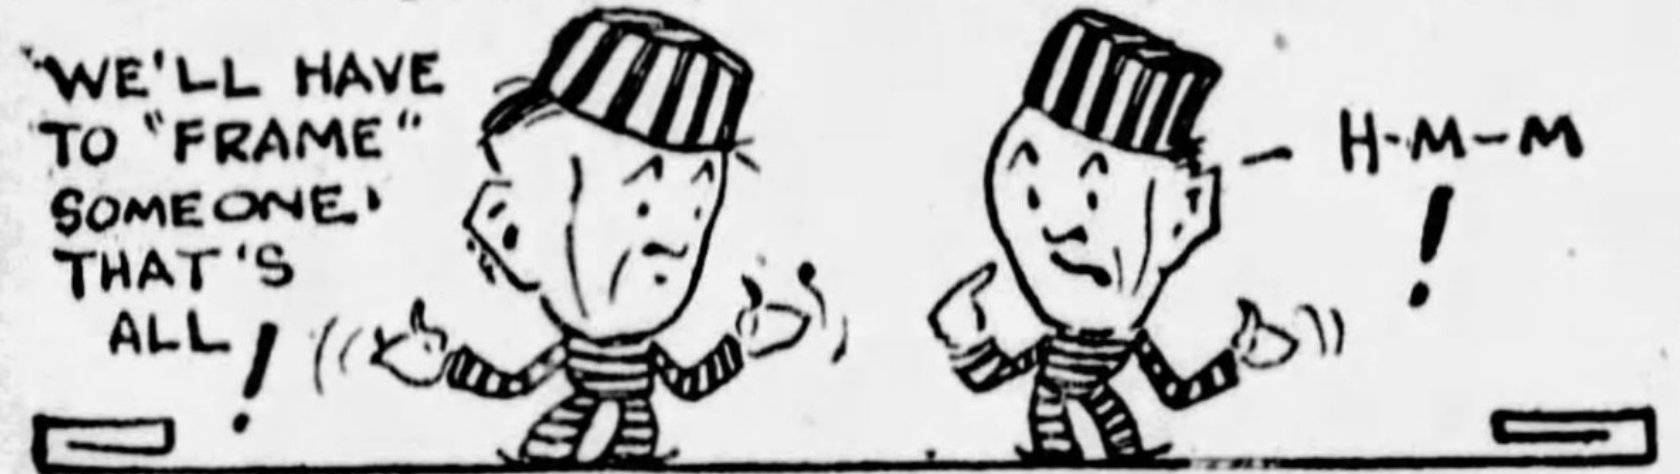
Guy Ralston has a story of a group of youthful racketeers who soon will be on their way to Atlanta. They contemplate having a pretty good time in the South. Most of the boys like to play football. They face a difficult problem. They have no quarterback. It is remarkable how few good quarterbacks have got mixed up this season in the rackets. Consequently, the boy-racketeers have an eye on a good quarterback and it is their plan to "frame" him somehow so that he will be sent to Atlanta. In this way a good football club, they figure, will be rounded out.



"WE'LL HAVE TO "FRAME" SOMEONE, THAT'S ALL!
H-M-M!

To all the collegians in this section it may be of interest to report that among the young racketeers there is a large supply of linemen and ends, but few quarterbacks. It is interesting because it shows once again that quarterbacks have the brains.

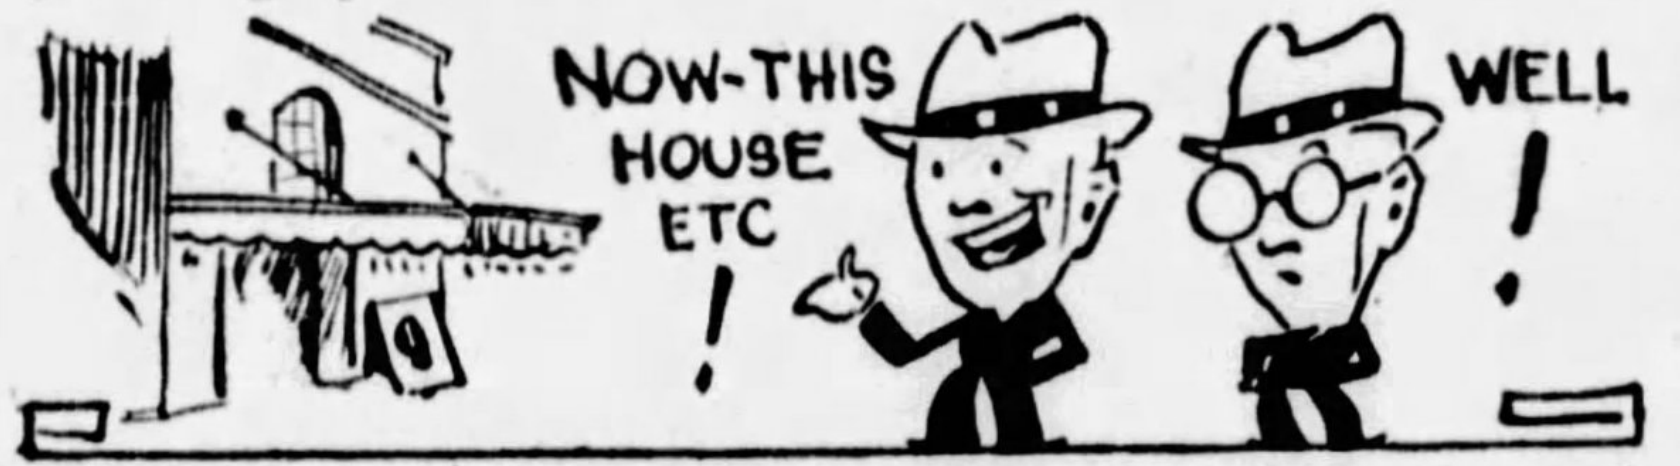
IN JOHNSTOWN the other night Mike Boyle showed us his Majestic Theater. About theaters we are a crank, only a few measuring up to our fastidious taste, but the Majestic in Johnstown is better than a great many we have seen in New York. It was designed and constructed by the same men who built the Nixon in Pittsburgh and the Forrest in Philadelphia.



NOW-THIS HOUSE ETC!
WELL!

Such a boost might indicate that Mike is a cousin. He isn't. But he's a very nice man, however.

HENRY A. SPANGLER, NORTH SIDE BANKER, IS DEAD

Henry A. Spangler, 88, a prominent North Side banker, died yesterday in the Columbia Hospital after a short illness. Up until a few years ago Mr. Spangler had been a resident of the North Side but recently had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Charles S. Frye, of 705 Tenth avenue, Munhall.

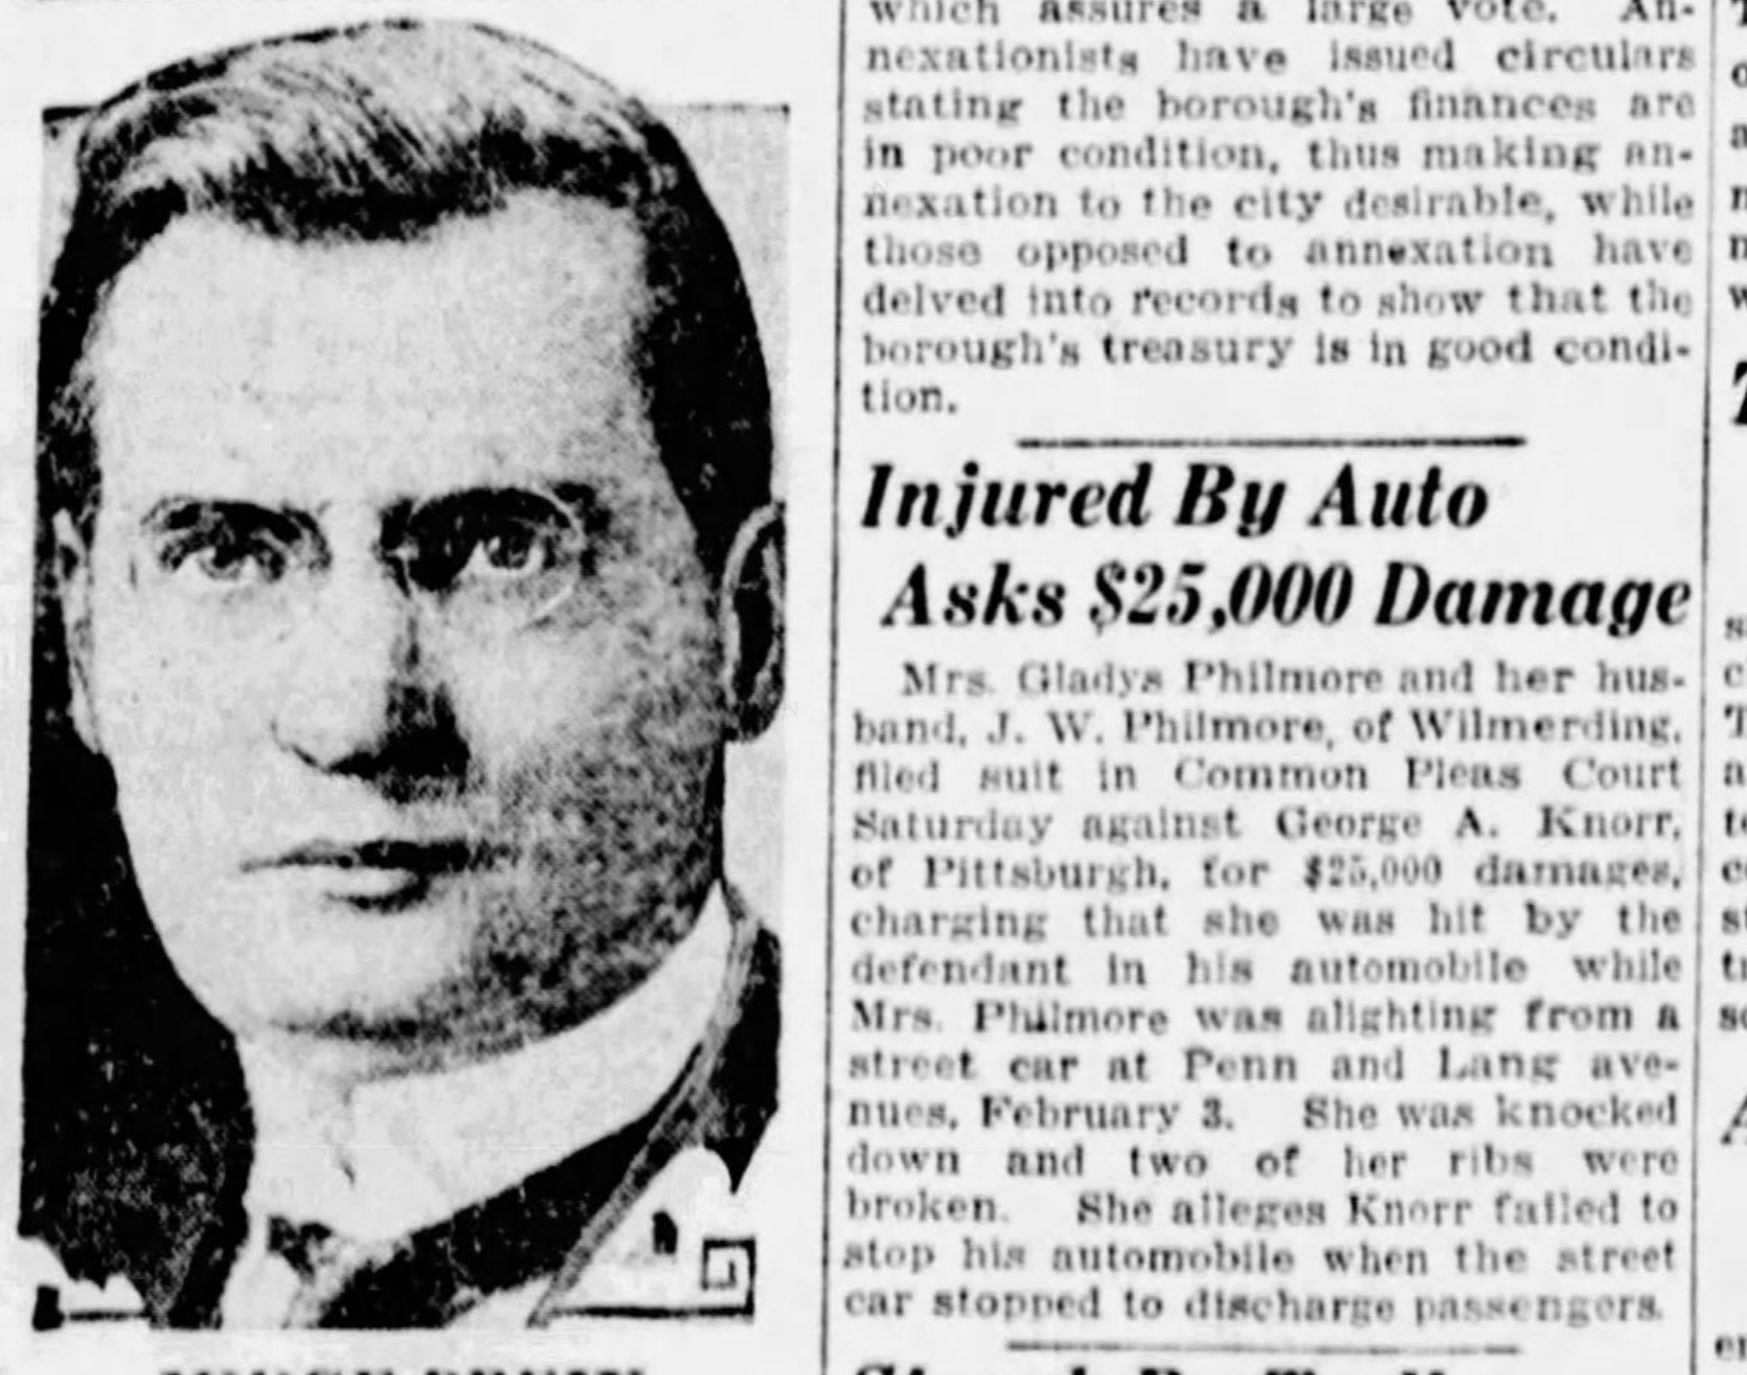
Mr. Spangler was born on the North Side and was the first high constable of Old Allegheny city. He was a veteran of the Civil War and for many years was cashier of the Third National Bank before it merged with the Allegheny Trust Company. He also was associated with the trust company at the time of his death.

During the Civil War he served as aide to Col. Barnes, of the Sixth Pennsylvania Heavy Artillery. He was a member of Post No. 88, G. A. R., and of the Masons and Odd Fellows. He was a member of the First Christian Church and for more than 60 years had served as deacon and treasurer of the board of trustees. Beside his daughter he leaves two sisters, six grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Play Is Rehearsed By Walther League

A three-act comedy will be presented December 5 and 6 by the Walther League Society of the Concordia Evangelical Lutheran Church of Brentwood. Members of the cast include Clara Bubenheim, Velma Rabold, Leona Schultz, Alberta Kording, Margaret Theilman, Herbert Roth, Harold Roth, Kenneth Snavely, Emil Neuman, Jr., and Alfred Sachse.

County Judge



JUDGE DREW

Judge James B. Drew has served Allegheny County courts for the last nine years. He was born in Pittsburgh in 1877 and was graduated from Columbia University. He was appointed assistant city solicitor under the late George W. Guthrie, former mayor, and Mayor Magee reappointed him from 1906 to 1912. He was captain in the U. S. Army from 1918 until the close of the war. He lives in Morewood avenue.

ANNEXATION UP AT MT. OLIVER

Taxpayers of Mt. Oliver will hold a special election Wednesday, at which time it will be determined whether or no that borough is to become a part of the city of Pittsburgh.

While the issue is lacking in bitterness, common when such questions are determined, there is apparent an underground current which assures a large vote. Annexationists have issued circulars stating the borough's finances are in poor condition, thus making annexation to the city desirable, while those opposed to annexation have delved into records to show that the borough's treasury is in good condition.

Injured By Auto Asks $25,000 Damage

Mrs. Gladys Philmore and her husband, J. W. Philmore, of Wilmerding, filed suit in Common Pleas Court Saturday against George A. Knorr, of Pittsburgh, for $25,000 damages, charging that she was hit by the defendant in his automobile while Mrs. Philmore was alighting from a street car at Penn and Lang avenues, February 3. She was knocked down and two of her ribs were broken. She alleges Knorr failed to stop his automobile when the street car stopped to discharge passengers.

Struck By Trolley Sues for $25,000

Mrs. E. C. Ryan filed suit for $25,000 damages against the Pittsburgh Railways Company in Common Pleas Court Saturday, charging that an automobile in which she was a passenger was struck by a street car at Highland avenue and Hampton street October 9, causing severe injuries to her. She alleges negligence on the part of the motorman, whom she charges could have avoided the accident.

With First Thanksgiving Turkeys, Gobbling In Produce Yards

FIRST TURKEYS ARE HERE!

Pittsburgh today has its large shipment of Thanksgiving turkeys. In the produce yards, Miss Veronica B. Ritter, 745 Broughton avenue, Oakland, selects "the best."

HANDLES HUNDREDS OF TURKEYS

When your Thanksgiving turkey steams on the board, perhaps it will have been guided through the produce yards to you by Pete Levandowski, who handles hundreds and hundreds and hundreds of them this week.

BURNING COAL MINE PERILS CRAFTON

News that the coal mine owned by the McShane Coal Company on the Baldwin road was on fire has occasioned considerable alarm in Crafton and the matter has been brought to the attention of the Borough Council. Half of the burning coal is in the Twenty-eighth Ward, Pittsburgh, and half in Crafton. According to the mine superintendent the situation is becoming serious, as the mine fire is nearing Sterrett Place.

Persons living in the vicinity of the mine are of the belief that the fire has been raging several months, saying that water flowing from the mine last winter was hot.

The matter is being placed before the County Commissioners, with the request they take prompt action.

TWO HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Three women were injured slightly in an auto crash at Alder street and College avenue Saturday. Miss Babbette and Miss Clara Bierman, of 6712 Thomas boulevard, and Miss Alice Beck, of 6461 Aurelia street, had their injuries dressed at Homeopathic Hospital, the former two continuing to work and the latter going home. They were passengers in the auto of W. H. Hile, of 7731 Edgerton avenue, which collided with the machine of A. H. Resnor. Both machines were damaged. The women were cut and bruised.

Traffic Endangers Crafton Students

Traffic conditions in Crafton are said to be extremely dangerous to children going to and from school. This is especially true at Crafton and Noble avenues, and the matter was placed before the borough council. Burgess Spalter was instructed by council to station a traffic officer at this corner during school hours.

Automobile on Fire Brings Department

An automobile on fire at the lower end of Walter avenue, Mt. Oliver, occasioned a run by the fire department, which used chemicals and thereby kept the gasoline from exploding. The auto, owned by Otto Etzrott, 125 Birmingham avenue, was completely destroyed.

St. George Women Hold Card Party

A card party will be held tonight by the St. George Branch of the Catholic Women's Union in St. George's school auditorium. The proceeds will go to the church.

Girls' Auxiliary Plans Charity Ball

The Girls' Auxiliary of the Carrick Mother's Club will hold a charity dance at Webster Hall December 11. Margaret Nussbaum is chairman with the following aides: Margaret Krell, Alice Heagney, Anna Heesom and Ellen Brenan.

JOHN L. SNYDER

For 30 years now, since September 1, 1898, John L. Snyder, now 64, 211 Sycamore street, Mt. Washington, has been at the throttle in the cabhouse of Monongahela Incline. He's a busy fellow, he'll tell you, and he runs both freight and passenger cars up and down every day. Twenty years ago, he remembers, the old Pittsburgh Dispatch printed his picture as a veteran operator.

Woman's Club Presents Play

The Woman's Club of Ingram met this afternoon in the Firemen's Association Building, at which time a three-act farce comedy, entitled "Mrs. Hoops Hooper and the Hindu" was presented by the literary dramatic committee. Mrs. B. A. McNellis was leader and the hostesses were Mrs. Garrett Geerlings, Mrs. F. E. Golden, Mrs. H. E. Gross, Mrs. Park Garrett and Mrs. W. A. Halleck.

Leonard to Address Historical Society

McClelland Leonard, of Uniontown, and Charles W. Dahlinger will address the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania at the regular meeting tomorrow evening in Historical Hall. Mr. Leonard will speak on "Laurel Hill" and Mr. Dahlinger on "The Pittsburgh Sanitary Fair of 1864."

GOBBLES MARK ARRIVAL OF TURKEYS

With a gobble here and a gobble there, Pittsburgh's first turkeys for the Thanksgiving market arrived in the produce yards Saturday. There were carloads in all.

There was quite a flurry among these gay birds from the Kentucky poultry farms when they were transported in trucks to various wholesale distributing points. Crate after crate of them were piled high on sidewalks before the various poultry firms.

It is expected that more than 25 cars will arrive this Sunday and Monday for the Thanksgiving trade. These will include birds from Kentucky, Mississippi and the Dakotas. Each car contains from 1,000 to 1,300 birds.

Live turkeys were quoted at 35 to 40 cents a pound, about the same price as prevailed last year. This will make the retail price of dressed turkeys about 60 cents a pound, wholesale poultry dealers stated.

Play Presented By Bible Class

A play, "Uncle Ephraim's Summer Boarders," was given in the Sunday school room of Emanuel's Lutheran Church by members of the Virginia Boyer Bible Class. The cast included 30 persons. The proceeds will go to the Lutheran Orphanage at Zelienople. Attorney John E. Winner is teacher and Ralph Pfeiffer president of the class. Mrs. George Heckel supervised the play.

John A. Brennan Dies in Millvale

John A. Brennan, 60, died in his home at 16 Gerwig street, Millvale. He had been a resident of Millvale for more than 40 years and was a member of St. Ann's Catholic Church. He leaves his wife; three son, two daughters and seven grandchildren.

Squeezed by Door Taken to Hospital

ETNA FIREMEN PLAN MINSTREL

Registration was begun today of persons to participate in the third annual minstrel and musical production of the Etna Volunteer Firemen to be given early next year. Rehearsals will be begun December 3, in the Sunday school rooms of the First Congregational Church, Etna. This, the most ambitious community affair attempted, will be under the direction of A. W. Bendig and J. S. Bowman, with Miss Tillie Kneauer as piano accompanist. The general committee includes Alex Andress, chairman; John C. Hartman, J. S. MacDonald, Harry E. Dopp, Daniel Simmers, W. J. Dando.

TAKE PLEDGE TO DEITY

One thousand men pledged themselves to reverence the name of the Deity at a holy name rally in St. Anthony's Lyceum, Millvale, last night under auspices of the Holy Name Societies of St. Anthony, St. Anne and St. Nicholas churches.

James Houlahen, former county commissioner, was chairman. The principal address was by the Rev. James O'Connell, of St. Stephen's Church. F. W. Ries, Jr., was the lay speaker. The Rev. James Delaney, diocesan director of holy name societies, spoke briefly. Others taking part in the service were the Rev. Louis Spannagel, the Rev. Eugene McGuigan and the Rev. Joseph G. Soric, pastors of the participating churches.

Membership Drive Launched by Post

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 26.

The football season is closing, and college life is about over for the year. A few students will stay out the season for the dances, and some of the players may take up a couple of pipe courses and hang around till spring practice starts, but most of the good ones will go home for the winter to show the clippings.

The college president will be looking over the gate receipts to see if he stays another year. Cheer leaders will go back to train calling. The alumni will start arguing over a new coach.

It's no trouble to tell the successful educational institution these days. It's the ones that can afford a new stadium next year.

WILL ROGERS.

RAINBOW CHASING

Madge Sayre Is Introduced To Carrol Dudley, a Daring Artist

CHAPTER I.

IT IS wonderful to be young—to be a girl—to be beautiful! To possess hair the color of a daffodil and eyes of violet blue! To have been granted by a kind fate a figure not too tall and not too short, so exquisitely formed that young men humorously intent would whisper to one another: "Dangerous curves ahead!"

But Madge Sayre, who lived desiring thrills, awakened on the smiling morning of her twenty-first birthday, late in April, with a slight feeling of discontent, resenting what she considered a prosaic existence.

The feeling passed. After all, there is a thrill merely in having a birthday—when one is twenty-one and a tingle with a zest for life.

"Gee!" she said. "Gee! I'm twenty-one!"

The windows were open, and through them came the noise of the West Twenty-first street traffic, which consists chiefly of trucks and heavy vans.

Tucked away in this street that is partly business and partly residential, are some old brick houses; and here in a dingy apartment between Seventh and Eighth avenues, Madge made a home for her father.

They had two small bedrooms, a moderate-sized living room, that inconceivably inconvenient arrangement known as a kitchenette, and a bath.

This last was Madge's chief grievance in life. As she went in her filmy nightdress down the narrow hall and switched on the light, she made a little grimace of distaste, at the ugly black-and-white squared paper.

Turning on the hot water from an ancient faucet of brass, brought a discouraging trickle of luke-warm water.

"Be luke-warm!" Madge addressed it. "It's April, but how I hate you in the winter!"

After bathing, Madge enveloped herself in one of her few luxuries—an enormous Turkish towel of fleecy softness.

She was applying a big powder puff so that a thin film caressed her youthful litheness, when the telephone in the living room shrilled for attention.

"Many happy returns of the day! And how does it feel to be twenty-one?" a feminine voice came over the wire.

"Oh, Frances?"

"Frances Storrs herself speaking," the voice returned. "What are you doing tonight?"

"Not a thing," Madge replied a little dolefully. "Father is going to dinner with some men friends—about some business. He tried to change the date because of my birthday, but he couldn't."

"You poor lonesome child!" Frances consoled her. "But I'm so glad. Last night at Joe's place I conceived the idea of a party for tonight—and I've got lots of people coming. One, especially. No less, my dear, than Carroll Dudley!"

"And who," asked Madge, "is Carroll Dudley?"

"I'll tell him that," Frances promised her. "It will do him good if you're not kidding me—to know that there is one girl on this island of Manhattan who has never heaerd of him. Madge, do you mean it? You don't know who Carroll Dudley is?"

"Shall I write it to you," Madge suggested, "or will you tell me—who is Carroll Dudley?"

"Listen and learn!" Frances instructed her. "Carroll Dudley is an extremely well-known painter doing portraits—chiefly of society women. And he is known also for his daring nudes. He's thirty-one or two—and appallingly good-looking. He was in the air force in 1917—crashed and broke a leg. After that, he was in the camouflage, his nerves shot. But he came back and not so very long ago went absolutely crazy again about flying. They say that if Carroll is asked for the week-end in the county, nine times out of ten he just drops down out of the skies on any convenient lawn! And you don't know who he is!"

"He sounds thrilling," Madge conceded. "And that's a help."

As Madge replaced the receiver, her father, in pajamas and dressing gown, crept into the room.

Jonathan Sayre, although only fifty-five, looked at least ten years older. He was tall and spare and what hair remained to him was white—not grey. His hands trembled and he looked very ill.

"Father dear!" Madge said reproachfully as she kissed his forehead. "Again last night!"

"Now, don't scold me on your birthday," he begged. "And many happy returns, my darling!" He kissed her tenderly. "So like your mother when I first met her," he added, more to himself than to his daughter. "Can you blame me altogether, my dear, if I stopped the sense of loss last night with too much whisky? But we can't be gloomy on your twenty-first birthday, particularly when you hear my news."

"Good news? Splendid."

From the pocket of his dressing gown, Jonathan Sayre produced a jeweler's case. With trembling fingers he opened it to display a small diamond and sapphire pendant.

"Oh, father, you couldn't afford that, but it's positively thrilling!" Madge exclaimed, putting her arms about his neck. "You shouldn't have done it when you need all your money for the razor and fountain pen, and you're always saying that you're hampered by lack of capital."

"My dear," he smiled at her, "you haven't heard my news. Tonight the four of us meet, and Hutton thinks that he has interested Larkin—James P. Larkin—in the safety razor. There's a million in it! A million! Two—three! And can't I afford to give my only daughter—the only thing in the world I love—a trifling trinket on her twenty-first birthday. That's only a down-payment, my child, for all your sweetness! Your next birthday shall be passed in Paris—shopping. I'm only sorry that I can't be with you tonight."

As she served him his coffee and ate her own breakfast of fruit, cereal and eggs, Madge looked at him with tender eyes, her young heart yearning over him. He was like a child, she reflected. Ever since her mother had died—Madge was then sixteen—her father had been getting steadily poorer and poorer, while always he was to be a millionaire—next week. Nor would he permit his daughter to work. It was more than his pride could bear.

"I know you're going to make a big success, Madge declared earnestly, seeing that his eyes were mutely pleading with her for encouragement. "But I must go and dress," she added, with a glance at the shabby little clock on the mantelpiece.

She had just returned to the living-room when the door-bell rang.

"Who can that be!" Madge remarked wonderingly to her father as she went to press the button which opened the front door. "I gave that new maid the key yesterday."

She peered over the stairs. Coming up was a young man, a young man obviously bearing gifts.

He was a moderately good-looking young man in the late twenties, but not half so good-looking as he believed himself to be. His name was Richard Leeds.

"I came," he volunteered, as he bent over Madge's hand and kissed it, "because I could not keep away on such a very important occasion your twenty-first birthday."

Madge had known him several months. She was not particularly touched with his devotion, and smiled a little mockingly. Secretly she had weighed him and found him light. He was studying interior-decoration, while an adoring mother supplied an allowance which made the path softer for her darling's feet.

"It's nice of you to come, Dick," she told him carelessly, but added rebukingly, "You know I like people to telephone first. But come in."

Her father had retreated to his room. With a gesture of pride Dick opened the box that he was carrying and took from it a parchment lamp-shade painted in rather extreme ochres and lavenders, portraying an exotic cow in the midst of still more exotic vegetation.

"I thought it 'great fun,'" he said in the jargon of his trade. "Don't you think the cow amusing?"

Madge, knowing that she would never use the thing, and deciding he must not become aware of that, exclaimed, "How lovely, Dick! I'll use it in my room."

"I thought you'd like it," he said as he sat down beside her on a couch.

He was too complacent, too sure of himself. She determined to punish him.

"I wonder there are not crowds of people here," Dick remarked with a smug air. "What has happened to the young men you honor with your acquaintance?"

"The men I know work for their livings—they are not learning to be interior decorators," Madge slapped him sharply.

"Is that kind?" he asked.

Provocatively, Madge crossed one knee over the other, giving him a side-long glance.

He took one of her hands, kissed each finger-tip lingeringly.

"Mustn't do that," Madge half-whispered. So encouraged, he attempted to slip an arm about her.

She exclaimed indignantly, with difficulty suppressing the mirth she felt at his discomfiture. "If I were in the mood to be petted, I'd find a man to pet me!"

He colored painfully, and Madge was delighted to observe that a great deal of his self-possession had left him.

"I didn't mean—I'm sorry," he stammered quite confused.

"If I hadn't thought you were house-broken, I wouldn't have had you in," Madge pursued her advantage. "But you're forgiven. Now run along, Dick, and learn how to become decorative."

After he had taken his somewhat disgruntled departure, Madge sat dreaming. "If she could meet a man who was daring and confident. He would have to be awfully good-looking, he would have to be rich enough to make West Twenty-first street and old-fashioned tin tubs mere memories of the past, and he would have to be—oh, just everything that Dick Leeds was not!

Before her mirror that evening, Madge posed in frank admiration of her own beauty. A simple little afternoon frock of black crepe-de-chine enhanced the dazzling whiteness of her skin and the golden glint of her hair, now long enough to do intriguingly low on the nape of her bewitching neck.

"And you, my child," she remarked aloud, "will probably be the only girl at the party with long hair."

Deciding that a twenty-first birthday happened but once in a lifetime, she treated herself to a taxi, and shortly after half-past eight arrived at Frances Storrs' studio apartment on Bank street.

Frances Storr, who was five years older than Madge, looked more like a man than seemed humanly possible. Sallow of complexion, she had hair cut close and affected mannish tweed suits. She smoked a pipe, wore a wrist-watch with a leather strap, scorned both powder and the art of the manicurist, and made an excellent living writing advertisements, chiefly for cosmetics, vanity cases and perfumes. Yet, particularly when talking to Madge, she could speak with the camaraderie of a sister.

A little group of people had already assembled. Soon after Madge's arrival there was a stir among them.

Madge turned to see a man posed for a moment on the threshold as Frances advanced to welcome him.

Madge noticed that this man at whom everyone stared was, in a somewhat dissolute way, perhaps the handsomest she had ever seen. His tall, spare frame was immaculate in dinner clothes, and Madge observed the muscular shoulders and the free, swinging grace of his figure; noted, too, the intensely black hair, short-cropped, and the blazing blue of his eyes.

OF COURSE, he'll win the game! How could he help it with Love and Beauty on the side lines cheering him on! The game that means so much—not alone to him, but to the Alma Mater which has inspired such love and loyalty that is second only to the Greatest Love in the world—will end his career as a college athlete, and therefore the Send-Off which he gets is more than an inspiration.

And the touchdown which he scores to place his team in the lead will also mean a touchdown in the Love Game. No cheering crowds will greet the latter—it will be witnessed by Just Two—and the score will be Love and Happiness and a hundred yard dash down Life's pathway. And the Game of Life will have two more entrants in the race for the pennants of Love.

Meditations of a Wife

Hold It!

When the motion picture director shouts that little command through the megaphone, he says a Carnegie Library-full! And, incidentally, he sets the screen star the hardest task of her life.

* * *

HELEN ROWLAND

That's the real test of the actress—and of all the rest of us. And it applies to every mortal thing in life. Whether it's a job, a husband, a wife, fame, beauty, money or love!

Fame and popularity are sometimes won, overnight, by a simple twist of the wrist of fate—or of the publicity man. A flash of genius, a brand-new idea, a clever stunt, a stroke of luck, a brilliant piece of press-agenting—and there you are, right on the MAP! But where are you tomorrow?

* * *

It's easy enough to catch the public eye—but holding the public attention for more than a fleeting moment is the Herculean feat, in these days. Catching on is only the first step—it's holding on that counts!

* * *

And it's the same with beauty. Some of us are born beautiful and some achieve beauty; all of us are born young and most of us are born healthy. Yet, if you want to hold youth and beauty to the end, you've got to WORK at it, like Fannie Ward and Mary Pickford—or else die young.

* * *

And there's money. Any financier will tell you that while it may be hard to make money and harder still to save it, the most colossal achievement of all is to hold ONTO your money, after you've got it.

* * *

The whole world is hanging around eagerly waiting to take it away from you, or to show you how to spend it or to "invest" it or to gamble it away. You can make a million in a day—but it takes eternal vigilance to KEEP it!

And love! We all get our little slice off the loaf of love, sooner or later. Everybody is loved, sometime, somewhere, somehow, by somebody. But to HOLD love—the glamorous, intangible, elusive fairy gift—that is the feat magnificent, which requires skill, finesse, self-control, self-sacrifice and superhuman patience.

* * *

STAYING POWER! That is the one great vital quality in everything from human nature to bridges—from politics to face powder!

* * *

Whether it's love, power, happiness or fortune, those who can HOLD it, are the conquerors of life. "Hold it!" is the secret password to success!

Horoscope

Tuesday, November 27

CONFLICTING astral conditions are seen among the planetary configurations for this day. Although there will be many openings and advantages, with unusual activity and some financial returns, yet there is a menace of intrigue and sinister undoing, especially in negotiations with corporations, rings or with secret societies. Also there is some danger of violence or accident.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to find a year of contradictions, with excellent openings and desirable change, attended by some financial benefits, but there is likewise omen of fraud, duplicity or subtle undermining of the interests.

A child born on this day may be ingenious, original and independent as well as brave and enterprising.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Edith Supplies Madge With a Budget of Gossip

"'LO! Madge," came Edith Fairfax's lilting voice over the telephone. "I sure have had the old boy's own session to get you. I want a few seconds' powwow with the Dickybird, but first, how's Junior? I've been terribly anxious about him."

As she spoke I half unconsciously recorded a disquieting impression which her voice made upon me. It was the faint but unmistakable metallic note marring the soft musical southern drawl which always had been one of her chief attractions. To me it was significant of the change which had taken place in the beautiful Virginia girl's character in the years that I had known her.

In the days when she and her gentle younger sister, Leila, had been the lovely, bewildered, incompetent protegees of a group of artists and illustrators headed by Lillian Underwood and Dicky, I had known that she cared as much for Dicky as did her sister Leila for Alfred Durkee, Dicky's chum, who later became Leila's husband. But even when in the terrible stress of Dicky's accident at the Mineola flying field, she lost control of herself and threw in my face the challenge that she loved my husband much better than I did. I had recognized the girl's high-mindedness and sportsmanship. I also had realized that she would keep her secret from Dicky, and try heroically to conquer the love which was wrecking her happiness and that of her distant cousin, Dr. Jim Paige, of North Carolina, who had loved her from childhood.

But her sudden and unexpected success in the business and advertising end of an art magazine in which Dicky had sunk a good sum of money, had seemed to me to mark a distinct dividing line between the old incompetent, tremulous, winsome girl with a high sense of honor, and the brisk, assured competent, highly attractive woman who appeared to have taken "Myself first," for her life motto. The hint of steel in her voice was carried out in her personality, I told myself, and I no longer placed any reliance in her sportsmanship. I believed that she would use any means in her power to win Dicky's affections and although I had had ample proof that there was no hint of romantic reaction to her in his heart, yet the knowledge made it difficult for me to keep up the fiction of friendship with her demanded by Dicky's partnership with her, and by my own deep affection for her sister, Leila Durkee.

I believed that her inquiry after Junior, however, was prompted by genuine concern—she several times had given proof of her affection for the child and—and the realization helped me to force my voice to cordiality.

"Thank you, Ede, he's ever so much better," I said, wondering even as I spoke, how she had learned about Junior's illness. Dicky, I supposed, but we had been together almost constantly since our boy's accident, and I had not known of his either writing or telephoning to Edith during that time.

"Sure there will be no after effects?" she asked.

"No, the physician appears to think all danger is past." Instinctively I choked back the information that the child must stay in the country for the winter, but her next speech showed me that my caution was needless."

"It's a wonder you or the Dickybird wouldn't have let me know about that accident," she said with just the touch of grievance in her tone which an old family friend would display. "I only heard of it today in the most roundabout way. Noel Veritzen told his father about it over the telephone, and the old boy happened to meet Alf and told him, and then Alf, being a good egg if he is a brother-in-law, telephoned me. You'll probably have a phone from Alf, too. He's quite cut up about it. But he isn't a circumstance to old Phil Veritzen. Alf said he was quite pathetic, though his chief concern appeared to be the possibility that you might decide to stay in the country this winter with Junior."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Two Meals Each Day Sufficient for Man Aged 62

SOME time ago I had a letter from a Philadelphia man which was filled with good suggestions. He says he always reads my health articles in his home paper. The particular one which excited his interest related to headache. I am much interested in what this man says about his own habits. He is 62 years of age, he says, but feels as well as he did at 30.

DR. COPELAND

My correspondent says that his business keeps him closely confined to the office. He does not get as much exercise as he would like to take. But he does manage to get in a couple of games of golf every week.

He must be a remarkable man because, after going 'round 18 holes in golf, he says he seems to feel as though he were "just warmed up for a real game." His contemporaries in age, he says, "could no more do this than fly." It really is a remarkable record.

It would be interesting to know how much the eating habits of this man have to do with his excellent physical condition. He complains that most men who do not have as much exercise as he does are as a rule big eaters. They do not eat much at breakfast time, but always take lunch and then go to a big dinner. Then, too, some of them are likely to take another heavy meal late at night. There is no wonder they complain of constipation and headache! My Philadelphia friend takes a good breakfast every morning. He never eats any lunch and never eats anything late at night. He does take a good dinner at 6 o'clock. By the time he is ready for bed, his meal is well digested; he sleeps well and gets up in the morning "feeling like a million dollars."

There is no question at all that men along in life make a great mistake if they eat too much. All they need food for is to repair the waste of the day. Growth was long ago completed and it is undesirable to lay on fat. All a man needs at this time of life is just enough food to furnish the energy and the immediate repairs.

There can be no doubt that in eliminating lunch, the stomach is given a long period of rest every day. With enough water to cleanse the tissues the system will get along well with the limited amount of food my correspondent takes.

If the stomach is cluttered with food, and as the result constipation develops, there is no wonder there is headache, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure and all sorts of disagreeable symptoms.

Simple living, plenty of sunlight, moderate exercise and temperate eating are really the secret of good health and long life.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Assistant Hostess

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Whom should the hostess seat at her right—her sister or her best girl friend? EDNA.

I SUGGEST that the hostess make her sister an assistant hostess and ask her to sit opposite her at the table. Then she will be able to direct the conversation at her end of the table and socially "keep the ball rolling." The hostess, if this plan is adopted, will then ask her best friend to have the seat of honor at her right.

What to Give

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What is a proper gift to give a girl who is our friend and who is engaged to our nephew? M. T.

WOULD you like to give her a handsome Florentine leather portfolio for her desk, a beautiful case for her stationery? They will show them to you in the leather shops, and there are two or three shops in town that specialize in Florentine leather. Or would a traveling clock please her better? Or a silver or gold fountain pen or pencil? A handsome evening bag, a purse or handbag of any kind, a leather or silver or ivory photograph frame, handkerchiefs, embroidered with her monogram (a cut-out monogram is particularly handsome) all of these would be appropriate.

Remove the Tissue

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Is it correct to enclose the tissue with your personal Christmas cards?

2. How should a widow have her name on the cards, "Mrs." or otherwise? PEGGY.

IT is not correct to enclose the tissue with your Christmas cards. By the time the cards are sent out the tissue has fulfilled its function of protecting the engraving, and it is no longer necessary. And the tissue gives the card an unfinished look that is not desirable.

2. The visiting cards or Christmas cards of a widow should have her name as she used it when her husband was living. For formal Christmas cards she uses the name, "Mrs. Theodore Van Buren."

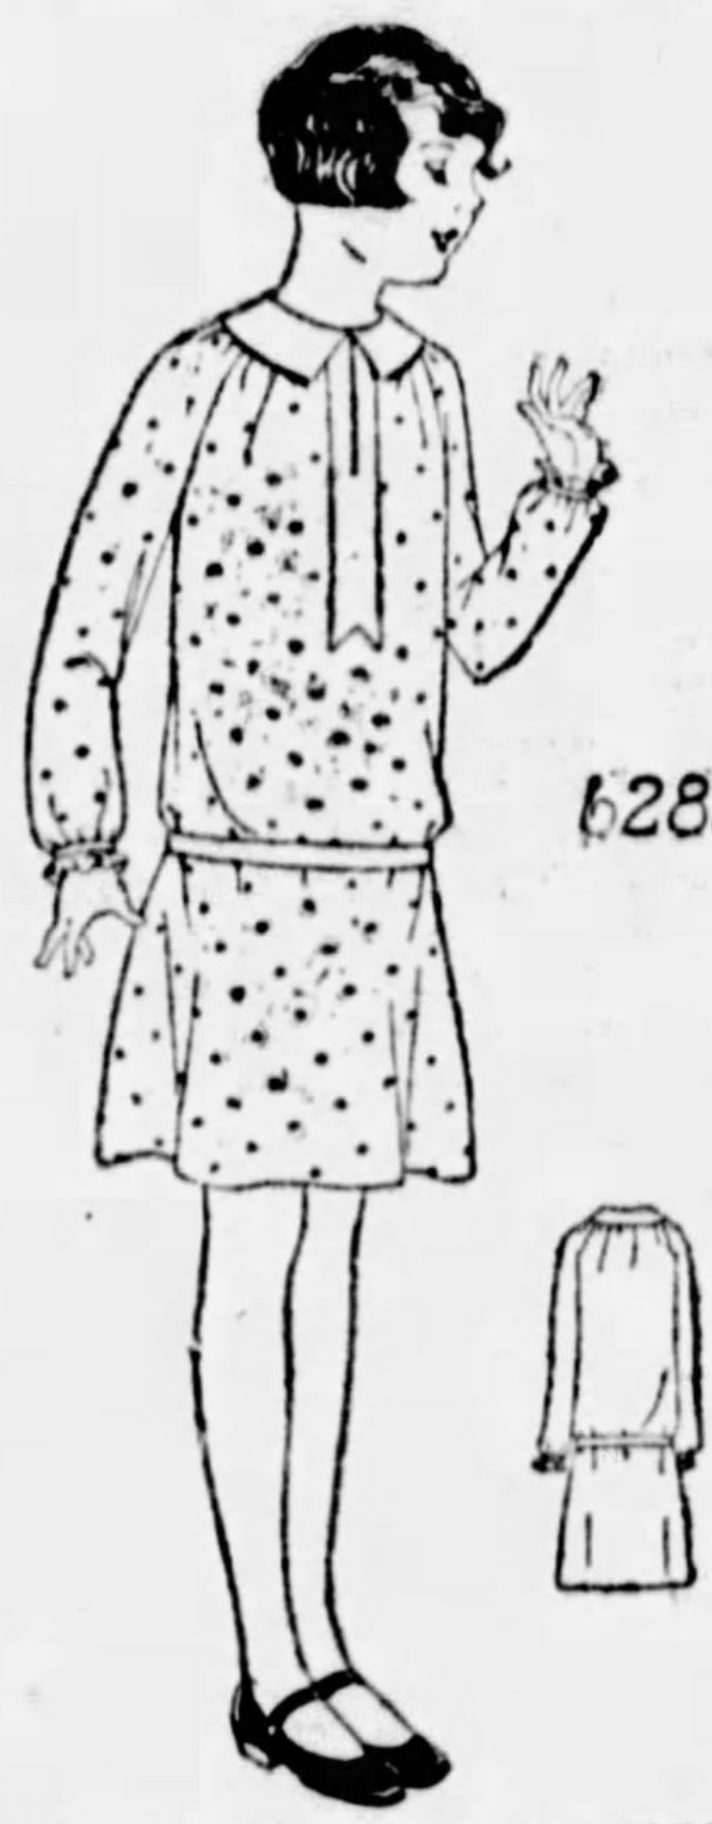
The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A SIMPLE SCHOOL OR HOME FROCK FOR MOTHER'S GIRL

A dotted print was selected for this little one-piece dress, with broadcloth for the facings. Cotton or wool rep, wool georgette, jersey or flannel are also desirable materials. The design has a comfortable sleeve with raglan shoulders and finished at the wrist with a ruffled heading, quaint and girlish. A shaped plastron or facing meets the collar at the center of the front. The fulness of the dress is held with a straight belt and is slightly bloused.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. To make the dress for a 10-year size will require three yards of 27-inch material together with ⅜ yard of contrasting material for facing on collar, plastron and belt.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Conquers Cold to Become a Bride!

A disturbing cough and reddened nose, on the day she should appear to best advantage! How lucky that a certain compound will rout a cold in four or five hours! A simple thing, in pleasant, tablet form—but it conquers the cold. Quicker than all the things you hear are good for colds. Far better than "doping."

If you feel a cold coming on, this will end it with the first snuffle. If the cold has settled on you, perhaps run into "flu." Pape's Cold Compound will still clear it up if you take several tablets. Druggists ask only 35c for this real relief.

MRS. CORDLE'S DAUGHTER LIKE A DIFFERENT GIRL

Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

DAUGHTER OF MRS. G. H. CORDLE
833 Hazel St., Macon, Georgia

Macon, Ga.—"I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel much relieved and I am giving it to my daughter, too. At twelve years of age she was so pale that even her lips had no color. She couldn't hold out to do any work to amount to anything. I gave her the Vegetable Compound and now at 13 years of age she is like a different girl. We are willing for you to use these facts for a testimonial as we cannot praise the Vegetable Compound too much. We will continue to take it and tell of its wonderful value."—Mrs. G. H. Cordle, 833 Hazel Street, Macon, Georgia.

Will Answer Letters

"I am a young mother, eighteen years of age. From early girlhood I suffered terribly because of a rundown condition. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see if it would help me, as she was worried. I did, and now I feel fine. After suffering for five years like I did and then taking nothing but the Vegetable Compound, you may be sure I am recommending it to others. I am willing for you to use anything I say as a testimonial and I will answer letters from any woman wanting to know about the medicine."—Mrs. Dewey Moore, 827 Broderick St., Columbus, Ohio.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Thanksgiving Week to Be Very Busy One, Social Date Book Shows

THANKSGIVING week is traditionally a busy one socially, and this is no exception, judging by a glance through the date book. Every day in the week has its quota of interesting events, not the least of which are the coming-out parties. There are two here in Pittsburgh, as I told you before, and the third one, on Saturday, will be a Sewickley affair.

This first-day-of-December debut is, you [illegible] Emily Stuart's. Emily will be brought out at a tea dance, which her father and mother, the James Lane Stuarts, of Cochrane street, Sewickley, will give in the Allegheny Country Club from 4 to 7 o'clock. Mrs. Stuart will have several of her friends assisting her, of course, and Emily will have as her aids [illegible] debutantes and four other girls from Sewickley, Caroline Gilchrist, Patricia Grimstead, Elizabeth George and Rebekah George.

Emily was one of the last girls to join the list of debutantes this season. I had thought that her parents probably would bring her out this winter, but the definite date of the debut wasn't announced until well into the fall. Emily is a Westover school girl and later spent a year studying at Miss Risser's School in Rome. In fact, it hasn't been so very long since she returned from Italy.

TWO or three more parties are being planned for the debutantes, and the days of the season are rapidly filling with these affairs. December 8, for instance, has been taken by the Frank J. Kiers, of Beechwood boulevard, for a house dance in honor of Marian Stone and Louise Evans. And then there are several other parties for Marian. Her sisters and their husbands, the Sidney A. Stewarts and the J. Sayley Austins, are planning to entertain at a small dinner in the Stewart home in Northumberland street on the night after Christmas. The Willock dance is set for that night, you know, and, of course, the dinner guests will go on to the ball. Marian, by the way, is returning this week from the East, where she has been visiting friends and going to the football games.

There are going to be two parties on December 13 for Mary Margaret Marshall. I have already told you about one—the luncheon which Mrs. Grant Dibert and Mrs. Stewart Pool will give in their home in Penn avenue. Then later in the afternoon, Mrs. Lewis Wenman Hicks will be hostess at tea in her Fifth avenue home for Margaret.

Speaking of Margaret, I understand that her father and mother, the Charles D. Marshalls, of Fifth avenue, are opening their summer home, Laurel Lock Farms, near Pottstown, again for a family reunion on Thanksgiving.

NOT a debutante party but quite as interesting is the dinner which the Stewart Johnstons, of South Highland avenue, are arranging for Saturday night, December 8, in the Pittsburgh Golf Club. They will entertain in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson Bissell, of South Linden avenue, who were married about a year and a half ago. Mrs. Bissell was Margaret Norman Sachs of Hartford, Conn., before her marriage, you remember.

I HEAR that Virginia Emily Rogers, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Weaver H. Rogers, of Northumberland street, is in the East and is one of the house guests at the silver anniversary which is being celebrated by Gov. and Mrs. John H. Trumbull, of Plainville, Conn. Virginia and Florence Trumbull are close friends, you know, and Florence has visited the Rogers family several times. And there is no need in my reminding you that Florence's forthcoming marriage to John Coolidge, son of the President, has been announced.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES FRANCIS KRUGH, of Magnolia place, Mt. Lebanon, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Madelyn Frances Krugh, to William G. Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Barton, of Stratford avenue. Miss Krugh was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh and Mr. Barton is a graduate of Pitt and the Duquesne University School of Law. A spring wedding is planned.

THE engagement of Miss Irene H. Starr, of Fifty-second street, to William Marshall, of Harrison street, was announced at a party given Thursday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Starr, of Holmes street. No wedding date has been set.

Gannon, of Callowhill street, sister of the bridegroom, will be matron of honor and Mr. Gannon will be best man.

MISS ALICE ARND, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Arnd, of South Negley avenue, will arrive home tomorrow from the Ogontz School, accompanied by a schoolmate, Miss Margaret Kemp, of Culver City, Mo. Her brother, Maurice J. Arnd, who attends Washington and Lee, at Lexington, Va., also will be home tomorrow for the Thanksgiving vacation, with a classmate, John Thorington, Jr., of Birmingham, Ala.

THE engagement of Miss Mildred Grace West, of Barnes street, Wilkinsburg, daughter of William C. West, of Pittsburgh, to Lucian Leroy Leape, formerly of Baltimore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Leape, of Covington, Va., was announced Saturday at a bridge party given by Miss West in her home. Four tables were in play, and there were two out-of-town guests, Miss Ethel O'Dell Morris, of Chillicothe, O., Miss West's roommate at Ohio Wesleyan, and Miss Ellen Hootman, of Washington, Pa., also a Wesleyan girl. A late spring wedding is planned.

DUQUESNE FIRE DRIVES 20 INTO SNOW; TWO HURT

An investigation is under way today into the cause of a fire yesterday afternoon which destroyed a frame apartment house in Sixth avenue, near Hamilton street, Duquesne, forcing more than 20 persons into the snow-covered streets. Fire originated in an unoccupied room.

The fire was fought for more than four hours before it was brought under control. Two firemen were injured and damage estimated at $15,000 was caused.

Fire Captain William Hilgert suffered an injured right hip when hit by a falling board after the fire had been extinguished. Capt. Charles Sinner was partially overcome by smoke while fighting the blaze.

The occupants of the house, seven families in all, with about 30 children, were forced to run through smoke filled halls. The flames are thought to have orignated in the second floor of the three-story structure. The rear stairs were quickly blocked and the occupants were unable to leave by rear windows because the building is situated on the edge of a steep hillside.

Firemen and neighbors helped a number of residents from windows. The icy sidewalk and the cold weather hampered firemen in their work. A number of those made homeless were Negroes.

"I USED TO BE ILL A GREAT DEAL"

Then ALL-BRAN brought new health

Mrs. Richardson wrote a free and voluntary tribute to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN after she had amply proved its value in relieving constipation and promoting health.

May 8, 1927

"I used to be ill a great deal. Through the winter I always had endless colds and coughs and was forever taking purgatives. Now I almost never have a cold. I haven't taken medicine or needed any for years. And I have better health than I ever had in my life. This is not just a fad with me. I have been eating ALL-BRAN for about four years."—Mrs. M. G. Richardson, 7528 Eighteenth Ave. N. E., Seattle, Wash.

Constipation causes dozens of troubles. Headaches, sleeplessness, aching backs, dizziness, sallow cheeks—these are only a few of the outward signs. But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings prompt, natural relief. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because it is 100 per cent bran. A healthful cereal. Delicious with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking too. Sprinkle into soups. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

FISHERMAN'S LUCK

By EFFIE DELNORD.

It might have been either Sally's coming in alone or her rather boisterous manner of entering the living room. Whatever it was, two of the three waiting for her knew that the evening had been a failure again.

"I had a perfectly wonderful time!" Sally tossed them a brave ripple of a laugh and turned on the radio.

"We just turned it off," Uncle George told her mildly, "Cousin Dorothy was getting a headache. After the long railroad trip, you know. Now tell us about the dance. Was Jill Manaday there?" His wife frowned at his tactlessness.

Sally turned off the radio and yawned. "Let's see. I hardly noticed. Oh, yes, sure she was there in some kind of a freakish Paris outfit."

Aunt Madge thought wearily, "After all the expense of Sally's outfit that widow must go her one better."

Uncle George laughed and remarked innocently, "Bet everybody was staring at her like usual. I think she's kind of pretty. Did Dan—" and catching his wife's eye lost the rest in a cough.

"Of course Dan had to dance with her," Sally told them. "He knew her before she was married."

Uncle George began to calculate with interest. "I don't know about that. Jill, at the most, is only a year or two older than Dan Turbot. I know it for a fact because on Jill's tenth birthday—"

His wife broke in hastily, "Sally, are you going to the wiener roast tomorrow afternoon?"

"I can't make up my mind. You see, there's also a game."

Aunt Madge thought gloomily, "He hasn't asked her to either and now the poor child will be up to her ears in schemes again." Aloud she said, "Well, you can make up your mind tomorrow morning."

"I'm going fishing tomorrow morning. Will you wake me, Uncle George, when you get up?"

"Sally, at 6:30?" Aunt Madge decided this must be some brand new scheme, since Sally always slept until noon after a dance. Or maybe Dan had asked her? She was too tactful to ask, but her husband did.

Sally laughed. "Dan fishing with no money to develop Slope Hill? He's driving out there tomorrow morning. His mother asked Jill Manaday for luncheon."

Uncle George chuckled. He was preparing to say something, in his opinion, very funny but his wife quickly began to explain to Cousin Dorothy. "Mr. Turbot is in the real estate business and he recently bought a large tract of land to develop into an ideal suburb. All he needs is the capital. Sally has been interesting a wealthy man in town in the project." She would have liked to have added, "You see Sally has schemed and worked so hard to get Dan Turbot and she feels since everything failed that he won't ask her until he gets this Slope Hill project started. So Sally has been working and scheming to get rich Mr. Eustis to put up the money. Everything was going fairly well until this widow appeared on the scene. And now he's not only neglecting Sally but Mr. Eustis as well."

A little glitter of triumph gleamed in Sally's sharp eyes. "I was especially nice to Mr. Eustis and he has practically promised to see Dan through on the Slope Hill development. And now, good-night! Don't forget to wake me tomorrow morning."

When her bedroom door closed with a bang Cousin Dorothy asked with unflattering frankness, "What's the matter? Can't she get this young man to propose? The idea! I'd know a dozen ways. First a little competition."

Aunt Madge smiled. "As if she had not tried that. There's really no scheme Sally hasn't tried. She pretended to sprain her ankle and Dan sent her flowers and took Jill to a dance. Now this fishing—it's part of some scheme. I've got it! Mrs. Turbot is a crank on fresh fish. Sally's going to catch one and horn herself in on the luncheon. Poor child! I believe it's this Slope Hill thing that's stopping Dan from asking her."

Early the next morning Sally dragged herself out of bed and climbed into knickers and heavy shoes, when she felt more like donning a cosy, feminine negligee. She went up to the dusty attic, and hunted her fishing paraphernalia. After a hurried breakfast she found her slicker, for the morning was foggy and damp, and started forth in her little car.

After a tiring trip on bumpy side roads Sally found Pop Smedley's shack and obtained bait and instructions as to the best place for bass. It was Sally's intention to deliver before noon a nice mess of bass at Mrs. Turbot's back door. She was not going for an invitation to lunch, but she was going to find out if Dan was taking Jill to the game or the picnic, and wherever they were going she would see to it that Mrs. Turbot would arrange anything. And what was more, Sally planned to bring Mr. Eustis along and plant him firmly and permanently on Jill's hands.

Ten o'clock came and Sally had not caught a fish. For two hours she had stood, eager, alert trying desperately to get a bite, but the unkind bass swam gaily past straight to Pop Smedley's line not a hundred feet away. At 10:30 Sally dropped her tired arms and trudged over to the old man's side. "Will you tell me what's the matter with my fishing?" she asked unhappily. "Goodness knows, I'm trying hard enough and here you sit leaning against a tree catching all you want."

Pop Smedley grinned. "That's the trouble, Sally. You're trying too hard. I believe the fish know it. It's in the air, I could feel it away over here, your terrible hard trying. What you want to do, is relax a bit. Get everything fixed right and then quit that nerve-racking attitude. Take it easy, think about something else. It works out all through life. Ever notice these men who want to get rich quick? So eager they're fit to burst. Scheming, planning all the time, never relaxing. Trying so hard to get money, that money gets scared and backs away."

Sally opened her gray eyes very wide. "Maybe you're right," she said slowly, thinking how hard she had talked to Mr. Eustis, telling him how the town needed a modern suburban development.

Sally went back to her rod, found a comfortable spot to sit with her tired back resting against a tree. She relaxed thoroughly, in fact, she over did it and in two minutes was sound asleep.

"Sally, Sally!" She blinked up at Dan Turbot. "What do you mean by going to sleep on this damp ground and catching cold?" And promptly he sat down beside her. "I've been hunting all over for you. I went to see Mr. Eustis this morning, just as you told me and—" here Sally sat up, alert and wide awake "and when I had talked my head off he told me that he was very much interested, in fact, so interested that he had decided to develop a tract of land of his own, at the north of the town, into a suburban section. But it doesn't matter, Sally; because Jill, you know her husband left her a pile of money, decided at lunch that she'll take a chance on Slope Hill." Here Sally closed her eyes and leaned back, wondering if it really would pay to relax at such a dreadful moment as this. Evidently it did because before long she felt a masculine arm drawing her away from the tree and heard something like, "Darling, darling!"

A little later as Sally's car bumped past Pop Smedley's shack with Dan trailing her in his own, the old man seeing her beaming face called brightly, "Any luck?"

"Huh-huh! A big one!"

"Bass?"

She leaned out of her car to call back, "No, a Turbot!"

ZIONISTS PLAN DRIVE HERE

Pittsburgh Zionists will meet in the Y. M. and W. H. A. tonight to plan a membership drive. Similar campaigns are to be simultaneously conducted in many cities of the country.

The Zionist movement, according to announcement from President Louis Lipsky and Mordecai M. Kaplan, chairman of the administrative committee, has gained great impetus in the completion of the Jewish agency in which all branches of Jewry are united for the rebuilding of Palestine.

H. M. Caplan and Dr. S. W. Marick are associate chairmen of the Pittsburgh membership drive, aided by Emil Steinbach, president of the Zionist district of Pittsburgh.

Uhrichsville Youth Held Uncle's Slayer

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Nov. 26.—Reubin Upshaw, 19, living near Uhrichsville, who was arrested last night at the Pennsylvania Depot at Massillon, where he was waiting to board a train for Detroit, will be arraigned in Justice Fair's court here today on a charge of murdering his uncle, Harrison Upshaw, 48, who removed to the Royal Sewer Pipe Works three weeks ago from Pittsburgh. The latter's body was found lying along the main traveled Uhrichsville road, near the sewer pipe works last night. A vein in the neck had been severed with a pocket knife, and a knife was found in young Upshaw's possession. Upshaw confessed to the murder of his uncle, Sheriff Abe Laird announced, claiming that his uncle had upbraided him about not saving his money. The victim is the father of three children.

GIRL WITH THE GREEN EYES PREPARES FOR TALKIES AND WINS WORK

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 26.

WHILE most of the picture players have ignored the new regime brought into effect at the advent of audible photoplays, Jane Winton, Hollywood's girl-with-the-green-eyes, has improved each shining hour to such good effect that she has been signed by Metro for its picturization of "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." Jane got busy on the voice culture as soon as it became apparent that the talkies were here to stay. Experienced on both stage and screen, Jane's voice training proved the finishing touch, and she surprised producers with its excellence in Universal's first talkie, "Melody of Love."

Miss Winton, who in private life is Mrs. Charles Kenyon, wife of the playwright, came to filmdom via the "Follies." She has played various types, ranging from old lady roles to her most recent characterization as Victor McLaglen's seaport sweetheart in "Captain Lash," Fox production. Her role in "San Luis Rey" promises to be the most important in which she has thus far appeared.

Studio Forces Lean to Union

HOLLYWOOD is very much exercised regarding the unionization of the picture business. The coming of many stage players to the movies has given Equity a strong foothold on the screen. The cameramen are now 100 per cent organized, and other crafts are planning federation. Up to this time there has been an "open shop" rule in all studios.

Both Dolores Del Rio and Mary Pickford have submitted to voice tests the same as any lesser film celebs. Fortunately for the actresses, as well as for the public, both tests are reported to have rated highly. Thus the fans will have an opportunity to hear Dolores' voice both in song and dialogue in "Evangeline," and Mary will speak for the first time on the screen in "Coquette."

One of Hollywood's "most unusual" rains has been recorded via movietone by Metro. The sound of the pattering drops will be heard in Greta Garbo's new picture, tentatively titled "Heat."

Mabel Normand Popular Guest

MABEL NORMAND, still weak from recent illness, but retaining as always her ready sense of humor and indomitable courage, was the most popular guest at the birthday party given by Doris Deane Arbuckle, "Fatty's" ex-wife, for Ona Brown. Mabel plans to go to Europe in the spring, joining her husband, Lew Cody, on his foreign vaudeville tour. Stars galore were present to wish Ona "many happy returns," among them Priscilla Dean and her new husband, Billy Dove, "Jacky" Saunders, Don Alvarado, Directors Tod Browning, Emmett Flynn and enough more to fill Doris' commodious Beverly Hills home to overflowing.

The epidemic of influenza which is putting so many film folk temporarily out of the picture, is described as the cause of Edward Connelly's death. The veteran actor had been under contract to Metro for 14 years. He came to Hollywood via the stage and was a contemporary in the theater of Nat Goodwin, Robert Mantell and John Drew. In his youth Connelly was a reporter on the New York Sun. He gained his first fame with the original "Belle of New York" company. His first photoplay was Mary Pickford's film, "The Good Little Devil," produced back in 1912. His last is "Desert Law," just completed. The actor's dressing room on the Metro lot has 14 stripes on its doors, significant of his year's with the organization, which mark a record for continuous service.

Willard Mack Gives Wife Job

WILLARD MACK believes in equal rights for men and women. And as he has the right to work in the movies, there didn't seem to be any reason why Mrs. Mack shouldn't enjoy the same privilege. So under her own name, Beatrice Banyard, Mrs. Mack will enact the role of Bessie, an underworld character, in her husband's talking picture, "Hunted." Although this is her first movie experience, the actress has appeared in many stage dramas, including four of Mack's recent plays.

They've rewritten "High Voltage" so that the girl part is relatively unimportant. But nevertheless, Marie Prevost, signed to play the role when it was a big one, will draw a high salary just the same. Perhaps a shift will be made to put Marie in another picture and use a less important player for the William Boyd film.

Sale of Seats Opens For Benefit Show

The advance sale of seats for the midnight show which is to be given in Sheridan Square, Tuesday evening, December 4, opened with a rush this morning. The show is under auspices of the Theater Managers' Association of Pittsburgh. It will be for the benefit of the Moving Picture Operators' Relief Fund. A bill approximating 20 acts will be presented, beginning at 11:45 o'clock. They will represent every theater in Pittsburgh. All seats are reserved. Tickets are $1 for the entire first floor and first section of the balcony, and 50 cents for the second section.

(First time in Pittsburgh.)

The Pittsburgh Chamber Music Society presented the Yost String Quartet at its first reception in Schenley ball room yesterday afternoon. The personnel of the quartet is the same as last season—Gaylord Yost, first violin; Roy Shoemaker, second violin; Carl Rosenberg, viola, and James Younger, violoncello. Eugene Goossens was the assisting artist. The ball room was comfortably set, and a most representative musical audience attended.

The program was not as interesting as usually offered by the organization. Even Eugene Goossens' piano numbers did little to stir mild interest. But his quintet did the trick. Here is a composition, though it is more than 10 years old, redolent of modernism, brimful of music, finely scored, and with tangible design. Many of his miniatures for piano solo are delightfully amateurish—the "Hurdy Gurdy Man," "Old Musical Box," "March of the Wooden Soldier"—some of them are more cleverly suggestive, "Ships" especially, while others are obscure like much modern music—"Awakening"—music that might be fitted to any title, and that is obviously made to see on the score sheet.

The Arensky Quartet was not a flattering number for the quartet. The folk spirit of the themes did not succeed in making it interesting, and the players were not sufficiently in accord to help out matters. There were, however, some very good effects during the variations. During the short group of folk melodies and Mr. Yost's "Rustic Dance" the ensemble improved especially in richness of tone, so that when the pianist joined them in the quintet, they were making their usual good music.

Traffic Club to Hear Rev. Coakley Today

The Rev. Thomas F. Coakley, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, is scheduled as the principal speaker today at a meeting of the Traffic Club of Pittsburgh in William Penn Hotel. Rev. Coakley is a brother of John A. Coakley, a member of the Pittsburgh club. George W. White will be in charge of the meeting.

Flonzaley 4 Play Schubert Tonight

The Flonzaley Quartet will give its farewell concert in Pittsburgh tonight at Carnegie Music Hall under the auspices of the Art Society. The members of the quartet are Adolfo Betti, first violin; Alfred Pochon, second violin; Iwan d' Archambeau, violoncello, and Nicholas Moldavan, viola. These men have been associated together for 25 years. The program for tonight includes the Mozart Quartet in D major (K 575), Schubert's "Andante con variazioni ("Death and the Maiden") and Glazounow's Quartet in D major, Op. 1.

Doris Niles Dances Here on Thursday

Doris Niles, terpsichorean artist with a big Pittsburgh following, will give a varied program at her Syria Mosque program Thursday evening. In "Memories of the Arena" she will wear a hat presented her last summer by a Spanish toreador. Other numbers will include Mme. Du Barry, Marigolds of India, the Russian Gypsy, Espana Cani, Patio Andaluz, Serenata and Southern Roses. Special lighting effects have been arranged for her ballet ensemble, "Japanese Cherry Tree Fete." Six Spanish guitarists will accompany her Spanish numbers.

CARNEGIE NOT HUMBLED IN DEFEAT

IN THEIR disappointment at the failure of Carnegie Tech's football warriors to clear the final hurdle that stood between them and a perfect record for the 1928 season, which would have entitled the Tartans to recognition as the Eastern and possibly National intercollegiate champions, Skibo followers and fans of the Pittsburgh district in general have at least the consolation of knowing that it required the greatest gridiron exhibition seen here in years to keep the gallant Plaid athletes from attaining the big goal.

Howard Harpster

It was no disgrace to be beaten by such a team as New York U. sent on the field. In their inspired state, the Violet stars played a game that probably has not been surpassed, if equaled, anywhere this fall, and it is no exaggeration to say that in their form of Saturday they would have defeated any team in the country.

NOT since the days of Jim Thorpe and the Carlisle Indians in 1911 and 1912; the later period of Andy Hastings, Jimmy DeHart, George McLaren, Bob Peck, Pat Herron, Jock Sutherland and the other stars of Pitt's greatest team in 1916; the still later time when Tom Davies was running wild for the Panthers from 1918 to 1921, and the more recent season when Notre Dame's mightiest eleven of Four Horsemen fame appeared here in 1924, has such a sensational football performance been seen here as that given by the brilliant Ken Strong and the remarkable machine built around him.

On that one day, at least, there was no doubt as to the identity of the team that was entitled to be ranked as the best in the East and probably in the entire nation. For power, speed, cohesion, spirit, rhythm and machine-like precision, backing up their great size and weight, the New Yorkers appeared to be in a class of their own, and from the moment when they scored their first touchdown to tie the count, moving and shifting like perfectly drilled troops, there was no doubt as to the outcome of the struggle. They looked able to step out and do anything they wanted to do, with the wonderful Strong as the main weapon, and what happened to Carnegie Tech would have happened to any other opponent facing them on that particular afternoon.

THERE can be no doubt in the mind of anyone who saw Strong in action as to where one of the All-American halfback awards will have to go. If there is a better football player running loose anywhere, a finer combination of ball-carriers, kicker and passer, he has not been heard of in these parts.

True to the dope on him, Strong ran only to the right, but in his case that is plenty. The way he runs, the power and speed he puts into his lightning dashes, the quickness with which he cuts in and out or around, and the manner in which he evades tacklers or shakes himself free of them make him well-nigh unstoppable. Individual scoring records sometimes do not mean a great deal, but in this instance Strong's leadership of the East with 153 points registered up to date is an additional attest that he is one of the most remarkable players of his time.

DEFEAT at the hands of Strong and the powerful outfit of which he is the chief offensive cog carried with it no humiliation for Carnegie Tech. On the contrary, the Skibos came out of the conflict with a world of credit due to themselves and their school. The fact that they made 14 first downs and twice crossed N. Y. U.'s goal line shows how valiantly they fought in the face of inevitable defeat, and even though their hopes for a perfect record were not realized, the season must be chronicled as one of the greatest and proudest in the history of the Schenley Park school. Capt. Howard Harpster stood out with his usual All-American prominence even in adversity, and every one of his coworkers contributed his bit in a fashion that made the reverse a most honorable one.

Ken Strong

THE MOVEMENT against a continuance of Arnold Horween's coaching regime at Harvard is apt to lose much of its force in view of what Horween's team accomplished on Saturday in defeating Yale on the latter's field by the decisive score of 17 to 0.

A victory over Yale in the big football fixture that dates back to 1875 offsets a heap of disappointments in Harvard eyes, and Saturday's triumph was all the more a cause for rejoicing among Crimson partisans for the reason that it marked the first time the Cambridge team had defeated the Elis since 1922, when George Owen was the main factor in the defeating of the Bulldog by a count of 10 to 3.

AMONG the side features of the Harvard-Yale game was the presence of a dozen members of the famous Crimson team of 1908, celebrating the twentieth anniversary of a previous notable success against Yale.

Prior to 1908, Harvard had not even scored against the Blue in six consecutive seasons, but in the game of that year, in the period of noseguards and shinguards, Vic Kennard was shot in as a substitute and dropkicked a field goal for the four winning points. It was the beginning of Percy Haughton's successful reign as Harvard coach. Among the 1908 survivors in attendance at Saturday's game were Charley Crowley, now Columbia's coach, Ham Fish, John Cutler, Bill Brown, Joe Nourse, Bob White and Charley Dunlap.

KEN STRONG and Christy Cagle! What a sweet pair of halfbacks those two citizens would make on any team. There is a chance that they will be found on the same eleven, too, though the outfit referred to is merely a mythical one. While Strong was qualifying for an All-American berth here Saturday, Cagle just about sewed up a similar place of honor for himself in West Point against Nebraska. The Cornhuskers, while held to a tie by Pitt, had not been beaten this season, and had visions of another victory when they went into the third quarter, leading 3 to 0. But in that period Cagle changed the complexion of things with a dazzling 38-yard run for a touchdown, and in other respects he played his usual prominent part in the remainder of the doings that ended in a 13-to-3 victory for the Army. It was just another Cagle day, which means that the Titian streak was practically a whole team in himself.

PENN STATE has had a lean fall in football, but has a chance to grab some honors in another direction this afternoon, when the annual six-mile cross-country championship run of the Intercollegiate A. A. A. is held at Van Cortlandt Park in New York.

Penn State won both the team and individual titles in the last two years, and Bill Cox, of the Blue and White, who was the individual champion in 1926 and 1927, is entered again today. If he can win for the third time in succession he will gain the distinction of being only the second man who ever took the title in three consecutive years. The only other runner ever to do that was John Paul Jones, of Cornell, who won in 1910, 1911 and 1912. Pitt, which

FEATHERS BATTLE HERE

TWO big-time, out-of-town featherweights furnish the main bout action at Motor Square Garden tonight, backed up by a sterling preliminary card of two six-round bouts and two four-rounders.

The topliners are Johnny Datto, of Cleveland, a Filipino with a slashing record, and Andy Martin, an Italian from Boston, who has been a headliner in Madison Square Garden and other important spots, and numbers among his victims no less a personage than Benny Bass, former champion, and again a leading contender for the title, and Datto himself. He defeated Datto in a bout at Detroit about a year ago.

Both arrived in the city yesterday primed for battle and predicting that the fur would fly. Martin indulged in a workout at Flynn's gym, downtown.

Young Rudy, of Charleroi, whose most recent appearance here was as a main-bouter against the veteran Eddie (Kid) Wagner, meets Jackie Murray, of the Hill, Negro welterweight, and Tony LaRose, socking southpaw of Cincinnati, opposes Johnny Carey, of Erie, in the six-round melees, while, in the four-rounders, Dave McConnell, of the North Side, boxes Jess Hoak, of McKeesport, and Tom Malco, former amateur star, meets Tiger Joe Randall, busy Negro mixer, of Elizabeth. The first biffing bee is scheduled, as usual, for 8:30.

MELLOW VS. FITZGERALD

Washington, Pa., and New Castle also have shows listed for this evening. Freddie Fitzgerald, of Youngstown, and Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, furnish the main bout of the former show, and Jimmy Reed, of Erie, and Joey Goodman, of Norfolk, Va., a stablemate of Datto, mix in the New Castle windup.

Dick O'Leary, of Wilkes-Barre, and George O'Brien, of Erie, are the semi-finalists at New Castle, with Romeo Pacelli, of New Castle, meeting Ray Collins, of Erie, in another six-round go. Warren Farrow, Negro, and Elmo the Mighty, New Castle Tarzan, box the second bout, and Charley Manicine, of New Castle, and Eddie Litz, of Warren, O., will be in the other four-round engagement.

Frank Monroe and Chuck Semach clash in the semi-final at Washington. Red Ryan meets Bob Smoller and Young Smackey boxes Tommy Heilman in the preliminaries.

NEW YORK SEES TUFFY

Tuffy Griffiths, the Kayo Kid, makes his first New York appearance against James J. Braddock in the main bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night. Izzy Grove and Vince Dundee, brother of Joe Dundee, the welterweight champion, box the semi-final, and Kid Chocolate, the Negro bantamweight sensation, makes his Garden debut against Joe Scalfaro on the same card.

Frank Bachman, manager of Maxie Rosenbloom, the Jewish light-heavyweight of New York, writes that he has been offered a match for Maxie with Homer Robertson, former local Negro mixer, at Motor Square Garden next month, but wants a $1,500 guarantee or won't talk business. He rates Homer smarter and tougher than Garfield Johnson, and Maxie has beaten both of them here.

Illness will prevent Joe Smallwood, of Washington, from meeting Rudy Ceder at Cumberland tomorrow night. A sub will be dug up.

LINGO AT COLUMBUS

Terry Lingo, local lightweight, boxes Ray Newton, of Mansfield, O., in a 10-round windup at Columbus, O., next Friday night.

Braddock hopes to have a fine compact boxing arena on the order of the Jolly Bowl of New Castle ready for boxing before the winter season is out of the way.

Handy Andy

ANDY MARTIN

Injured Star

AL LASSMAN

Captain and star tackle of the New York University Violets, who is recovering in Mercy Hospital from severe concussion of the brain suffered in the closing moments of the battle in which his team stopped Carnegie Tech's rush toward the national championship at Forbes Field Saturday, winning, 27 to 13.

ODIE CLEGHORN FINED $200; BUCS LOSE

By CARL W. SHATTO.

Odie Cleghorn, manager of the Pirates, was fined $200 for protesting the decisions of Referee Marsh in the Pirates-Rangers game at New York last night, according to officials of the local National League club, who witnessed the battle and who returned to Pittsburgh today. The Rangers won, 2-0. The local officials story of Pirate mistreatment follows:

"In the first period, shortly after Thompson had scored to give the Rangers a lead of 1-0, the Pirate spare line of McKay, Drury and White took the puck down the ice, and Drury took a pass in center ice as they neared the goal. Ching Johnson, realizing that the Ranger defense was beaten, tripped Drury as he flashed by, and then sat on him to keep him from getting up to drive home the disc.

"Although the foul probably perventeda Pirate score, Referee Lou Marsh handed Johnson a minor rather than a major penalty. This decision brought a violent protest from Manager Odie Cleghorn, for which Marsh fined the Pirate skipper $25.

"Between the first and second periods Cleghorn encountered Marsh in the dressing room and renewed his protest, and the referee countered by increasing the fine to $200.

"Benny Leonard, charging Marsh with unjust decisions on several plays, took up the fight after the game. The referee gave the owner of the Pirates no satisfaction, and the debate became so warm that three policemen were called to restore order. Leonard later wired Frank Calder, president of the league, protesting Marsh's alleged inefficient work."

The Rangers' second score was registered in the third period on a combination play by Bill Cook and Frank Boucher.

The Pirates outplayed the Rangers during the greater part of the game, and had the better of the shooting, sending 49 shots into Roach, while Joe Miller, in the Pittsburgh nets, had only 35 stops. The lineup:

Rangers—2.		Pittsburgh—0.
Roach	G.	Miller
Lane	R. D.	McCaffrey
Johnson	L. D.	Holway
Boucher	C.	Milks
Bill Cook	R. W.	Darragh
Bun Cook	L. W.	Cotton

Ranger spares—Boyd, Murdock, Keeling, Thompson, Bourgault, Abel. Pittsburgh spares—Drury, White, J. MacKinnon, Smith, McCurry, MacKay. Officials—Lou Marsh and Red McKenzie. First period—No score. Penalties—Johnson, Thompson, Abel, Bun Cook, Holway 2, MacKinnon. Second period—Thompson, 7:20. Penalties—Boyd (major), Johnson, Lane, Holway. Third period—Bill Cook (Boucher), 11:25. Penalties—Lane 2, Johnson, Milks, Cotton, White.

HAWKS-BRUINS TIE

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—The Chicago Blackhawks broke their four-game losing streak last night, tying the Boston Bruins, 1 to 1, before a crowd of 4,500 at the Coliseum.

Mid-West Gains In Intersectional Gridiron Race

The Middle West gained ground Saturday in the intersectional football fray through the victories of Northwestern over Dartmouth and Michigan State over North Carolina State. They offset the setback of Nebraska at the hands of Army, which helped the East to retain a slight lead. West Virginia Wesleyan added to the East's tally by invading Cincinnati to beat St. Xavier.

East	*	11	8	1	0	20
Midwest	8	*	8	0	1	17

TECH CANNOT BE DENIED TITLE TIE

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

THIS is the claiming season. So let's do our claiming early and our Christmas shopping late.

No sooner had N. Y. U. Ken-Stronged Carnegie Tech to death at Forbes Field Saturday in the biggest game of the season ANYWHERE than the followers of N. Y. U. and the metropolitan press began to hail the Violets of Chick Meehan as the undisputed national football champions.

Pardon us while we stifle a yawn and come up for air with a few well chosen words to the effect that we've heard better cracks on the ten, twent' and thirt' circuit.

If N. Y. U. is the national champion, pure and undefiled, then there must be two national champions and our dear Carnegie Tech is one of them.

RECORDS COMPARED

How come N. Y. U., by defeating Tech, earned a better claim to the crown than our Schenley Park representatives? There is nothing on page 32 of the book of rules that would uphold such a claim, and if the claim is not immediately withdrawn, we'll have to ask the United States Supreme Court to demonstrate its knowledge, or lack of it, of the grand autumnal pastime by rendering a decision in our favor.

True, N. Y. U. scored a clean-cut victory over Tech in the season's finale of the local lads, but—

BUT, we said, and BUT we repeat.

BUT—N. Y. U. also has been beaten and by Georgetown, which, in turn, has been beaten by Tech.

If that's not a Mexican standoff then Ken Strong is the biggest joke of a football player that ever trod a gridiron.

CALIBER OF FOES

And, so far as that goes, has N. Y. U. beaten Notre Dame, which defeated the Army, which defeated Nebraska, which played a scoreless tie with Pitt, which lost to Tech? And don't forget that Notre Dame also defeated the Navy, which defeated Penn and Princeton.

The only first-class team N. Y. U. has beaten is Carnegie Tech. True, it downed Missouri, 27-6, but Nebraska also defeated the Missou-

NUMEROUS CHAMPS AFIELD

By JESS CARVER

THE national and sectional college football situation is as scrambled as eggs in an omelet. In one way, it is a favorable situation, for there are champions enough for all. You may pick your own, according to section.

Pittsburgh thought it had a safe eastern champion in the hefty Carnegie Tech varsity prior to 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. But Chick Meehan did something that he had seldom accomplished previously, and won a crucial game. New York University left town with a decisive 27-13 triumph to its credit over the Plaid. Ken Strong showed us the finest bit of individual halfbacking and all-around football playing that has been on tap here since the days of Tom Davies.

The eastern title may be regarded as the joint possession of New York and Carnegie Tech. Tech comes in for consideration because of the fact that it walloped Georgetown, the team that spoiled Meehan's hope of an unbeaten season. Tech played the Hilltopper's the week after they rose to the great heights and trimmed New York and knocked off Notre Dame seven days after the Irish upset the Army. New York's chief claim to fame was its trouncing of Tech and its victories over Missouri, Fordham, Rutgers, Colgate and West Virginia Wesleyan, its other principal foes, were not overly powerful opponents.

GEORGETOWN'S CLAIM FAIR

Villa Nova and Boston College are both unbeaten, but neither has played as representative or difficult a schedule as Tech or New York. Georgetown has done very well, and has New York, Fordham and West Virginia on its list of victims.

Ken Strong, the great New York back, has rolled up a record-breaking point total of 154 with one game more to go. He is easily the outstanding back of the East.

Little remains to be done towards closing the eastern season. One of the biggest, if not the biggest intersectional contest of the season is to be played when Stanford tackles the Army at Yankee Stadium in New York, next Saturday. Boston College has the tough Holy Cross eleven to pass and New York plays the Oregon Aggies at the Polo Grounds Thursday. Penn and Cornell have their annual affair ready for Thanksgiving at Franklin Field and Syracuse and Columbia meet in their annual battle. There is little

GIANT TACKLE

RING CHAMPION

Here is Lassman in another role, that of intercollegiate heavyweight boxing champion. When he was unable to defend this title last year, due to a broken leg received in the Colgate game, N. Y. U.'s other tackle, Grant, took his place in the tournament and won the honor. Lassman plans to turn professional and seek the vacant heavyweight boxing title upon graduation from college, unless the injuries he received Saturday prove serious enough to cause him to change his mind.

'CASTLE STAR INELIGIBLE

The decisions committee of the W. P. I. A. L. at a meeting held in the Fort Pitt Hotel declared Anthony Ostrosky, New Castle grid star, ineligible as a result of being over the 21-year age limit and as a result New Castle is eliminated from the race for the Syracuse Cup. The protest was filed by Beaver Falls High, whose only defeat was inflicted by New Castle. As a result of the decision Beaver Falls is back in the running for the trophy.

Beaver Falls protested two New Castle players, Paul Cuba being the other. Cuba was found to be under the required age limit.

New Castle officials requested a continuance in the hearing and were given until December 8 to prove that Ostrosky is under 21 years of age.

Lou Little Praises Meehan and N. Y. U.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Lou Little, coach of the Georgetown University, only team to beat New York University, declared the result of the N. Y. U. victory over Carnegie entitled the New Yorkers to rank as the "greatest team in the country."

"I was certain New York University would win," said Little. "They are the greatest team in the whole country. Georgetown's victory over them should be forgotten when the critics rate N. Y. U. They are superior to our boys. Chick Meehan is one of the three coaches I believe to be the leaders of present-day football. They deserve the title."

Georgetown beat N. Y. U. in the mud at New York, 7 to 2, fumbles costing the New Yorkers chances to score several touchdowns, as they consistently had outrushed the Hilltoppers.

Florida to Play Harvard Next Year

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Southern Conference football teams have scheduled two intersectional games of the first rank for next year. Florida will meet Harvard, November 2, at Cambridge, Mass., and Georgia the same day will again play Notre Dame at Atlanta, it has been announced.

Florida and Tech are among the five teams in the lead for Southern Conference honors this year. Neither has been defeated.

Florida will meet Tech, Georgia and Harvard on successive Saturdays. The Tech game is scheduled for October 19, at Atlanta, and Georgia will be met October 25 at Jacksonville.

EX-CHAMPS BEAT CORINTHIANS

By TOM BIRKS.

Soccer was played Sunday to the first wintry blasts of the season, and naturally the large crowds that had been attending were conspicuous by their absence. The American League, the premier league of the district, staged two games. Heidelberg as usual showed enough stuff to win, beating the Corinthians by a 4 goals to 1 score at Curry, but the game terminated 10 minutes short, and the Corinthians are reported to have protested. Balsarini stated that the late arrival of his club was due to the terrible conditions encountered traveling to Curry.

The other game found the Westinghouse eleven again demonstrating its scoring power by swamping its rivals, the East Pittsburgh Magyards, by a 6 goals to 1 score.

One game was staged in the West Penn cup, and it was a pleasant surprise for it found the National Tube aggregation coming to life and defeating the Keystone team by 2 goals to 1. This game in the ties was just a preliminary to the big affairs to be staged Turkey Day when Pittsburgh and Heidelberg meet at Homewood, the Swissvale team meets Dunlevy, while the Rovers travel to Westinghouse.

In the Chartiers Valley League all of the results marked the playing of some good games. Glendale stopped Thoms Run by a 2 goals to 1 score. The Heidelberg Eagles found the going pretty easy, scoring a 6 goals to 2 win over Bethel.

Cuddy staged a local affair with Cecil and managed to win 4 goals to 1. The game at Bridgeville was a nip-and-tuck affair, the Owls playing their hardest game of the season with Curry, and the end of 90 minutes hard soccer found the score 3-3.

Two games were played in the Monongahela. Donora and Dunlevy played a 2-2 tie, and the other game also finished in a tie, Gallatin and Sunnyside each finding the net once.

COACH TO RESIGN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—The Daily Oklahoman says it has learned from a reliable source Johnny Maulbetsch, for seven years football and basketball coach at the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College at Stillwater, will resign. The Aggies are at the end of their most disastrous football season.

STATE-MARSHALL

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Contracts have been signed for a football game between Marshall College and Penn State, to be played in State College, on October 12, 1929, Roy M. Hauley, Marshall College athletic director, said yesterday.

FEW WHO COULD TAKE PLACE OF GLENN WRIGHT

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

IN THE event Glenn Wright is traded in a swap that fails to bring the Pirates another shortstop, the roster would have a flock of candidates for the position, but not one of them would be able to supply the punch owned by the Missourian.

Dick Bartell, Coburn Jones and Sparky Adams would be available for the Wagnerian [illegible] and any one of this trio might be able to shine defensively; on the offense there would be much [illegible] need of a different story.

The official batting records of the Eastern League, released today, show Little Coburn to have been a satellite in the Class A organization. Playing his first role in organized baseball, the lively Welshman took part in 130 games, hitting .306.

REMARKABLE SHOWING

Jonesy's performance is remarkable, but Donie Bush probably does not think that he would be equally effective against the league pitching at this early stage of his career. Coburn is about the size of Bartell, but he is quite a bit faster on his feet. He bats both left and right-handed, according to the style of pitching faced.

Jones hit for a total of 220 bases, his slate showing 30 doubles, five triples and four homers. Rival players of the Eastern circuit rate him as an up and comer, among these players being Walter (Doc) Gautrea, Braves' infielder who spent most of the summer with the Providence club.

Yet it is a far cry from Jonesey, Papricka Dick and Adams to Wright at the plate.

The Eastern League records show Gautreau to have been one of the stars of the league. The tiniest athlete in the majors was farmed out to Providence by the Boston owner. Doc took to his work in a fine manner, his 87 battles adding much to his prestige as a diamond performer.

AMOND LEADERS

Gautreau was well up among the leaders with a swat mark of .335. The midget started at second base, his all-around work being of such a kind as to bring about his recall by the Braves.

Another player with a Pittsburgh flavor who starred in the circuit is Mike Martineck, a picturesque Buffalo boy. Mike played throughout the season for the Hartford club, his natural batting skill helping him to a mark of .331. Martineck cracked out 10 homers, nine triples and 27 doubles. Mike made one spring training trip with the Pirates a few years back.

Catcher Ike Danning, Jewish boy who had a tryout with the Buccos in 1927, played 90 games with the New Haven champions to bat for .284.

Chillysauce

In all its 20 years of thrill shows, Forbes Field reached its greatest heights of excitement on the wet October day of 1925 when the Pirates came from behind to down the Senators in the seventh and deciding game of world series. The drama of that sportive event challenges all attempts, yet the scene following the grid battle of Saturday was the nearest approach to that diamond classic in the point of unrestrained fervor.

Everything loose and many things that were supposed to be a part of the park were taken as souvenirs by fans when the Pirates triumphed over the American Leaguers. The bases were picked up in a jiffy, while a more enterprising gent dug out the home plate by the roots and after carrying the cumbersome package for a block or two was reported to have auctioned it off to the highest bidder.

The football fans of Saturday nabbed the many line markers as they swarmed upon the field and in less than five minutes the New York U. excursionists broke for the eastern goal posts with the idea of taking it away as a souvenir. The posts being constructed of tube steel they defied the invaders until such a time as the village police force became organized. The "coppers" had a hard time handling the scene.

The singing military formation of the striking Violets was a remarkable maneuver: when the play was near the sidelines hundreds of fans could hear and appreciate the dirge-like voices of the invaders to the accompaniment of their heavy-measured stride. The effect was something akin to the tramp, tramp, tramp of the German hosts as they invaded Belgium. Apparently this rythmical method of play required hours of practice to bring it up to the perfection it showed the multitude that looked on in the Oakland orchard.

The all-star team picked in the Coast League discloses that the San Francisco club was long on good outfielders. The honor combination sports the entire Seal outfield—Averill, Johnson and Jolley. It is more than a coincidence that two of these ball hawks have been sold to major-league clubs in the past few weeks, with a chance that the third would be disposed of soon.

Billy Evans plucked Centerfielder Averill for the Cleveland Indians a day or two back. This youngster smeared the Pittsburgh pitchers in the training games last spring, and there were rumors afloat that the Buccos would buy him. Leftfielder Johnson has been purchased by the Tigers, while the Indians are said to be dickering for Rightfielder Jolley, home-run king and leading hitter of the faraway circuit.

All three of the players mentioned are lefthand batters. Johnson has the least experience, but in some respects he is the most colorful. This youngster is a fast-stepper of the Ross Young type; he appears to put everything into his baseball business.

Jack Onslow, who has allied himself with Newark, where he will assist Tris Speaker, new manager of the Bears, has been ordered by his employers to attend the minor league meeting which convenes next Monday in Toronto.

The coming convention of the smaller circuits promises to be a dandy. On account of its accessibility to them, many baseball folks from the Pittsburgh district will be in attendance. The Pittsburgh club will be represented by one or more of the officials of the team.

Frank Brown, Joe Harper and Red Robinson, umpires who reside in Pittsburgh, will be among those present. Heinie Boll expects to make the trip to the Canadian pot along with Brownie and Red.

Grid Situation Tangled

left for either team to save out of what has been a gloomy fall.

Pitt and Penn State will do battle in the Stadium as usual on Turkey Day, with the Panthers far and away favored to win. State does not appear to be nearly as strong as last year, while Pitt has a team that closely approaches the unbeaten '27 club.

Duquesne has a chance to slip into a tie for the Conference title with Westminster by vanquishing Waynesburg Thursday morning. Westminster went into the lead on Saturday by whipping the ambitious Covenanters at New Wilmington, 12-0. Duquesne has yet to beat Waynesburg in football.

In the Big Ten, Bob Zuppke is fondling his second championship in succession. Illinois won the Conference gonfalon through the surprising defeat of Iowa by Michigan and the downing of Wisconsin by Minnesota. The Illini insured their being on hand to receive the title by taming Ohio State's touted scarlet and grey machine, 8-0.

U. S. C. COAST CHAMP

On the west coast Southern California's claim remains unblemished by defeat, though the Golden Bears of California played the Trojans to a scoreless tie. California had a chance to remain in a tie for the flag by beating back Stanford on Saturday, but Pop Warner outthought the Bears and earned a 13-13 deadlock. He will bring his Cardinals East for the Army game with only a single defeat charged against them. U. S. C. won over the old fox, 10-0.

Notre Dame is on its way West to play Southern California in another colorful intersectional battle.

In the South, Georgia Tech, Florida and Tennessee remain in the fight for the title. This trio of huskies still have an important game or two to win, and the outcome of the race in those parts must be held in abeyance for a time. Tech and Florida appear to be the class, however.

Harvard crushed the Yale Bulldog in the powerful jaws of a vice as provided by a hard, fast-charging line and a set of backs who did things and went places. The Navy toppled Princeton from its lofty perch as an unbeaten team, but the Tigers' season ended with the Yale contest the week before and the contest with the Middies was just another ball game.

Lafayette and Lehigh engaged in a hard-scoring match and the Army, following the footsteps of Pitt, erased Nebraska from the perfect record lost by beating the Huskers, 13-2. Pitt tied the westerners and the Soldiers finished the job of ruining another Cornhusker season.

Georgetown turned in a decisive victory over Fordham, 20-7. Bucknell whipped Dickinson, 33-0, and Villa Nova toppled Davis-Elkins, 20-13. Ohio Wesleyan, with victories over Michigan and Syracuse, couldn't kick the point after touchdown against Wittenberg and lost, 7 to 6, spoiling another unbeaten record.

In an East-Middle West intersectional contest, Dartmouth went out to Evanston and was kicked around by Northwestern, 27-6.

12 LEADING TEAMS

New York U.
Army.
Georgia Tech (unbeaten).
Florida.
U. S. C. (unbeaten).
Carnegie Tech.
Pitt.
Nebraska.
Stanford.
Boston College (unbeaten).
Georgetown.

Detroit very likely has a much stronger team than most folks realize. It has gone through an undefeated season, and showed to fine advantage here a year ago against the Tartans.

Wash.-Jeff will bring its most trying season in years to a close Thanksgiving by clashing with West Virginia at Morgantown in the annual President-Mountaineer classic. Grove City, Tri-State minor college champs, still has Thiel to get past. Beating the Lutherans will be no easy task. The Grovers were downed by Villa Nova and tied by Waynesburg this fall.

At any rate, all portions of the country save the southland, will settle down to hockey, winter weight underwear and diminishing arguments over the all-America teams after this Saturday. Unless, of the course, the Tartans go to the coast for the Tournament of Roses game. Then Pittsburgh will carry its football enthusiasm over to the New Year.

BOSTON ALONE UNDEFEATED IN EAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—(AP.)—The Eagles of Boston College stand alone as the only unbeaten and untied team in the East. Tuning up for the Holy Cross game next Saturday, the Eagles crushed the previously undefeated and unscored on Connecticut Aggies, 51 to 13. New York University leads the rest in scoring with 303.

STRONG TOPS SCORERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(AP)—With Ken Strong assured of the season's leadership among Eastern football scorers, Gulick, of Hobart, clinched the runner-up position when he scored three touchdowns against Rochester Saturday. Strong in the meantime, was tallying two touchdowns and kicking two extra points after touchdown, as New York University crushed Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.

Strong's total for the season stands at 153 while Gulick has 110. These two alone of all the hundreds of scorers have passed the century mark. Langmaid, of Williams, who closed his season a week ago, holds third place with 86. Although held scoreless by Northwestern, Al Marsters, of Dartmouth, maintained fourth place with a total of 67 points. Hansen of Temple, scoring thrice against Washington College, vaulted into fifth place with 66, closely followed by Kelley Rodriguez, of West Virginia Wesyelan, who has 63.

Strong, N. Y. U. HB	9	21	27	0	153
Gulick, Hobart Q	9	18	2	0	110

HOVDE BIG TEN ACE

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Freddy Hovde, Minnesota's flashy field general, is the scoring ace of the Big Ten's 1928 football season. Hovde, a senior, failed to score a point against Wisconsin, but as most of the touchdowns were made by those far down the list, he held his lead with a total of nine touchdowns, or 54 points.

Oran Pape, Iowa sophomore halfback, finished second with 48 points, while Win Brockmeyer, Minnesota sophomore, was third with 43. Fritz Humbert, of Illinois, and Byron Eby, of Ohio State, tied for fourth and fifth with 42 points each.

Team.	T.D.	FG.	Pt.	Total
Hovde, Minnesota	9	0	0	54
Pape, Iowa	8	0	0	48
Brockmeyer, Minnesota	6	0	7	43
Humbert, Illinois	7	0	0	42
Eby, Ohio State	7	0	0	42

Gilchrist May Play Against W. Virginia

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 26—Ken Gilchrist, W. & J.'s varsity fullback, may not start the game against West Virginia University at Morgantown Thursday afternoon, but the lanky athlete, who is unusually skillful in knifing through an opposing line, is rounding into shape and will be available during a part of the struggle at least.

It will be the last collegiate gridiron struggle in which the McKeesport athlete, who has been a real mainstay on W. & J. team, will be eligible to compete and naturally he is anxious to participate in it.

Carnegie Deserves Grid Deadlock

rians, 24-0. N. Y. U.'s other victims were Niagara, West Virginia Wesleyan, Fordham, Rutgers, Colgate and Alfred. Ken Strong ought to be able to score enough points by himself in five minutes of play to beat any of these elevens.

Meanwhile Tech socked Pitt, Georgetown and Notre Dame in successive games, scored first on N. Y. U., and ran up more points than any other opponent the Violet has played in going down to defeat by a 27-13 score in one of the greatest stands ever made in the face of defeat before a super-star of the caliber of Strong.

Understand us, we expect to get quite a rebuttal from the N. Y. U. folks, but this is how we feel about this claiming business. We don't claim the eastern or national championship for Tech in the wake of its defeat by N. Y. U. But we do claim that Tech at least has a half interest in any championship claims that are being broadcast.

NOT TECH'S DAY

The thought arises (at least, we recognize it as a thought): Could Carnegie Tech, in the form it displayed against Notre Dame a week earlier, have beaten the N. Y. U. team of last Saturday? That's one of those theoretical questions that cannot be satisfactorily answered. But Tech scored 27 points against the Irish and that total would have matched N. Y. U.'s count against the Plaid. Tech undoubtedly was a better attacking team at South Bend than it was at Forbes Field. It had everything against the Irish and got away with everything. On Saturday, Ted Rosenzweig, the end, had to be relieved because of injuries at the very start, and he was missed on that end-around play and on the receiving end of some of those numerous forward passes that Capt. Harpster was forever flinging about the scenery. Not that it is certain that the end-around would have worked better if Rosy had been in there. Those two giant tackles of the Violets, Capt. Lassman and Grant, were breaking up everything in the way of a running game. Tech's only chance lay in taking to the air, and it was in this manner that it scored both of its touchdowns, even as N. Y. U. scored two of its four in this fashion and passed its way to a scoring position on another.

Strong wasn't the only reason for Tech's defeat by Coach Meehan's men, although, on the surface of things, he appeared to be. The Violets have a strong, well-rounded team which functions with military precision, right out of its military huddle, which is a spectacular thing to behold. Although he is probably the greatest combination running, passing and kicking back who ever tore up the Forbes Field turf, Strong had the benefit of great teamwork in getting off on his eye-filling dashes. His interference in getting through the line or around the ends was perfect, and, once in the clear, the speed of this agile 200-pounder did the rest. If he is not all-America, then there is no further use worrying about these mythical elevens. He ought to make even the all-China team, even if he never came any closer to that Celestial kingdom than to mistake the markings on a laundry ticket for a football signal.

PRAISE FOR ED HILL

Ed Hill, the Burgettstown boy, who is Strong's running mate at halfback, and contributed several spectacular dashes of his own, was Strong's chief buffer in running interference. When he smacked 'em they stayed smacked, and how! And Myers, the running guard, teamed up nicely with Hill. Between them they paved the way for the amazing destruction of this Strong man. And don't overlook that Brabee at end, who snared those two forward passes from Strong for touchdowns. He caught them with all the finesse of a master workman, and he was in there all through the game making life miserable for the Tartans. There is an end as is an end. They ought to change his name to Busybee.

LOSERS STAR IN DEFEAT

That Tech team has come in for a lot of praise during its winning campaign, and, in defeat, we can find just as much cause to sing its praises. If anything, the Tartans appeared even more heroic in their hour of reverse than at any time during their many triumphs. Off in the hole at the start, when N. Y. U. twice threatened to score, they rallied to score the first touchdown in the opening period. Then they fought off another threat inside their 10-yard line, only to see the visitors put over three touchdowns in rapid succession. Going into the last quarter two touchdowns behind and fighting a lost cause, the locals battled their way to another score, to make the count 21-13, and, after N. Y. U. came through with yet another touchdown, the Steffenites still were fighting on with a brilliant forward-passing attack when the final gun barked. Never have we seen a team wage such a bitter struggle to come from behind or prove more valiant in defeat. Great as were the Skibos in victory, they exceeded themselves, from Capt. Harpster on down the line, in the face of their bitterest disappointment in not going through the season undefeated. All honor to them. Let us hug them even a little closer to our breasts for having shown us how to lose gracefully yet going down fighting after the manner of real champions!

HARPSTER STANDS UP

Harpster lost none of his claims to an all-America place in tumbling to defeat with his admirable teammates. Throughout he dominated his team's play as he kicked and passed and handled the team with all of his customary brilliance. He played the biggest part in achieving those two touchdowns against an eleven that had not been scored on more than once in any other game this season, and, in addition, he twice intercepted enemy forward passes and lugged the ball back, once to a point from which, in one play, he tossed a forward pass to give his team the first score, and several times he brought down hard-running opponents in the open to prevent tallies. His feat of completing 16 out of 26 forward-passing attempts for a gain of close to 150 yards when all other means of advancing the ball were blocked was really remarkable. He took a terrible bruising in the battle, but still was fighting on with the unquenchable fire of an inspired leader at the finish.

IN CONCLUSION

And we still claim, on behalf of Carnegie Tech, a half interest in whatever championships are being bandied about. This with all due respect to the greatness of N. Y. U. and its clean-cut victory in this game of games, both of which we humbly concede.

Not that Tech and N. Y. U. are the only elevens that have a hand in this title claiming business. If we were to take in everybody concerned, we'd have to consider, among others, no less than:

1—Army, which lost only to Notre Dame, 12-6, and has beaten Harvard, Yale and Nebraska.

2—Boston College, which has been undefeated so far and has only Holy Cross yet to play, next Saturday. Boston's only drawback is that it hasn't beaten anybody of note aside from the Navy team, 6-0, in the early part of the season, when everybody was kicking the Middies about.

3—Tuss McLaughry's Brown eleven, which has beaten Holy Cross and Dartmouth and lost only to Yale, 32-14.

4—California, which has lost only to the Olympic Club, a non-college outfit, 12-0, and played a 13-13 tie with Stanford.

5—The Connecticut Aggies, who had not been scored on in eight games prior to taking it on the chin, 51-13, from Boston College last Saturday.

7—Georgia Tech, which is unbeaten and holds a 13-0 victory over Notre Dame and also triumphs over Vanderbilt and Alabama. (If any team has a real claim to the National title, now that Tech has been beaten, this is it.

8—Illinois, which lost only to Michigan, 3-0, and managed to pull out the Big Ten championship by beating Ohio State, 8-0, Saturday in a badly scrambled finish all around.

9—Pennsylvania, which has lost only to Navy, 6-0, in a big upset of the dope and has beaten Harvard, Chicago, Penn State and Columbia, among others.

10—Southern California, which has beaten Stanford, 10-0, and played a scoreless tie with California.

11—Vanderbilt, which has lost only to Georgia Tech, 19-7.

13—Wisconsin, the sensation of the Big Ten, which lost only to Minnesota, last Saturday, 6-0, and has a 19-19 tie with Purdue. The Wisconsin team defeated Notre Dame, 22-6, early in the season, and blanked Michigan, Alabama, Chicago and Iowa in a row.

14—Detroit, which has won eight games and lost none, but meets its first real test against Georgetown Saturday.

15—Tennessee, which also has won eight and lost none.

16—Florida and Emory-Henry, both of which have won seven games and lost none.

17—Ohio Wesleyan, which lost only to Wittenberg, 7-6, last Saturday, after defeating Michigan and Syracuse.

18—Last, but not least, our own Duquesne University Dukes, whose only defeat was at the hands of Geneva, which lost to Westminster Saturday, with the result that the Dukes now are left in the running for the Tri-State Conference championship.

P. & O. LEAGUE REORGANIZES TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

The P. and O. Basketball League will be reorganized for the new season at a meeting to be held tonight in the offices of Treman King Company on the second floor of the Fulton Building. Most of the teams already have posted their forfeits and more than the required number of teams to form an eight-club loop have applied for berths, but other first-class teams will be considered if they appear with their forfeits.

The season will open December 7 or 8 with a split schedule in effect, the same as last season.

Three hard games have been scheduled for the crack Ritz Club. Next Friday the team will meet a strong Negro club in Baltimore, while the following Monday will find the Ritz Club in Washington, Pa., for a contest with a strong rival. Friday a week the Ritz Club will open its home season at Columbus Temple.

George Ramsay, veteran professional star, is coaching the McKeesport Alumni quintet, winner of the Major League title last season. The Alumni team is playing light first-class basketball this winter and is ready to book games at home and abroad. Write Sam Broder, 816 Strawberry street, McKeesport, or call McKeesport 4582 after 6 o'clock.

The Morry Five, formerly known as the Morry cadets, are eager to arrange games at home and abroad with light first-class teams. Call Brandywine 1678 and ask for Max Berkowitz.

The Red McMahon Club, of the South Side, wants games at home and abroad with junior teams. Call Hemlock 0950-J., or write John Gallys, 12 German Square, South Side.

The W. U. Hoyles are ready to open their basketball season on Thanksgiving night with a first-class team. Red Eaton, former Wash-Jeff captain, and Wildblood have been signed to wear the Hoyle colors on the floor this winter. Teams desiring games call Fairfax 1935 and ask for Bob, or write Robert Burns, 1313 Boyle street.

ANOTHER of those light-heavyweight fistic championship "prospects" is to be assayed in the East this week. Tuffy Griffiths, of Sioux City, Ia., will make his Eastern debut in New York Friday night in a 10-round bout against Jim Braddock, of Jersey City.

In three months, Griffith has attracted considerable attention by knocking out Del Fontaine, Mike McTigue, Tony Marullo, Joe Anderson and Jackie Williams. Braddock is the fighter who recently outpointed Pete Latzo and broke the latter's jaw, and if Griffith succeeds in beating him he will be counted in line for further tests against Jimmy Slattery and Jack Delaney, and possibly Champion Tommy Loughran himself.

Ganzy Benedict

ONLY two more games of college football remain to be played by Pittsburgh teams before the curtain is lowered on the season of 1928. On Thursday morning, at 10:30 o'clock, the Dukes will meet Waynesburg on the Bluff, and in the afternoon, at 2 o'clock, Pitt will take on Penn State at the Stadium. The Dukes, by their 13-to-6 victory over Bethany on Saturday, in which Ganzy Benedict and Sammy Pratt starred, created for themselves an opportunity to finish in a tie for the Tristate Conference championship. Westminster is leading with four games won and one lost, and the Bluffites, who have beaten Westminster, Thiel and Bethany, and lost only to Geneva, can go into a deadlock with the New Wilmington team for top honors by beating Waynesburg on Turkey Day.

KICK ERASES PORT VUE'S TITLE HOPE

By TOM BIRKS

THE Port Vue Quakers joined the large list of defeated independent gridiron teams Sunday when Lowdy Adams, star kicker of McChesneytown, booted a perfect placement from the Port Vue 25-yard line in the final period of the game at Rainbow Gardens. The passing of Port Vue was the only change in the titular gridiron race. West View and Carrick did not play, owing to the icy nature of the field. Burns and McKeesport Olympics also called off their session. East Pittsburgh defeated Monessen Olympics in the final play of the game at the Quarry Stadium, 6 to 0, and Oakmont swamped the Pleasant Valley gridiron machine by a 16-to-0 score.

The games were all played in blizzardy weather that kept down attendance. The treacherous roads made traveling hazardous. But the games were all close battles that kept the fans on edge.

East Pittsburgh was lucky to defeat Monessen. The Gold and Black team brought down the river by Jack Miers showed the Valley fans the best club that has appeared on that field this season. Monessen was unlucky to lose. The final two plays of the game found Zoltac hurling two long passes. In each case two Monessen players batted the ball, but it fell into the arms of a Fireman, Mortak, who flashed the greatest halfback play of the season. His ball-carrying, forward passing, and the running of the club from the quarterback position was wonderful, and East Pittsburgh scored after he had left the game two minutes from time up with an injured shoulder. Never before this season have the Firemen been held in their own territory such as in the Monessen game. Mortak, Paul, Colonna and Conti make up one of the sweetest backfields in the independent ranks.

The Port Vue-McChesneytown tilt was just what it was expected to be—a real titular fight. Port Vue had plenty of the play in which Kalitz was the individual star, but, as usual, the break came, and when it came Lowdy Adams, former Pitcairn Mohawk star, was equal to the occasion, for he duplicated Mose Kelsh's feat the previous Sunday by kicking a perfect placement goal from the Port Vue 25-yard line.

Placement kicks are getting quite valuable these days, for they have dropped the McKeesport Olympics and Port Vue into the defeated class.

Springdale Amicus and Arnold Independents staged a real fight, Springdale winning by a 6-to-0 score. Hess has a nice team up at Arnold and has been trying to book the Amicus, feeling they could beat Rosskamp's team.

Restelli has his Oakmont aggregation going at a good clip. Oakmont has a good, grassy field, and it was in good condition Sunday. The Patrizio backfield took a 16-to-0 victory over Johnny Dunsky's Pleasant Valley gridders. Oakmont scored all of its points in the first half, and then held the North Siders. Restelli says his team is like Pitt—a November club. And it certainly looks like it. Sixteen points scored against Pleasant Valley in one-half of the game is sure scoring. The lineup:

Grid Challenge Is Issued by Villanova

VILLANOVA, Pa., Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Little Villanova College, finishing its first undefeated season with a record marred only by a scoreless tie with Temple, has a challenge for any rival South, East or West, for post-season gridiron conflict, according to Head Coach Harry Stuhldreher, former Notre Dame "horseman."

Boston College, the only eastern team now neither beaten nor tied, has been challenged for a game in Boston December 8, Stuhldreher announced, in addition to which Florida has been asked for a game in Jacksonville either December 15 or on Christmas Day. Villanova also is receptive to arranging a game on the Pacific coast around New Years.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Out of the race that grew more involved with each set of games, Illinois, the 1927 titleholder, with a team that was considered potential champion at the start of the race, has emerged with the unchallenged gridiron championship of the Western Conference.

The race was undoubtedly the most hectic in the history of the Big Ten, with four teams in the running for the championship honors on the last day of the campaign. Illinois, its season marred by only one defeat, a 3-to-0 upset scored by Michigan, won the title by whipping Ohio State, 8 to 0, while Wisconsin was falling before Minnesota, 6 to 0, and Iowa was losing to the revived Wolverines, 10 to 7.

The final rating put Wisconsin, because of tie played with Purdue, in second place, with Minnesota third, Iowa fourth and Ohio State fifth. Purdue finished sixth, Northwestern seventh, Michigan eighth, Indiana ninth and the down-trodden Maroons beaten in every Conference game, at the bottom.

Grid Races At a Glance

Associated Press.

EAST—Boston College remains only major team neither beaten nor tied, but New York University, by knocking off hitherto unchecked Carnegie team, and West Point, by trimming Nebraska, keep high rank. Harvard ended season with first victory over Yale in six years while Navy upset Princeton, hitherto undefeated.

WESTERN CONFERENCE—One of hottest and closest races ends with Illinois, 1927 champions, having best title claim. All members beaten but Illinois, defeated only by Michigan, tops Wisconsin, which lost to Minnesota in final game after being tied by Purdue. Ohio State beaten by Illinois in deciding game.

MISSOURI VALLEY—Nebraska, defeated by Army for first setback of season, needs only to beat Kansas Aggies this week to capture championship. Missouri through victory over old rival, Kansas, in runner-up role.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE—Situation unchanged, with Florida, Tennessee and Georgia Tech neither beaten nor tied, setting the pace for two other contenders, Virginia Poly and Louisiana State. Deciding games this week and next.

SOUTHWESTERN CONFERENCE—Texas still in lead, but facing Texas Aggies in decisive game Thanksgiving Day.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN CONFERENCE—Utah still leading University of Colorado in race to be decided when former plays Utah Aggies and latter meets Denver on Thanksgiving Day.

PACIFIC COAST CONFERENCE—Southern California, by sweeping over Idaho while California was held to tie by Stanford, gains technical right to conference title. U. S. C. unbeaten, but tied once by California, which now has record spotted by two ties.

Catholic School Grid Title Prize Today

This afternoon one of the most important interscholastic football games of the season will be played on the Duquesne field. The game will practically decide the championship of the Catholic high schools of this section. The prep school of Duquesne expects to have an easy time with the light Catholic High eleven. The Fifth avenue boys are going fast, and under Dick Schrading's coaching they have developed into a fast, snappy team.

1928 BIDS TO BE RECORD YEAR FOR AUTOS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE prediction made by John J. Raskob that this year would see the 5,000,000-car mark passed in automobile production will not come true, but it is quite likely that this will be the record year for the industry.

The year got off to a slow start, due to Ford's inactivity, but every month since April has been greater than in the corresponding month of 1926, in which the previous record for this country of 4,298,802 cars and trucks was established. With the single exception of January, every month of this year has shown an increase over the same month of last year.

In the first 10 months of this year 3,869,009 cars and trucks were made in the United States. This was 23.5 per cent more than in the same period a year ago. It exceeded the total production in all of 1927 when 3,401,326 units were made. It was slightly less than in the 10 months of 1926, but this difference was only 7,565 cars.

ACTIVITY in the automobile industry in the final two months of the year will not be as great as in October when 398,818 units were made, but the seasonal decline has been lighter than usual. The fact that Ford's production of 6,000 cars a day will increase, rather than decrease, toward the end of the year gives strength to the belief that November and December will put the total for the year over the top.

A rapidly growing export trade has contributed a large share to the growth in automobile production. Up to the end of September 11 per cent of the passenger cars and trucks made here were shipped to foreign markets. The demand for American cars in other nations has grown by leaps and bounds. In the first nine months of 1922 only 57,000 cars were exported. This increased to 302,000 in the nine months of 1927, a gdowth of 573.7 per cent. The corresponding months of this year saw 384,000 cars exported which represented a further gain of 27.1 per cent over the previous year.

But exports from the United States do not tell the whole story of the foreign business of American automobile companies. The leaders in the industry have Canadian subsidiaries which, in addition to directly supplying our Northern neighbor with cars, also supply most of the units shipped to other parts of the United Kingdom.

CANADIAN output of 221,188 cars and trucks in the 10 months was 31.3 per cent more than in the same months of a year ago. It was greater than in any entire year in the past.

The share that the Canadian operations of domestic automobile makers have in their export trade can be seen in the fact that Ford of Canada was exporting about 30 per cent of its output last August. In the winter months when Canadian demand is slack this unit maintains a high rate of production and ships as much as 70 per cent of its cars to Europe.

Even though Canadian-made automobiles are assembled across the line they are still very much a product of the United States. Large proportions of the parts and materials originate in this country and a further large share of the earnings from Canadian operations return to the parent organizations here.

The tariff advantages to be secured from locating plants in Canada are building a new Detroit across the river from the American city. Windsor and its surrounding communities in Ontario have been showing a tremendous rate of development which is largely attributable to development of the foreign business of our industries.

Jersey Forms Export Sub.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey announced today the formation of the Standard Oil Export Corporation to handle the export business of five operating subsidiaries of the New Jersey company. This is preparatory to the formation of a general oil export association under the Webb act, in which the new Standard concern will be eligible to membership. The Standard concerns joining in the formation of the export concern, in addition to the Standard of New Jersey, are the Standard Oil Company of Louisville, Humble Oil and Refining Company, Carter Oil Company of Louisiana and Stanco, Inc., all of which are engaged in export business. Oil executives have recently conferred upon the formation of a general export association in which the entire industry will be invited to participate, as the steel and copper industries have already done. The formation of this Standard company is the first definite step that has been taken in this direction.

Rail Equipment Installations.

Class I railroads in the first 10 months this year installed 50,622 freight cars, according to the car service division of American Railway Association. Compared with the corresponding period last year, tion was a reduction of 15,742. Freight cars on order November 1 totaled 6,081, compared with 11,136 on the same date last year. In October the railroads installed 4,048 freight cars, compared with 7,659 in October last year. Locomotives placed in service by Class I railroads during the first 10 months totaled 1,190, a decrease of 481 from the corresponding period last year. Locomotives installed in October numbered 102, compared with 195 in October, 1927. Locomotives on order November 1, totaled 121, compared with 80 on the same date in 1927.

Wheat Prices.

The Department of Agriculture states that wheat prices in general probably will hold near present levels during the next few weeks, fluctuating to some extent on reports of conditions in the Southern Hemisphere and the European markets. "It seems possible," the department says, "that the low point for the season has been reached, although for short periods fluctuations may carry prices back near to the low level reached in October." Prices of soft red winter wheat are expected to continue another month on a level with the last year's prices. Some increase is to be expected within the next two or three months.

Rails Potential Leaders.

Some traders hold that the bull market will not end without a big move in the railroad shares. They maintain that accumulation of the better class of rails has been going on for some time past and that violent speculation may be shifted from industrial to rail shares over night. Bulls on the rails contend that the railroads are in a more favorable position from the viewpoint of percentage of earnings on market price than the industrials. Authorities in the railroad situation, who disregard the market fluctuations, have expressed confidence in the future of the carriers. They believe that traffic and earnings should continue to make favorable comparisons and market interests are of the opinion these factors eventually will lead to greater public interest in the leading railroad shares. Much has been said of mergers during the past two years without anything of importance being accomplished in this direction. Nevertheless it is true that a greater number of interests feel confident something will be done on consolidation under the new administration in Washington after March 4.

Willys Rights Pending.

A special meeting of directors of Willys-Overland Company has been called for 3 p. m. today. It will result in action being taken on a stock dividend and a small offering of new common stock, involving rights. There are 3,000,000 shares of common stock authorized, of which 2,526,402 shares are outstanding, leaving 723,598 shares available for stock dividend. In expanding and modernizing its plant facilities to more than double its former capacity, the company has spent more than $45,000,000 and in addition it has retired $5,000,000 in bonds and $6,300,000 in preferred stock, all out of earnings. This prolonged reinvestment of surplus earnings has been the cause of an ultra conservative common dividend policy. With the expansion program in its final stages last spring, the common stock was established on a cash dividend basis of $1.20 per annum. Directors are now of the opinion that some portion of this huge property investment is properly capitalizable. Total Willys-Overland sales for 1928 are expected to reach 325,000 cars, a gain of 85 per cent over 1927.

Stockholders of Phoenix Oil Company, formerly Omar Oil and Gas Company, are in receipt of circular from the management reviewing all developments since the reorganization. The circular points out that the many difficulties met with in reorganizing and refinancing have been overcome and the company is now producing oil, with every indication that the production will increase as development proceeds. The letter states: "We have increased very substantially the potential values of our properties, your officers and directors have every confidence in the future success of the company and are bearing in mind that the all important result to be achieved is the production of oil in order to meet and maintain dividend requirements."

Youngstown Schedules.

Youngstown district iron and steel companies are maintaining production at 80 per cent of capacity average, with some departments at 90 per cent. Though not yet severely tested, advanced sheet steel prices are holding on first quarter tonnages. A higher price structure is also applying in strips, cold and hot rolled, at 2.85 cents a pound for large tonnages. Cold rolled strips are up $2 a ton above the actual 2.75 cents a pound market for the fourth quarter. Hot strip at 2 cents a pound for widths less than six inches, and 1.90 cents for strips wider than six inches, is $2 a ton higher than the prices applying this quarter. It appears unlikely that higher prices will be established in plates, shapes or merchant steel bars on next quarter tonnages.

A. M. Byers Company.

Decline in new business of the A. M. Byers Company, responsible for the suspension next week of its Girard plant, is attributable to a seasonal condition. The company's only finished product is wrought iron pipe, much of which goes into building construction. As the building season nears a close, demands for pipe naturally recede. Much wrought iron pipe is also used for railroad car purposes, but such purchases have been kept in check the past few months. Comparatively little wrought iron tubing is employed for gas or oil line developments. It is estimated that 4,000,000 tons of pipe are produced annually in this country, of which about one-tenth, or 400,000 tons, is of wrought iron.

STRONG DEMAND NOTED FOR LOCAL SECURITIES

Stocks started strong in all markets this morning, reflecting an accumulation of buying orders over the two-day suspension of trading since last Friday.

Prices on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange were steady to firm with demand apparent for the better grade industrials. Activity in some of the recent speculative favorites was on a lesser scale, but quotations in practical securities held at, or a little above, the levels prevailing when the market left off Friday. Standard Sanitary was actively taken both on the local exchange and in New York, while Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt was firm at a fraction under 60, the high attained on the recent spurt in the issue.

Western Public Service, the newly organized Crawford Gas Company, formed to operate in the Mountain and Midwest territory maintained its position above 26 during the forenoon session. The high since the stock was listed last week was 27. Strong demand has been evident in the market ever since the issue came into the open trading. The stock was issued privately at $15 a share. Prairie Oil and Gas and the Ohio Oil Company, Standard Oil units, are associated with the Crawford interests in the Western Public Service project.

The other fuels were steady and price ranges on Lone Star Gas and the Arkansas stocks were narrow. National Fireproofing preferred started lower, but found buying orders in the market and moved back up near its recent best price.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Owing largely to Liverpool quotations firmer than looked for, wheat prices here averaged higher early today. Liverpool dispatches said importers were buying future deliveries in the face of record world shipments. Starting unchanged to ½c higher, Chicago wheat values reacted a little and then hardened again. Corn also displayed relative strength, opening ⅛c off to ⅛@¼c up and later holding near to the initial range. Oats were easy. Provisions tended upward.

At noon wheat was ⅛@⅜c net higher, and corn showing ⅛c to 1⅛@1¼ gain.

In connection today with unexpected price advances at Liverpool and talk of importers there contracting ahead for wheat, advices at hand told of bullish crop estimates from Australia and of further sales of Australian wheat to India. Some estimates of Australian wheat yield were as low as 140,000,000 bushels, a difference of 20,000,000 bushels under estimates from other authorities.

On the other hand, world shipments of wheat for the week were announced today as totaling 21,802,000 bushels, the largest amount ever known for a similar period, comparing with 18,836,000 bushels the previous week and 17,264,000 bushels a year ago. As a result, the aggregate of wheat on ocean passage today was in excess of either last week or last year. Meanwhile Chicago experts estimated the United States still has on hand unexported 9,000,000 bushels from the wheat carry-over of July 1 last.

Forbes

Speculators Throw Reason to Winds: Some Cold Facts.

By B. C. FORBES

AFTER five days of the most abnormal speculation in its history, the New York Stock Exchange closed on Saturday to give brokers opportunity to catch up. The week's transactions had already exceeded 29,000,000 shares on the Stock Exchange and 10,000,000 shares on the Curb, totals wholly without precedent.

Fluctuations in boomed stocks were wider and wilder than ever. Lightning-like rises of $20, $30, $40 and more occurred, followed sometimes by almost equally abrupt relapses. Average quotations were lifted to new heights, thanks mainly to the performances of a few pool issues.

NEWSPAPER front pages have featured the "Hoover bull market." The fanfare has been far from sensational in the great majority of stocks. The spectacular ongoings have been confined to less than one-tenth of the stock list. As a matter of fact, a few stocks have actually declined.

This table will give you a fair, uncolored picture of what actually has happened since the election; the stocks given represent the first and the last listed on the Stock Exchange under each letter of the alphabet:

THAT presentation should do something to bring home to the public that stockholders in all companies have not been growing richer by the minute. The very able, wealthy, powerful leaders of pools have marked up their pets tremendously. When you see [illegible]ations of 10 points, 20 points, or 30 points in less than as many minutes you can safely deduce that the pools are using strong-arm methods.

THE sober truth is that not only have lots of stocks not greatly advanced since the election, but that more than a few issues have fallen from their high peak of the year enough to wipe out ordinary margins. Here are a few examples:

Wall Street's "explanations" of the spectacular advances would be laughable were the ultimate consequences not like to be serious. Ten days ago we were gravely told that the market boomed wilder than ever because brokers' loans had reached a new maximum by only a trifling amount. Last week the increase in brokers' loans was the greatest ever tolled up in one week, $176,000,000. But was that interpreted as a reason why stocks should stop soaring? Not at all.

Reason has been cast to the winds. The speculative fever hatched in Wall Street has spread throughout the length and breadth of the land. The crazy "Black Bottom" dance never was as universally in vogue as is stock market gambling at this moment. It is easy enough to foretell what the end will be. It is utterly impossible to foretell when that end will come.

INDUSTRY and business continue to move along at a better pace than a year ago. But all industries are not equally prosperous by any means. Holiday trade is starting in very encouragingly.

(Copyright, 1928, by B. C. Forbes.)

HIGHER MONEY FAILS TO NIP STOCK RISE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Quickly absorbing the heavy selling which followed the raising of the call money rate from 6½ to 7 per cent, the stock market pushed forward again today under the leadership of the high priced industrial specialties. Although a sprinkling of issues fell 3 to 8 points below Friday's final quotations, the bulk of the day's activity was on the side of rising prices, many gains running from 5 to nearly 20 points.

The rise in money was believed to be incidental to heavy month-end and Thanksgiving holiday demands for funds. Bankers indicated that call money would be available in fairly large volume at current rates until the holiday demands began to make themselves felt next month.

In its present speculative mood, Wall street is not paying much attention to day-to-day business news developments, although most of them continue favorable. Many of the October railroad earnings statements now being published made favorable comparison with the same month last year, and there are indications of increasing inquiries for railroad cars and locomotives, which are reflected in the strength of the railroad equipment shares. Formation of an oil export company by the operating units of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is preliminary to the formation of a general oil export association under the Webb Act, which the trade believes will have a stabilizing influence on the industry.

At least a score other industrial issues were marked up $5 to $10 a share, the list including General Electric, Midland Steel Products preferred, Abitibi Power, American International, National Tea, Associated Dry Goods, Otis Elevator and General American Tank.

Railroad shares also presented several points of strength with the buying probably influenced by the excellent character of most of the October railroad earnings statements now being published. Kansas City Southern ran up $9 a share to a record high at $93 and Canadian Pacific advanced $5.50 a share to $252, the highest price since 1913, when the stock sold at $266.75.

International Nickel was the spectacular individual feature in today's market, soaring 18½ points to a new high record at 221½. Rossia Insurance ran up 16 points to 250; Allied Chemical, 15½ to 249½; American International, 8½ to 137¼; Kansas City Southern, 7¾ to 91¾; General Electric, 6 to 193, and Stewart-Warner, 4½ to 118, all new high records. Extreme gains of 4 to 10 points also were recorded by National Tea, Midland Steel Products preferred, Stromberg Carburetor, Otis Elevator, Abitibi Power and General American Tank.

Wright Aeronautical, which opened 15 points higher at 270, broke to 255 and then rallied to 260. Curtiss fell from 162 to 154½. Radio from 276 to 270 and Victor Talking Machine from 155¾ to 148 in the midday selling movement, but all made moderate recovery.

The ticker fell 20 minutes behind the market during the morning, but made up the delay by early afternoon.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables at the local wholesale produce district was rather slow today. Little change was made in the quotations.

Poultry was firm, with the demand fair, supplies liberal and quotations unchanged.

Car lot supplies were liberal, a total of 661 cars being on track. Arrivals included 27 cars of apples, 13 cabbage, 29 celery, 10 grapefruits, 17 grapes, 1 lemons, 7 lettuce, 7 onions, 35 oranges, 2 pears, 8 spinach, 1 pineapples, 1 cucumbers, 12 cauliflower, 27 potatoes, 22 sweet potatoes, 6 tomatoes, 3 carrots, 3 cranberries, 1 chicory and 2 turnips.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Pennsylvania Railroad—Twelve and one-half cars of hay, 1½ straw, 7 shelled corn, 5 oats and 1 feed. Baltimore and Ohio Railroad—One car of hay and 2 shelled corn. Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad—One car of hay. Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad—One car of hay. Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroad—One car of hay.

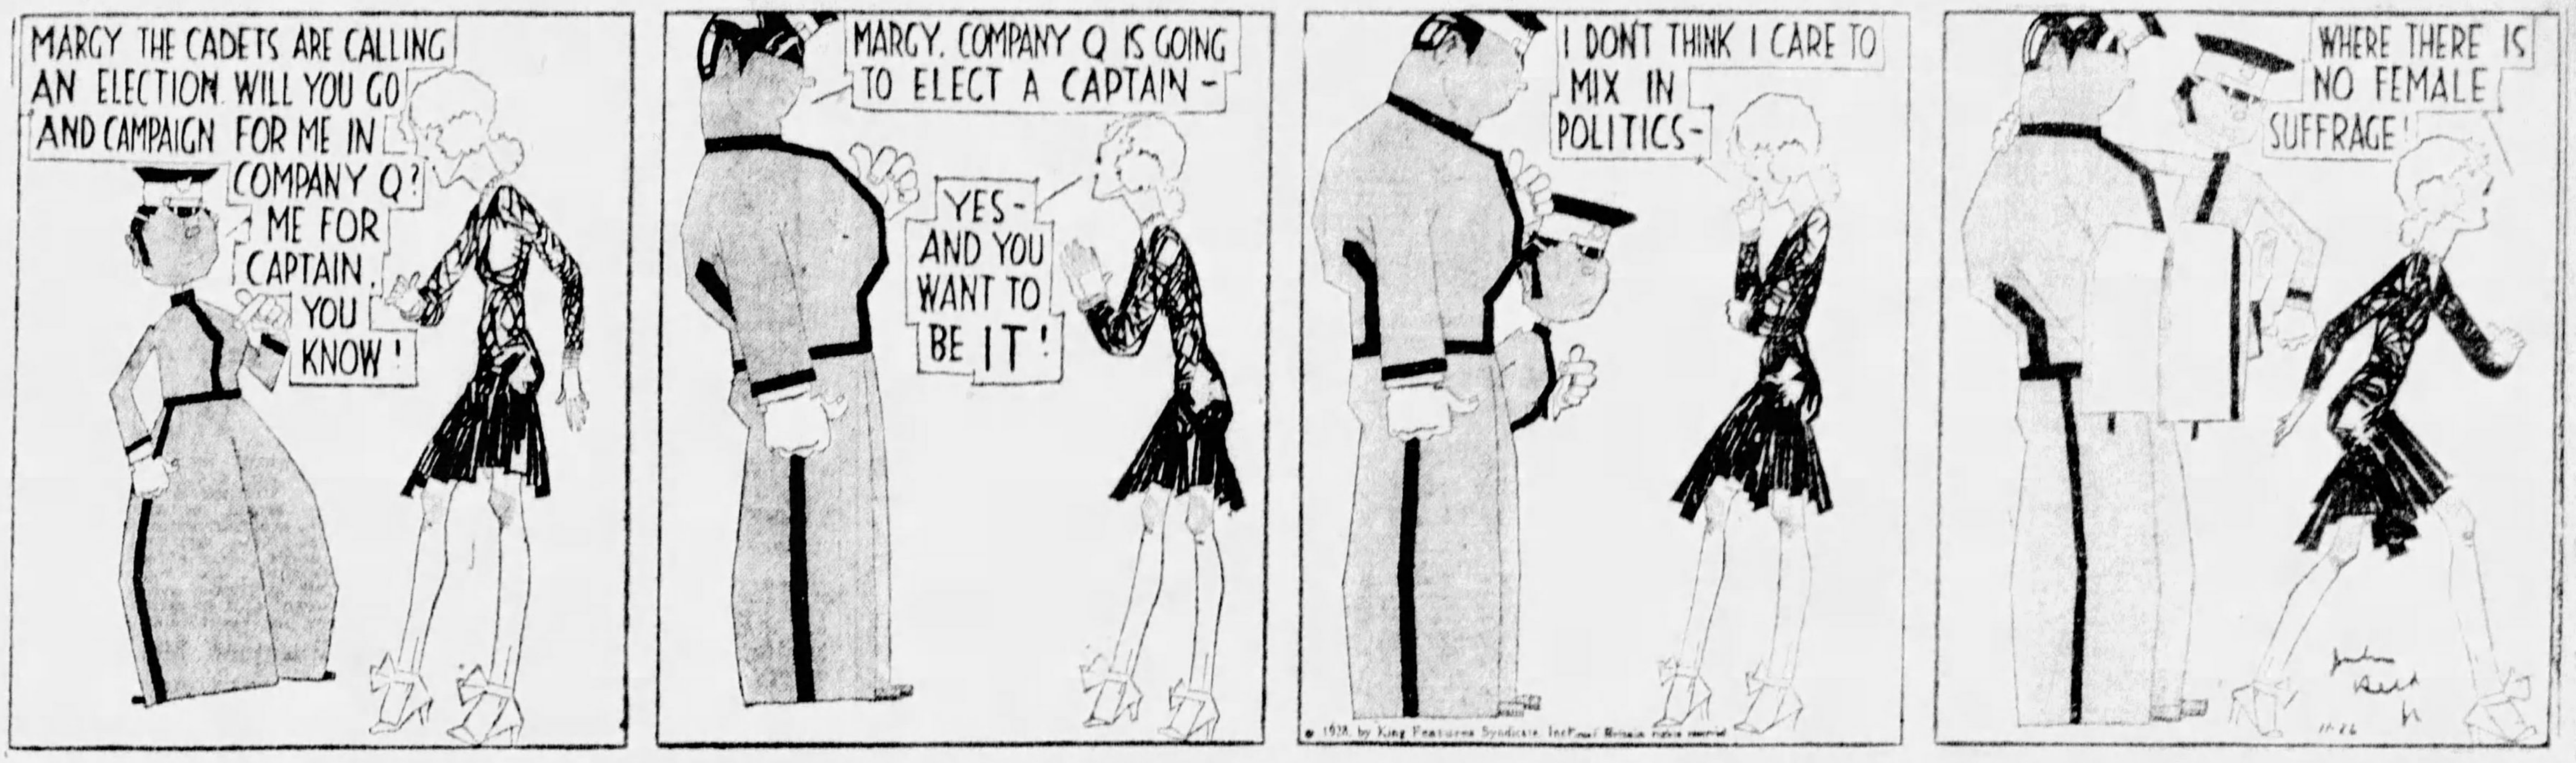
Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

Story by Lloyd Mayer

By John Held, Jr.



MARGY THE CADETS ARE CALLING AN ELECTION WILL YOU GO AND CAMPAIGN FOR ME IN COMPANY Q? ME FOR CAPTAIN. YOU KNOW!
MARGY, COMPANY Q IS GOING TO ELECT A CAPTAIN—
YES—AND YOU WANT TO BE IT!
I DON'T THINK I CARE TO MIX IN POLITICS—
WHERE THERE IS NO FEMALE SUFFRAGE!

"My dear, I'm THRILLED SPITless—I mean I'm ACtually so exCIted I could shuck WHORtleberries at this point because you know, my dear, 'Q' Company's going to elect a CAPtain or something and I'm all hot and BOTHered because that noisome pipsqueak ARab kind of inCINerated himself into my presence and sugGESted with the most placid mien in the WORLD that I campaign for HIS election—can you BEAR it? I mean of all the NERVE, my dear! Well, ANYways, SECONDS later WHO should ROAR up to me but this great oaf BULL, and I HONestly thought I'd ROLL over and aNOINT myself with BUTterscotch or something, my dear, because I give you my WORD he made the SAME reQUEST, and I ACtually think it's PERfectly POIsonous of them to go ROUND deLIB'rately asking people to camPAIGN for them because anyways I think POLitics are simply VILE, my dear, because I mean what on earth do I get out of it if I DO use my influence to have one of those odd souls elected company captain? I mean I HONestly feel FRIGHTfully imPORtant at having them approach me about the situation because I think it just SHOWS you it's a WOMan's WORLD, my dear—I mean I ACtually DO!"

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

THE fan mail being received by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph on the wavelength readjustment is about the most cosmopolitan ever received by any newspaper in a public appeal for opinion.

It seems that everyone owns the "best radio," even down to an East Pittsburgh listener who still has an antiquated crystal set. Even more than a person ties himself down to an automobile the radio listener ties himself in close affection to his radio. Clarence H. Putnam of Meadville, expresses the feeling in a few words:

"I have bought a good set with a good trade mark but I am renaming it 'Hoover' because it gets most every state in the Union. I even get things that Hoover didn't get. For instance, Louisiana and Arkansas are two of my pet states on the radio map. I get stations fine on the reallocation plan."

Putnam may be carrying every state in the Union on his set but it is very certain that there are few fans enjoying that success under the wavelength scheme as applied to Pittsburgh. It might be said that there are very few "Hoover" sets in this city.

"I am a coal miner. In the daytime I work in the bowels of the earth. I rarely see daylight. Naturally when I go home I want rest and recreation. I turn to my radio for a pleasant evening's pastime. But lately I have not been able to get WCAE or WJAS without interference. Before the wave change I got WCAE like KDKA. And right now I get stations from the Atlantic to the Pacific without disturbance, but I cannot get Pittsburgh stations, except KDKA. What's the matter with putting WCAE on its old wavelength so that KDKA, WCAE, WJAS and KQV will be easy to pickup?"

This letter is from Edward F. Rhinehart of Smithton, Pa. He has "one of the best radios made" and challenges the East End banker who can "get WCAE any time" to try to get this station from any location in the coal mining community, "where everyone depends on radio for information and enjoyment."

There are plenty of other "best sets" mentioned in the letters. It goes to show how the radio fan attaches himself to the one instrument that can bring him joy from every corner of the earth.

Prominent exponents of two opposite schools of music will be heard at the same hour tonight from Pittsburgh stations. George Gershwin, "king of jazz" will play "Birth of the Blues" and other hits over WCAE at 9:30 o'clock while Charles Hackett, tenor of the Chicago Civic Opera, is singing arias over WJAS at the same time.

Favorite songs of colleges will be presented on the Lowney Hour at 9 o'clock from WJAS.

Advance Radio Programs for Farmers

Radio readers are asked to express their opinion of a new feature added to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph programs today. It will be noticed that the features of local stations for the morning of the following day are appended to today's schedules. This is done principally for the farmer, who receives his Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in the mail at a time too late for the morning schedule of the current day's issue to be of use to him. This feature will be continued if there are a sufficient number of fans who desire it. Address a postcard or a letter to the Radio Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and mark in the lower left corner, "Feature," so that these comments will not be confused with other radio mail.

Plane Mistaken for Lindy's Is Wrecked

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 26.—(INS.)—Efforts to identify the wreckage of an airplane without an occupant, reported found near Matamoras, across the Mexican border from Brownsville, were being made today, according to dispatches from military authorities in Matamoras.

It is believed it was this plane which was mistaken for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's late Saturday night when a military outpost reported sighting a plane coming down apparently out of control.

A cavalry patrol located the wreckage, according to reports, but found nothing to identify it, nor any trace of the pilot.

CLARK ORDERS BANK REWARD PROBED

Public Safety Director James M. Clark today ordered an investigation of the manner in which rewards were distributed among city detectives for their services in recovering $280,000 stolen from the Brotherhood Savings and Trust Company, now defunct.

Clark said if the inquiry disclosed that some of the recipients of the money had done nothing to earn it he would ask them to return their rewards.

Roland A. McCrady, president of the bank, who distributed the rewards, said he had been guided by the recommendation of former Detective Inspector Clyde S. Edeburn, now retired. But before acting on Edeburn's recommendations, McCrady said, he himself required signed reports from the detectives proposed for remuneration and studied them carefully to evaluate their services. He added that he was satisfied a fair distribution has been made.

McCrady said the report that Lieut. David Corbett had received no reward was untrue. Corbett's check was delayed, however, he added, because that officer failed to turn in his report at the appointed time.

The rewards totaled $11,000 and ranged from $2,000 to $25. Edeburn received $1,500. Detective P. E. (Happy) Moran, who has since been dismissed from the force, received $600, the amount including repayment of $585 which he paid for automobile hire.

NO. 731.

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing and directing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works, for and in behalf of the City of Pittsburgh, to enter into an agreement with Ida M. Allerton, Charles R. Miller and Edith A. Miller, his wife, wherein said parties shall grant to the City of Pittsburgh the right to erect and maintain wooden steps over and upon certain property owned by them, situate in the 11th Ward, Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, and providing for the terms and conditions under which said right-of-way shall be granted.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works, for and in behalf of the City of Pittsburgh, shall be and they are hereby authorized and directed to enter into an agreement with Ida M. Allerton, Charles R. Miller and Edith A. Miller, his wife, said agreement to be in the following language, to-wit:

AGREEMENT.

MADE this .... day of .... 1928, between Ida M. Allerton, Charles R. Miller and Edith A. Miller, his wife, parties of the first part, and City of Pittsburgh, a Municipal Corporation, created by and existing under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania, party of the second part,

WITNESSETH:

That the said Ida M. Allerton, Charles R. Miller and Edith A. Miller, hereby grant the right to the City of Pittsburgh to erect and maintain wooden steps over and upon part of the property of the first parties in the Eleventh Ward, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, being a strip of land Eighty (80) feet in width and approximately Four Hundred Eighty (480) feet in length, extending from a point on Stanton avenue One Hundred Seventy-nine and Forty One-hundredths (179.40) feet westwardly from the intersection of said Stanton avenue and Chislett street, and thence extending up the hillside to a point on North Aiken avenue located as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the south Five foot line of Stanton avenue distant north 62° 48' 40" west One Hundred Seventy-nine and Forty One Hundredths (179.40) feet from its intersection with the West Twelve foot line of Chislett street; thence extending 0° 05' 40" east Thirty-four and Thirty-four One-hundredths (34.34) feet to a point; thence extending south 24° 36' 40" west Twenty-nine and Ten One-hundredths (20.10) feet to a point; thence extending south 5° 48' 40" west Eighty-six and Fifty-six One-hundredths (85.56) feet to a point; thence extending south 31° 16' 40" west Ninety-seven and Forty-seven One-hundredths (97.47) feet to a point; thence extending south 42° 15' 40" west Sixty-six and Ninety-one One-hundredths (66.91) feet to a point; thence extending south 4° 15' 40" west One Hundred Seventy-five and Fifty-five One-hundredths (175.55) feet to a point; thence extending south 38° 13' 40" west Twenty and no One-hundredths (20.0) feet, more or less, to the north end of pavement on North Aiken avenue.

This right of way is granted under and subject to the following covenants, limitations and conditions and shall not be used otherwise:

1. Said steps, when erected, are solely for use in common with the first parties, their heirs and assigns, and pedestrians passing or desiring to pass from said Stanton avenue directly to a nearby point on North Aiken avenue, there being no public thoroughfare immediately connecting those two public streets.

2. Said City of Pittsburgh covenants to erect, maintain and keep in repair said wooden steps and appurtenances thereto, and to save harmless the first parties, their heirs and assigns, from all such costs or expenses, as well as from all liability or damages growing out of the erection, maintenance or use thereof, and expressly covenants to defend any action, claim or demand for personal injury or damages and to pay any verdict recovered therefor.

3. Said Ida M. Allerton, Charles R. Miller and Edith A. Miller, his wife, stipulate and agree that they will not erect or permit to be erected on the ground to be used for the erection of said wooden steps any structure of any kind that will in any way interfere with the proper erection and maintenance of and repairs to said steps as long as said steps exist in place by mutual consent of the parties hereto. Accordingly, said steps may be removed by the second party at any time without notice. And said steps shall be removed by the second party at any time upon request of the first parties and Ninety (90) days' written notice so to do. Such request shall destroy the mutuality of the consent to said steps herein contained.

4. No title or rights, prescriptive or otherwise, than provided for in this agreement shall inure or accrue adversely to the first parties by reason of this agreement or by reason of any user of said seps or the land thereunder or appurtenant thereto, it being distinctly agreed that fee simple title to said land shall at all times remain in the first parties, their heirs and assigns.

5. This agreement is entered into by and in pursuance of the authority of Ordinance No......, approved ......, 1928, and recorded in Ordinance Book, Volume......, Page ....

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the said parties have duly executed this agreement and the City of Pittsburgh has caused the same to be duly executed pursuant to the Ordinance of Council referred to in Paragraph 5 of this agreement.

NO. 732.

AN ORDINANCE—Granting unto the F. J. Kress Box Company, its successors and assigns, the right to construct, maintain and use a standard-gauge switch track on and across Railroad street at Twenty-eighth street and a switch track on and across Twenty-eighth street located at a point approximately 425 feet north of Railroad street for the purpose of conveying materials, etc., from the right-of-way of the B. & O. Railroad Company and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to the property of the F. J. Kress Box Company, Sixth Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the F. J. Kress Box Company, its successors and assigns, be and they are hereby given the right and authority at their own cost and expense to construct, maintain and use a standard-gauge switch track on and across Railroad street and Twenty-eighth street at grade, located at point of switch 98 feet west of Twenty-eighth street on the southward main track of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; thence by curve eastwardly 148 feet across Railroad street and Twenty-eighth street to the property of the F. J. Kress Box Company and a standard-gauge switch track on and across Twenty-eighth street at grade, located approximately 425 feet north of Railroad street, from right-of-way of the B. & O. Railroad Company for a distance of 50 feet, for the purpose of conveying materials, etc., Sixth Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The said switch tracks shall be constructed in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance and in accordance with plan hereto attached and identified as Accession No. B-336, Folder "B," in the files of the Division of Public Utilities, Bureau of Highways and Sewers, Department of Public Works, entitled, "Proposed switch tracks on and across Railroad street and Twenty-eighth street at grade, for the F. J. Kress Box Company, Sixth Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa."

SECTION 2. The said company, prior to the beginning of construction of tracks, shall submit to the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, a complete set of plans showing location, paving, sewering and all details for the construction of said tracks and the said plans and the construction of tracks shall be subject to the approval and supervision of the Director of the Department of Public Works.

SECTION 3. The rights and privileges herein granted shall be subject and subordinate to the rights of the City of Pittsburgh and its powers over City streets, and to the Ordinances of the City of Pittsburgh relating thereto and to the provisions of any general Ordinance which may hereafter be passed relating to the construction, maintenance and use of tracks on City streets and compensation for same.

SECTION 4. The said grantee shall bear the full cost and expense of the repaving and repair of the street pavement damaged, repair of sewers, water lines and other surface and subsurface structures which may be in any way damaged or disturbed by reason of the construction, maintenance and use of said tracks. All of the said work, including the repaving of the streets damaged, shall be done in the manner and at such times as the Director may order, and shall be subject to his approval and supervision.

SECTION 5. The rights and privileges granted by this Ordinance are granted upon the express condition that the City of Pittsburgh, without liability, reserves the right to cause the removal of said tracks upon giving six (6) months' notice through the proper officers, pursuant to a Resolution or Ordinance of Council to the said F. J. Kress Box Company, its successors and assigns, to that effect, and that the said grantee shall when so notified, at the expiration of the said six months, forthwith, remove the said tracks and replace the streets to their original condition, at its own cost and expense.

SECTION 6. The said grantee shall assume any liability of the City of Pittsburgh for damages to persons or property, including the streets and sub-surface structure therein, by reason of the construction, maintenance and use of the said tracks and it is a condition of this grant that the City of Pittsburgh assumes no liability to either persons or property on account of this grant.

SECTION 7. The foregoing rights and privileges are granted subject to the following condition, to-wit: This Ordinance shall become null and void unless within sixty (60) days after its passage and approval, the F. J. Kress Box Company shall file with the City Controller their certificate of acceptance of the provisions thereof, said certificate to be executed by the President and Secretary of the Company, with its corporate seal attached.

SECTION 8. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

No. 733.

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing and empowering the City of Pittsburgh, through the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Safety, to enter into an agreement with Pittsburgh Railways Company whereby the City will obtain the right and privilege of making attachments of traffic signals, flood lights or signs, together with the necessary controls, electric cable, messenger, etc., to trolley poles maintained and operated by Pittsburgh Railways Company.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh are hereby authorized to enter into an agreement with Pittsburgh Railways Company whereby the City will obtain the right and privilege of making attachments of traffic signals, flood lights or signs, messenger, etc., to trolley poles maintained and operated by Pittsburgh Railways Company, which agreement is as follows:

AGREEMENT

MADE and entered into this...... day of.........., 1928, by and between Pittsburgh Railways Company, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereinafter referred as to the "Licensor," party of the first part, and the City of Pittsburgh, a municipal corporation of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, situate in the County of Allegheny, hereinafter referred to as the "Licensee," party of the second part.

WITNESSETH

Whereas—The Licensor is operating a street railway system in the City of Pittsburgh and surrounding municipalities, in connection with which use is made of certain poles and other supports for the overhead trolley system; and

Whereas—The City of Pittsburgh is about to install an automatic traffic signaling system, floodlights, and certain signs to regulate and direct said traffic; and

Whereas—The Licensee is desirous of using certain poles of the Licensor in connection with the erection and installation of said signaling system, floodlights and signs, and the Licensor is willing to permit the use of its poles in said manner by the Licensee.

Now, Therefore This Agreement Witnesseth: That for and in consideration of the premises, and in consideration of the sum of One ($1.00) Dollar, paid by the Licensee to the Licensor, receipt of which is hereby acknowledged on behalf of the Licensor, the parties hereto do mutually covenant and agree as follows:

First—The Licensor hereby grants to the Licensee the right and privilege of making attachments of traffic signals, floodlights, or signs, together with the necessary controls, electric cable, messenger, etc., to the trolley poles maintained and operated by the Licensor at the locations shown on Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof, for the term of twenty years from the date hereof, and from year to year thereafter until terminated by either party hereto upon six months' written notice to the other party of its intention to so terminate and subject to the terms and conditions herein provided.

Long continued use or occupancy of any or all of said poles of the Licensor by the Licensee shall not create in the Licensee any rights other than as hereby granted.

Second—It is understood and agreed that the Licensee shall have the right and privilege of attaching additional traffic signals, floodlights, or signs, together with the necessary controls, electric cable, messenger, etc., to the trolley poles aforesaid or to other trolley poles of the Licensor at additional locations, under and subject to the terms and conditions hereof, upon written request by the Licensee to the Licensor therefor, but only upon the approval thereof by the Licensor, said request to be in duplicate, and, when approved, attached to and made part of this agreement.

Third—It is further understood and agreed that in the event of the Licensor, for any reason, discontinuing the use of any pole to which any of said traffic signals, floodlights, or signs, or other appurtenances used in connection therewith have been attached by the Licensee, then the Licensee shall remove said traffic signals, floodlights, signs, or appurtenances, promptly upon receipt of thirty days' written notice from the Licensor, or the Licensee shall purchase any such pole, within said thirty-day period, and pay the Licensor the then depreciated value of the said pole only.

Fourth—The Licensee shall pay all costs and expenses in connection with the attachment, maintenance or removal of said traffic signals, floodlights, or signs, and further agrees that if upon the decision of the Superintendent of Power and Inclines of the Licensor and of the Engineer of Public Utilities of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, any pole to be used by the Licensee is not of sufficient strength or height to properly support any such traffic signal, floodlight or sign, the Licensee shall reimburse the Licensor for the cost and expense of removing any such pole and installing a proper pole, and for the difference in cost between a new pole similar to the said improper pole and a new proper pole.

Fifth—In the event that the Licensee desires to relocate any trolley pole for the use of any traffic signal, floodlight or sign, and such relocation meets with the approval of the Licensor, the Licensee agrees to make, at its cost, and expense, all changes in the traffic signals, floodlights or signs, and appurtenances, to permit of the said relocation, and the Licensee further agrees to reimburse the Licensor for all costs and expense incurred by the Licensor in the relocation of said pole, including the cost and expnse of any other changes in its overhead system which may be brought about by reason of such relocation, except that as to the relocation of the poles at the locations and as specified in Exhibit "B" attached hereto and made part hereof, the Licensor shal pay one-third and the Licensee shall pay two-thirds of the cost and expense of such relocation, provided, however, that before any relocation is decided upon, the Licensor shall furnish the Licensee with an estimate of the cost of the work to be done, and provided further that the cost of the Licensee shall not exceed said estimate.

Sixth—In the event that the Licensor desires to renew, replace or relocate any trolley poles on which any such traffic signal, floodlight, or sign, may have been placed by the Licensee, the Licensee, if it desires to continue to use said pole, shall, at its own cost and expense, upon fifteen (15) days' written notice, make the changes in the traffic signal, floodlight, or sign placed on any said pole necesary to permit of the renewing and replacing of said pole and the continued use thereof by the Licensee. If the Licensee does not desire to continue to use the said pole, the Licensee shall, at its own cost and expense, remove any traffic signal, floodlight or sign, and the appurtenances, within fifteen (15) days, and, upon the failure of the Licensee so to do, the Licensor shall have the right to make such removals, and the Licensee shall reimburse the Licensor for the cost and expense thereof.

Seventh—It is understood and agreed that the Licensee shall attach, maintain, and remove any and all of said traffic signals, floodlights or signs, in accordance with the specifications of the Licensor attached hereto, made part hereof, and marked Exhibit "C."

Eighth—The Licensee hereby agrees to indemnify and save the Licensor harmless from and against any and all loss, damage, injury, cost, claim, charge and expense of every kind and description incident to or arising out of the attachment, maintenance or removal of any of said traffic signals, floodlights, or signs, and agrees to defend all suits and actions which may be brought against the Licensor, or any of the companies operated by it, having title to said poles for or on account thereof, and shall pay, as well, all costs and charges of said suits, and the expenses thereof and all verdicts, judgments, recoveries and decrees therein, and no charge whatever shall be made against the Licensor or any of the companies operated by it aforesaid, for or on account of the same or any part thereof. Provided, however, that the Licensee shall not be liable for any loss, damage, injury, cost, claim, charge or expense which may be directly attributable to negligence on the part of the Licensor, or any of the companies operated by it, or any employe thereof.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto have caused this agreement to be executed the day and year first above written.

Gas Rates Here Deemed Just and Reasonable

The Public Service Commission has decided that the rates now charged by gas companies in Pittsburgh and many surrounding towns are neither unjust nor unreasonable. The commission has been four years in reaching a decision. It was in 1924 that protests against existing tariffs were filed by the cities of Pittsburgh, McKeesport and Altoona, their complaints being joined with those of various boroughs and townships.

What the next step is to be as far as Pittsburgh is concerned will be a matter for Council to decide, since the protest, if it be continued, must be carried to the Superior Court of the state. Beyond that tribunal is the state Supreme Court, possibly the United States Supreme Court, if the litigants desire to exhaust the possible judicial fields in their appeal for relief from rates that are contended to be "unjust and unreasonable."

Naturally, such a question is one in which it is difficult to establish a just basis upon which charge for service shall be made. When capital invests its thousands or millions in an electric plant, it is certain to have a product for sale. When it drills a gas well there is no such certainty. The well may be "dry." It may be a producer and still be unprofitable. Yet there must be in the years of operation by big gas companies, an average of production, compared to the average cost of obtaining it, that could be a reasonable standard for the fixing of prices to consumers.

What shall be included in the "overhead" then would seem to be the bone over which opposing sides would contend. And you can always leave it to any public service corporation to include in overhead everything that it is possible to squeeze in.

Audit Shows Looseness In Affairs of County

The audit of fiscal affairs of the county, which Controller Robert G. Woodside was permitted to have made by outside accountants, is nearly completed, it has been announced, and the Controller's annual report for 1927, which should have been made in February, is expected to be issued in December. As a result of the audit a great deal of laxity has been discovered and steps have been taken to remedy it.

Among the latest indicated losses to the county disclosed in the audit, Controller Woodside reports, is a discrepancy of 10,000 tons in the weight of materials going into asphaltic concrete, made by the county and the product delivered on jobs. In the same line is the delivery of a small amount of concrete to a contractor with no record of payment.

The audit has disclosed many leaks and wastes and unsystematic methods of administration. It has required many months to go into matters and rectify faults that have been discovered, but when it is completed it should show the county [illegible]right in the matter of its finances. Once put on the right [illegible] it should stay there, so that no future Controller would [illegible] a position to say that he did not know and could not find [illegible]t what the true financial status of the county is.

Three Cheers for 'Flapper'

She Has Brains, and She's a Good Girl, So Don't Worry About Her.

California appreciates its most valuable product, which is not oil, fruit, real estate or climate, but GIRLS.

California has made a statewide survey of elementary schools, and took especial care in observing the intelligence, physical perfection and other qualities of girls of this period.

And this survey, strictly accurate, most careful, proves that the girl of today is a thing to delight and encourage the country, and not at all a thing to criticise.

Walter E. Morgan, Chief of the State Division of Educational Statistics, says that only 6.81 per cent of school girls had to repeat grades in the elementary schools last year, whereas 9.28 of the boys were obliged to go through the grades twice.

Seven thousand one hundred and sixty-four girls excelled in their studies, as against 6,951 boys. Those girls were able to complete more than the regular course of school work prescribed for the year.

And that isn't all for the boys to worry about. Mr. Morgan's report shows that in every grade of the California elementary school system GIRLS, on the average, are younger than their male classmates, studying the same things and meeting the same difficulties.

A girl of the period, free in her movement, full of enthusiasm, rejoicing in her youth, opportunity and EQUALITY, is a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

She is more intelligent than she ever was, because more and better schools are open to her; men talk to women now, recognizing their mental quality, instead of talking "down" to them.

Beauty and intelligence go hand in hand, increasing or diminishing together.

The foolish saying, "Beautiful but dumb," is replaced by "BEAUTIFUL AND INTELLIGENT."

Your common sense tells it, and now the State of California, officially, proves it.

Three cheers for the modern girl. Even her scanty clothing is a blessing. Science says it admits the sun's violet rays and builds up stronger bodies.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

ALL summer you cussed the fates that permitted others to enjoy privileges that you could not find time to enjoy.

You have had to work right through the hot months with little time off.

Others could go where climatic conditions were more enjoyable, but you have been tied to your alarm clock.

You know there are balmy places, warm sunshine, gentle breezes and opportunities to find pleasure incidental to milder wheather.

But as long as you find it impossible to go to these places at will, why worry about it and spoil your own face? Why show the world a grouch when you cannot better matters by so doing?

Thousands of persons are situated as you are with a mind full of cares.

But most of them are more philosophical and have sense enough not to mourn over what they cannot change.

They have learned how to get the most out of life as it comes to them.

Tales That Are Told

Nothing Else But

A WELL-KNOWN comedian is very proud of his three beautiful and talented daughters.

One day an acquaintance and admirer of the comedian was talking to him about the family.

"A funny thing," he remarked, "you have nothing but those three girls."

The comedian looked at his friend in astonishment.

"Nothing but girls!" he echoed. "Why, my dear old chap, I wish you were right. As it is, we've nothing but boys all over the place."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THE fellows that have the hardest jobs, I reckon, are the ones that make adjustments for dissatisfied customers at the department stores. They got to be polite to most of the customers, and still they don't like to take back all kinds of goods just because the customer changed her mind. So they set up at night studying books on tact.

There was a woman that brought back an alarm clock.

"It ain't any good," she says. "I wind it, and then my husband is late for work in the morning because the thing don't go off."

"Maybe your husband don't understand all about it," says the adjuster. "You see, the clock is new, and the springs are a bit stiff maybe, and it'll work better after its been in use a while."

"Yes, but how is my husband going to get to work in the meantime?"

"Well, you just tell him when the clock fails to ring, he can just reach over and give it a gentle shake, and it will work fine. If he'll do that for the first two or three weeks, I'm sure there'll be no more trouble."

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

He Saw the Good

ALWAYS he saw the good in men he knew,
He plumbed aspiring hope and mounting dream
And found some vestige of the brave and true,
However valueless a life might seem.

He knew how hope, long unfulfilled, can wear
Upon the burdened spirit till it breaks.
He made allowance for hearts that bear
The loss that crushes and the grief that aches.

His long life through he trusted and believed,
He saw behind the masks of fear and pride,
With Pity for each life by years beheaved
He woke again and faith they had denied.

He sowed love's seed and love he harvested
Good flourished in the hearts his bounty fed
Because he saw the good in men always.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

NOTHING makes me madder than to be forgiven.

I have nothing against forgiveness itself. It's a lovely virtue and every one should have some of it around the house. It's the Forgivers I can't stand.

There's nothing snootier on earth than the average Forgiver. All the cussedness and conceit in human nature leap to the surface when presented with an opportunity to Forgive.

Most of us, of course, regard Forgiveness as one of our inalienable prerogatives. In fact, one of the chief inducements offered to prospective saints is the chance of forgiving sinners. What's the use of being Good if you can't highhat the Bad?

It never occurs to us that we may not be qualified and appointed to sit in judgment on the rest of humanity. Nor can we grasp the fact that the other fellow's errors are his business, not ours, even though those errors may have been committed against us. No, indeedy! Us and God are here to run this world and we're going to see that it's done proper.

Ordinarily we couldn't get by with such a display of egotism. Society sets a definite limit on the amount of bossing and bullying which any citizen can do in the common run of affairs. But when exercising the Sacred Function of Forgiveness he can go the dirty limit—and generally does.

Nor is Forgiveness merely gratifying to our conceit. As a cover-up for cussedness it holds all the records. For example, that old feud of yours with John Henry Jones.

For years you've considered John Henry a stupid, shameful, contemptible, dissolute, scurvy son of a sea cook. And have yearned to tell him so. With gestures. But there are disadvantages to such displays of frankness. One cannot walk up publicly to a gentleman, pour violent epithets upon him, poke him in the brisket and then go merrily on one's way. One is apt, rather, to end in the hoosegow in a more or less scrambled condition. Which undoubtedly cramps one's style.

But don't be discouraged because of that. You can still put it over on John Henry without the slightest risk to your health if you'll watch your opportunity. Just wait until he does you dirt the next time—then Forgive him! At last you'll have a chance to give him his without any danger of retaliation. For how can a guy act up when he's in the process of being forgiven. You can make him feel like fifty-seven varieties of a dirty deuce and he's got to take it.

That's why Forgivers make me mad. Nearly always they're paying up back scores in the name of God when they know darned well that I wouldn't stand for their stuff if they came right out in the open.

Maybe you've observed that tendency, too. Particularly in families. When it comes to Mean Forgiveness one's own relations generally lead the field.

The Panacea

By Garrett P. Serviss

AUGUSTE LUMIERE in his book on "Life, Disease and Death," points out a new route to the Fountain of Youth, lying through the mysteries of the colloidal theory of life. Living matter, the unsolved puzzle of the ages not excepting this age of science and the so-called "humors" of the living organism, are colloids—that is they consist of an organic liquid in which are suspended ultra-microscopic particles, called micelles, of various sizes, constituting minute masses of chemical molecules.

Now "the intensity of the reactions that take place within the colloids of living matter, or in other words the nutritive exchanges, depend upon the extent of the surfaces of contact of the elements concerned. With equal weight these surfaces are larger in proportion as the dimensions of the micelles are smaller."

As the individual organism increases in age, the size of the micelles augments, and consequently the surfaces of contact progressively diminish, thus bringing on the weakening of the powers of nutrition, the beginning of senility and the imminence of death.

At certain times a "brisk flocculation" or sort of precipitation, takes place in the organic colloids. This phenomenon accounts for the "anaphylaxy" of the doctors, which is the reverse of immunization. In anaphylaxy a poison insufficient to kill an animal in normal condition may have a fatal effect if the animal has previously been inoculated with the same substance. In trying to explain this, "sensibilizing substances" were invented, the opposite of the "protective substances" invoked to account for immunity.

But Lumiere affirms that such hypotheses are unnecessary, since the flocculates formed in the colloids alone suffice to explain all the troubles by the irritation which they cause to the sympathetic nervous system. All sorts of "shocks," to which so many maladies may be referred, are due initially, asserts Lumiere, to flocculation of the colloids. He includes traumatisms (shocks due to wounds), epilepsy, diabetes, hemorragic shocks, incidence of infections, etc.; in sort, anything that disturbs the equilibrium of the nervous system.

This harks back not only to Hipprocrates and Galen in antiquity, but to all speculation in all times concerning a single cause underlying all the phenomena of physiology and pathology, or life and death. But Lumiere's theory, according to his admirers, gives a scientific turn to this speculation which it has hitherto lacked. It also shows the straight and narrow way to the discovery of a universal panacea—though, of course, it does not insure the making of such a discovery. This is the way Dr. Paul Vigne speaks:

"To Auguste Lumiere belongs the immense merit of being the first to render an account of the fact that since all the humors and all the tissues of living beings have a collodal constitution, the key to the physiological and pathological phenomena which occur in the body, must be sought in the comportment of this collodial state. Thus the flocculate appears as a modern and scientific incarnation both of the 'living principle' and of the 'peccant humors' of our forefathers. And the therapeutic agents which, tomorrow, shall give us the means of avoiding the formation of the flocculates, or of dissolving them—will it not in a manner realize the Panacea Universal, the aurum vitae of the alchemists?"

Bible Passages

Noah Findeth Grace

(Genesis 6; 5-22)

AND God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually.

And it repented the Lord that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart.

And the Lord said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping things, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them.

But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord.

And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them; and, behold, I will destroy them with the earth.

Make thee an ark of gopher wood; rooms shalt thou make in the ark, and shalt pitch it within and without with pitch.

And this is the fashion which thou shalt make it of: The length of the ark shall be three hundred cubits, the breadth of it fifty cubits, and the height of it thirty cubits.

A window shalt thou make to the ark, and in a cubit shalt thou finish it above; and the door of the ark shalt thou set in the side thereof; with lower, second, and third stories shalt thou make it.

And, behold, I, even I, do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, to destroy all flesh, wherein is the breath of life, from under heaven; and everything that is in the earth shall die.

But with thee will I establish my covenant; and thou shalt come into the ark, thou, and thy sons, and thy wife, and thy sons' wives with thee.

And of every living thing of all flesh, two of every sort shalt thou bring into the ark, to keep them alive with thee; they shall be male and female.

Of fowls after their kind, and of cattle after their kind, of every creeping thing of the earth after come unto thee, to keep them alive.

And take thou unto thee of all food that is eaten, and thou shalt gather it to thee; and it shall be for food for thee, and for them.

Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, so did he.

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

New York Day by Day
by
O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and so much confusion what with the maid neating up the room, the dog barking and the riveting next door that I despaired of labor and off by coach with Basil Woon, the scrivener, and breakfasted at a bleak inn in Van Cortland Park. And on the way he pointed out E. Phillips Oppenheim, the English tayle writer.

Wandered about the upper reaches of Manhattan and surprised at the new city that has grown up there in a few years and so with my wife to Hugh and Sadie Murray's where came Lady Drummond Hay and Karl von Wiegand, who crossed in the Zeppelin, and several others.

All evening at a window listening to a fellow foxed with drink who stood before a mirror sermonizing on the intolerance of the world and at times broke down with fits of sobbing. Then working until morning broke and with a great weariness to bed.

A new hoop-de-doo among young blades is that of wearing a Basque beret with the dinner suit. In other words it is—a fast one, Monsieur—the berets.

Young folk with the wherewithal are also going in for night flying with a few acrobatic didoes on the side at a field opened on Long Island. The aerial course requires 54 hours time and an expenditure of $800.

The decorus animation once as pronounced as its pall of cigaret smoke is missing in the night clubs labeled "select" these days. They inspire a gaiety like that of losing a filling of a tooth just as you start out for a good time. In a visit to several the other evening after theater the biggest crowd numbered 14 not including waiters who stood in attitudes of wistful indolence and in another members of our party were the only suckers of the evening. Proprietors hold on believing that as things could be no worse they might improve.

In the last club I ran out of money—an old Scotch custom—when I had reached the hat check girl. I thought one of those finger-snapping drunks demanding her attention would save me from embarrasment, but at the revolving door I looked back and she was giving me one of her you-dirty-little-so-and-so looks. And only Gene Buck with a quick yank saved me from getting caught in the revolving door.

A comedian turned down a $600-a-week offer with a successful road show because he preferred to remain on Broadway. After six weeks of "Nothing today" at the agencies he wired the company manager he would not only sign on the dotted line but would bathe the leading lady's poodle. He is now in the cast, but at $150 a week.

Any number of stage folk refuse in the throaty manner to leave Broadway save, perhaps, for a brief tour of what are known in the trade as "key cities"—important big stands near the metropolis that are overnight jumps from the Rialto. That may be why many wind up with a "benefit."

The truth is performers save more on the road than in New York. Proof of this is evidenced by many of our richest actors—David Warfield, Otis Skinner, George M. Cohan, Al Jolson and others—who in their hey-dey never hesitated to take to the kerosene circuit. It enlarges their following. People who see them in smaller cities want to see how they look on Broadway.

The most amusing display of "artistic temperament" among actors for the season was that of an old son from London who spent three days at rehearsal and then took a boat home. He said they insisted on putting ice in his drinking water when the jolly fruit demanded it un-iced. Sounds silly but those of us who have cried for ice water in London understand.

The other evening I saw the solitary grayhead at a party of young moderns. Youth these days is a mental intoxicant. Before I knew it I was doing my adagio dance, singing Frankie and Johnny and otherwise trying to be funny and did not get home until 3 o'clock in the morning. A few evenings like that and the folks will take me out of Yale and put me to work.

WHETSTONES

By Herbert Kaufman

THE little group of inventors and business men whom American industry has just selected as the seven most useful citizens in the United States not only share that distinction, but also hold in common the record of never having attended college.

Not one of them had a technical whetstone for his wits. The magnitude of their success is not the most amazing fact in their careers—the transcendent marvel is, how they succeeded in fields where trained and academic intelligence had scored utter failure.

They began life at the very scratches of poverty and knowledge. They had no borrowing capacity except at the bank above their shirt collars—an institution which has consistently underwritten progress and invention.

They had no rules; they had no tools. So they devised their sweat-tempered own, and with them redesigned industrial destiny.

Samuel Morse, a portrait painter, conceived telegraphy; Emil Berliner, a dry goods clerk, devised the gramophone; Gillette, a bottle-cap salesman, is author of the first real safety razor; the spinning jenny was built by Arkwright, a barber, and the cotton gin by Whitney, a school teacher.

Who told you that originality demands specialized training?

And incidentally, what are you doing with your spare time?

The main wealths of the continent and control of its affairs are generally in the hands of men whose early circumstances diminished all chance of their subsequent achievements—folk whose parents drove plows, hammered horseshoes, carried tool kits and toted lunch boxes.

The fastest growing plants in the country took root from pay envelope seed.

Democracy picks her structural timber wherever it grows straightest and strongest, and never stops to ask if they are family trees.

Soap boxes may insist that deuces should count with aces, hereabouts, but ballot boxes continue to declare for the constitutional guarantees that offer every lad a chance at the bank chairmanship, the directors' table and the White House.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By Leola Allard

A CHICAGO girl is a sort of stewardess in a Chicago club of women. The young lady's mother died and left her some very beautiful diamonds. Recently she had a jeweler make a very pretty setting for the stones which she now wears in a ring.

One of the club's members seeing the ring, admired it, and with a show of interest and her nose held very high, she said to the girl: "What a pretty ring! What ARE the stones?"

The girl glanced at the gems on the lady's fingers and said sweetly: "They are diamonds, but I like it anyway."

"It seems to me," said a successful business man, "that the women of today are so much smaller than the women I used to know in my younger days. Women try to get thin because men don't seem to care for big women. I don't understand it. I remember an old girl of mine who weighed 200 and she certainly used to make the wuzzle woofs run up and down my spine when she cast sheep's eyes at me."

Incidentally, girls don't cast "sheep's eyes" any more. They say right out loud what they think. And that is why they have to stand up in street cars. Women who say what they think get small consideration, which probably is as it should be.

A young man in New York was boasting about his new girl. Oh—but was she pretty! And so refined and cultured—yes, and educated.

He asked his best friend to have dinner with them. He must meet her.

After dinner the girl, who had a Vassar accent, suggested a ride in one of those old-fashioned victorias that stand in front of the Plaza Hotel.

The "best friend" was a bit bored. The girl stuck her pretty foot out, and her slipper was satin and small and looked as if it were just about to fall off, so the man leaned down, took it off and pretended to throw it away.

"What did you do?" asked the refined girl.

"Why you blankety, blankety, blankety—"

And the color of this friend's face stirred pity in the heart of the offender, so he didn't laugh. He handed her the slipper and the party was over.

"Woman on west coast supported her husband for several years and then he left her for a woman who was rich and could give him more luxuries."

"Woman quarreled with husband 30 years ago over the election of Grover Cleveland. She bet with him and when Cleveland won he wouldn't pay and has never stopped nagging her about the matter."

All of which reminds us of what a lady once wrote: "Happiness in marriage is like the soap in the bathtub. You knew when you got in that it was there."
